JAPANESE BOMB CHINESE FORT IN BIG AIR ATTACK

Explosives Hurled on Woosung.

[Copyright: 1932: By the Associated Press.]

SHANGHAI, Feb. 27.—(Saturday.)—(AP)—The Japanese army and navy air fleets combined forces this morning for a fierce bombing attack on the Chinese forts at Woosung. The planes also flew to the northwest of Woosung along the south bank of the Yangtze river, where they loosed explosives on the Chinese defense works.

SHANGHAI, Feb. 27.—[Saturday.]—Threatened with a move by the Japanese to surround and starve them out, the Chinese defenders of Kiangwan, just north of Shanghai, early this morning launched a desperate attack in the dark against the Japanese positions.

The Japanese, taken by surprise, fell back. The Chinese claim to have recaptured the village of Miaohungchen, which the Japanese captured last night.

The Japanese claimed to have occupied Yenchitsai village, a suburb west of Kiangwan, and to have completely surrounded Kiangwan. All this ground was recaptured, the Chinese said.

Guns Silenced On Entire Front.

After this battle in the dark, silence fell over the entire front, except for a brief period of shelling of the Japanese from the Chinese positions in the Chapei section of the international settlement. The Chinese guns hurled shells on the Japanese forces in the Hongkew district, but the Japanese hardly replied. After a brief period the Chinese guns also fell silent.

It was believed the Japanese, at last convinced that they cannot dislodge the Chinese from their positions with the force now on hand, had decided to settle back and await the arrival of reinforcements. It was reported that these reinforcements, consisting of two divisions of troops, were due in Shanghai today.

Chinese Deny Heavy Losses.

Gen. G. B. Wang, adjutant attached to Gen. Tsi Ting-kai's Chinese headquarters, today denied Japanese claims that "tremendous" losses were suffered by the Chinese.

"The result of yesterday's fighting," Gen. Wang said, "was more than gratifying, and while we cannot lay claim to gains of so many kilometers, as the Japanese have done, we are telling the truth when we say that we have succeeded in ousting the Japanese from the Miaohungchen sector after a counter attack early this morning. We have not only reoccupied this strategic point, but have established ourselves in the position which we occupied prior to the start of the Japanese 'big push.'"

The Japanese claimed today that Chinese civilians had attacked a Japanese field hospital in Fuhtan university.

Bomb Two Air Bases.

The aviation branch of the Japanese fighting forces staged a sort of Roman holiday yesterday as the culmination of recent air bombing activities which have laid waste many towns and villages. Yesterday's bag included two Chinese aviation bases recently established near Hangchow and one Chinese fort, known as Tzetzeling, near the Yangtze river, midway between Woosung and Liuho.

Starting at 7 a. m. 25 Japanese planes, including bombers and scout planes, flew 100 miles to the southwest of Shanghai and bombed the two Chinese air bases. They returned in the afternoon and completed the job.

The Japanese claimed to have destroyed ten Chinese planes and all the hangars. The Japanese lost one plane. It was forced down and sank ing Hangchow bay. The occupants were rescued by a Japanese destroyer. The Chinese claim only six of their planes were wrecked. Two Chinese planes were shot down.

Ammunition Dump Destroyed.

Shortly afterward the Japanese planes visited the Tzetzeling forts, where, they claimed, three guns and an ammunition dump were destroyed. Meanwhile, other Japanese planes bombed the Chapei section, destroying more buildings and starting more fires.

On the flight to Hangchow the Japanese planes, going and returning, passed over the western residential end of the international settlement.

A DANGEROUS TIME TO BE ON THE FENCE

9 Are Killed by Avalanches Near Seattle

Seattle, Wash., Feb. 26.—[Special.]—Thousands of tons of snow, loosened by heavy rains and high temperatures, swept down the side of Mount Washington today and buried seven persons in the hamlet of Edgewick.

The toll of avalanche and flood in the Pacific northwest now stands at thirteen in the last two days. Besides the victims at Edgewick, a man and a boy were killed at Issaquah, east of Seattle, today. Yesterday four men lost their lives in a great slide at this city's Skagit power dam.

Flood conditions are general in the Cascades and the river valleys to the west of them, highways and railways are blocked and grave fears are felt for a number of mountain towns menaced by natural forces. Old timers declared the conditions were the most critical in years.

Two Bodies Recovered.

As soon as the tragedy at Edgewick, which is near the eastern end of King county, was reported a hundred rescuers hurried to the scene and began digging in the mass of snow, bowlders, trees and other débris. They found the bodies of Ira Moore and Mrs. Elwood Clagett. Still missing are Mrs. Ira Moore, Mrs. Guy Balder, the latter's daughter, Mrs. Marguerite Blades, and two small children of Mrs. Blades.

Earlier in the day George Johnson, 40 years old, and his 10 year old son, Gosta, were killed in an avalanche at Issaquah, east of Seattle. The slide swept great quantities of logs and bowlders down on the cabin of Johnson, a logger, and carried both the family and the home into a river.

Pinned among the logs Johnson for two hours waged a successful battle to save the lives of his 7 year old son, Knute, and his 4 year old daughter, Hazel. His arms were free and he kept the children's heads above water until rescuers arrived. He died a few minutes after the youngsters were carried to safety.

Boy Dies a Hero.

The boy Gosta, according to the rescued children, also died a heroic death. Caught between planks and with the flood rising to overwhelm him, his last words were:

His body was recovered by the rescue party.

Workers on the Skagit property were menaced by new slides as they dug for the bodies of men whose lives were crushed out yestrday. Several times they had to flee to escape death themselves.

At Rignor, a town in the Cascades on the Milwaukee railroad, it was reported fifteen persons had been marooned by flood waters and aid was sent to the vicinity.

CHILD BRAVES BANDITS' GUNS TO WARN OF HOLDUP

Holding two children under the menace of their guns, four bandits early this morning raided Pete's restaurant, 161 North Dearborn street, a theatrical rendezvous, and escaped with more than $500.

One of the children defied the guns, however, and cried out a warning to her mother, who was in another section of the restaurant. She was Chloe Hoffman, 6 years old.

Less than a dozen persons were in the restaurant at the time of the holdup. They included two men patrons, W. H. Botham, 222 South Hamlin avenue, the owner, and his wife; Mr. and Mrs. Walter Hoffman, and the Hoffmans' children, Chloe and Buddy, 10. Mrs. Hoffman is a sister of Mrs. Botham. She was in the basement washroom at the time of the holdup.

As the bandits lined up their victims Chloe broke away and ran to the basement stairway. "Mama, there's some men up here who are going to shoot daddy," she called. The robbers paid no heed to her. They took $20 from the till, and also Mrs. Botham's purse containing $500.

FORMER KAISER SUFFERING WITH THROAT CANCER

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

BERLIN, Feb. 26.—Former Kaiser Wilhelm, who has been suffering from what is described as bronchitis and a severe cold during the past month, is in reality a victim of cancer of the throat, the same disease of which his father died and of which his sister died a few weeks ago.

The disease has progressed so far that specialists declare their patient can get relief only if he lives in a milder climate than is available in Holland.

The former kaiser is said to be unwilling to go through what he feels to be "a degrading procedure in seeking a new residence," but his friends are unofficially sounding out authorities for permission to enable him to go to Switzerland or Italy and possibly travel through Germany.

UNIVERSITY CLUB GUESTS ROUTED BY $2,500 BLAZE

Fifty guests at the University club were routed from their slumbers early this morning when fire broke out in a room on the fifth floor and spread into the hall, causing damage estimated at $2,500. Division Fire Marshal Joe Mackey expressed the belief the flames started from a cigaret laid down on a piece of furniture in room 515, occupied by R. J. Campbell and his guest.

A member of the club on the same floor smelled the smoke and sounded an alarm. Charles Nicholas, engineer of the building, rushed to room 515 and found it a mass of flames. He assisted the two men from the room in their night clothing. Firemen soon extinguished the blaze.

Rival Chicago Unions Upset Aurora's Calm

Two groups of workmen, affiliates of rival unions of terrazzo layers' helpers, became so disorderly yesterday in Aurora that work on the new St. Charles hospital was stopped and the entire city police force and state highway patrolmen were held ready to quell any fight that may develop today.

The quarrel was one of jurisdiction. Terrazzo work on the hospital—terrazzo is marble laid irregularly in cement—had been awarded to a contractor who hired members of a Chicago local, No. 26, as helpers. Members of No. 504, also of Chicago, are allied closely with union labor groups in Aurora and asserted that the work was rightfully theirs.

Union Forced Off Job.

On Thursday the members of local No. 26 were forced off the job by members of the rival union. Yesterday a large number of members of local No. 26 went to the Aurora job in automobiles. There were from ten to thirty auto loads, according to the various stories.

The invaders found the work strongly picketed by their opponents of local No. 504 and they went to the city police station to demand protection. Aurora union workers who favor No. 504 followed them to the station. Members of the Aurora faction told with gusto last night how they had seized the members of No. 26 in front of the station, loaded them in their autos, and chased them out of town.

The police declared, however, that that was no riot and that the trouble was of a minor nature. Instead of some 300 being involved in the struggle in the downtown section, they asserted, there were not more than fifty and only a few blows were struck.

Ready for More Trouble.

But the defeated unionists breathed defiance and a promise to return in force this morning. Learning of this, Mayor Conrad Bjorseth gave the command to mobilize his entire police force and requested the aid of the state highway police. This aid was promised.

Only about twenty men belonging to local No. 26 had been employed up to the time they were driven from the job, it was said, but an increase was planned and this aroused the ire of the other workers, it was asserted.

In Chicago union circles it has been a matter of common remark that trouble has been brewing among the terrazzo helpers for a year, since Joseph V. Moreschi organized a new union of these workers. This union is affiliated with the International Union of Hod Carriers and it has been struggling to have its members given jobs in preference to members of local No. 26.

JUDGE ORDERS HIM REMOVED FROM HOSPITAL

To Serve 2½ Years for Tax Evasion.

Terry Druggan, for more than a decade a reigning beer baron in Chicago, was started on his way to the federal penitentiary at 7 o'clock last night to serve a term of two and one-half years for income tax dodging. He was scheduled to reach the prison at 8 o'clock this morning, and to join his one-time business partner, Frankie Lake, now serving an eighteen months' sentence for a tax conviction.

JUDGE BARNES.

Druggan boarded the train protesting that he was "a sick man." That plea had kept him from prison for three weeks. It failed finally yesterday when Federal Judge John P. Barnes peremptorily ordered a physical examination of the gangster, and judicially removed him from a hospital bed when he was informed that Druggan was not too ill to go to prison.

Girl Fails to See Druggan.

As the Burlington train pulled away, carrying sixteen other prisoners besides Druggan, a blond young woman, dressed in red, ran through the train shed in a last minute effort to see the gangster. It was believed she was Druggan's sweetheart. She failed in her effort. To questions as to her name she replied: "Mary Doe."

Druggan's journey to prison followed an eventful day. First, his attorney, Jacob Goshkin, appeared before Judge Barnes and moved for a fourth continuance, because Druggan, he said, was too ill to travel. Judge Barnes was sitting in the absence of Judge James H. Wilkerson who sentenced Druggan and Lake. Judge Barnes indicated impatience with Goshkin's plea.

"The people of the community are tired of hearing about Druggan," he exclaimed. "I'm going to send a physician to the hospital to examine him, and if it is not a matter of life and death Druggan will be taken to prison tonight."

Orders Test by Doctor.

Accordingly Judge Barnes commissioned Dr. F. Victor Efferding, who frequently examines government prisoners, to examine Druggan. Dr. Efferding hurried to St. Luke's hospital, where the hoodlum was confined, and with three hospital physicians examined him. They agreed that Druggan could be taken to "prison by means of a stretcher without greatly endangering his life." The report was submitted to Judge Barnes shortly after 5 o'clock and the latter instructed that Druggan be taken to prison on the 7 o'clock train.

Druggan heard the news glumly. He disdained a stretcher. He remarked, "I might as well start now as later," when Deputy Marshal Bill Thompson and Burt Gartside, a railroad agent, called for him. They reached the Union station at 6:45, Druggan flanked by Thompson and Gartside.

Druggan hid his face in his coat collar when several cameramen tried to photograph him. Once he pleaded to be let alone because he was a "sick man." The gangster's face appeared drawn, and his step less sprightly than usual.

Druggan Taken Aboard Train.

He was turned over to Deputy Marshal Robert Bukelow, in charge of the seven train guards, and escorted through the aisle, between the other sixteen prisoners, to a front compartment. As the train started a reporter sat alongside him. Druggan looked up. He was in no mood to talk. The interviewer, remembering Druggan's professed love for the classics, observed: "You're a lot better off than Bill Shakespeare."

"What's the matter with Shakespeare?" returned Druggan, showing interest for the first time.

"He's dead," was the answer. Druggan grinned, and talked. Only a few words, however.

"A Bum Rap," He Insists.

"I've told my story a dozen times," he said. "This is a bum rap. I've said that before and I say it now. They wouldn't let me settle up when I wanted to. I never wanted to cheat. I'm a sick man, I am, but I might as well get it over with. Then I can come back and start all over again."

Druggan begged to be excused. He

Healer's Love Waves Tune in Story of Past

Standing in the midst of his disciples in a corridor of the Auditorium hotel last night, Prof. John Hugh (Love Wave) Lally, self-styled spiritual healer, was exposed as a former Evanston attorney, disbarred for unethical conduct.

The exposure was made by Chief Inspector J. E. Edwards of the state department of registration in a series of questions put to the professor.

Far from upsetting their loyalty, the exposure aroused his 150 followers to a frenzy from which the inspectors retreated amidst a shower of such epithets as "devils, rats and scum."

Tipsy Guest Intrudes.

The excitement was heightened when a tipsy guest, straying from a fraternity banquet in another room, mingled with the members of the Lally cult. Catching the drift of the Lally doctrines, he began radiating "love waves" in mimicry of the healer, but finally retreated when an excited woman accused him of breaking the ten commandments and the eighteenth amendment.

The inspectors, making their third successive visit in search of a violation of the medical practice act, were instantly recognized. During the parley before the door was unbarred the professor's assistants spirited out the back door a table full of medicines, a daybed, a folio of charts, and the professor's chief attraction, "Venus, the life size model of a woman dissected."

The professor was cordial as he invited the visitors to come in, but veered off the subject of human ailments as they sat down. Instead he began explaining how the love waves should be used to prevent holdups and traffic accidents.

Sure Cure for Accidents.

"Send the love waves forth to the street car motorman, the railroad engineer and the taxi driver and you'll never have an accident," he declared. "Send them up around you in an aura when you visit the dark places of the evil city with money in your wallet. Then you'll never be robbed."

As he raised his hand to wind up the lecture with a radiation of the "love waves" Inspector Edwards stood up. But the professor, sighting the sheaf of typewritten questions in his hand, leaped off the platform, raced down the aisle and was gulping a glass of water as Edwards reached his side.

"Are you the John Hugh Lally who was born Sept. 10, 1882, in Gloucester, Mass.?" the inspector began. Lally mopped his brow and nodded.

"Are you the John Hugh Lally who attended Northwestern university and was admitted to the bar in 1909?" Again the professor assented.

Secretary Enters Protest.

"Are you the John Hugh Lally who was disbarred by the Illinois Supreme court on Dec. 17, 1923, on a charge of unethical conduct?" At this juncture the professor's secretary, Joseph P. Linden, hastily interposed that he didn't need to answer all these questions.

The pupils pressed around and epithets began to fly. The guest from the fraternity reunion tottered into the throng. For the next twenty minutes the voices of the professor's pupils were raised in imprecation and, at last, about 10:15 p. m., they began to drift away toward home.

Great-Grandfather Will Observe 19th Birthday

NORTHUP GETS 5 DAYS IN JAIL FOR CONTEMPT

Two Aids of Canal Prosecutor Fined.

First Assistant State's Attorney John E. Northup, who successfully prosecuted Timothy J. Crowe, former Democratic chieftain and president of the sanitary district during the whoopee régime of 1927-1928, was yesterday sentenced by Judge Philip Sullivan to five days' imprisonment in the county jail and fined $500 for contempt of court.

The prosecutor and two of his assistants, who were also adjudged guilty of contempt of court and fined, and James H. McQueeney, a private detective, who was given a 30 day jail sentence, immediately started preparations for an appeal to the Appellate court.

Assistant State's Attorney Harold Keele, who was Northup's chief assistant in the sanitary case prosecution, was fined $300 and Assistant State's Attorney Henry Seyfarth was ordered to pay $100. They were given the alternative of paying the fines or working them out in the county jail at the rate of $1.50 per day.

Outgrowth of Canal Trial.

The sentences are the outgrowth of the prosecution of Crowe, Frank J. Link, John T. Miller, and Martin Edelstein, all of whom were found guilty of grafting and sentenced to jail.

Timothy L. Connolly, who faces a possible jail term for his part in the graft conspiracy, was the cause of the prosecutors being sentenced to jail and fined. Connolly, who was purchasing agent during the whoopee régime, and who fled when the graft investigation started, was arrested in San Diego, Cal., during the trial.

The prosecution tried to get Connolly to turn state's evidence, and in pursuance of that effort questioned him in Indiana and Michigan for five days after the issuance of a writ.

Not in Custody, Claim.

The prosecutors contended that Connolly was in the custody of McQueeney, who acted as the governor's messenger, and that they had nothing to do with his custody or control, other than the attempt to get him to confess.

The jail sentence for Northup came as a result of his spirited fight against the writ. He was held guilty of five separate direct contempts of court, committed during the heated proceedings. It was for these alleged direct contempts, one of which consisted of snapping his fingers under the judge's nose, that the jail sentence was meted out to him.

Prosecutor Northup was defiant to the end. He invited Judge Sullivan to come to the Appellate court to listen to his argument, and said that if the judge did not accept his invitation he would send him a typewritten copy.

Swanson Is Dismissed.

State's Attorney Swanson, who was made a party to the contempt case, was dismissed in view of his sworn answer to the charges to the effect that he knew nothing about the sanitary district case; that it was all handled by Northup.

Judge Sullivan in his opinion charged that the prosecutors had, as a result of a preconceived plan, evaded the writ of habeas corpus, and that the state had filed a false return to the writ when it said that the state's attorney's office did not have Connolly under "custody, restraint or control."

"Whatever may be the criticisms of the writ of habeas corpus among prosecutors and police officers, in Illinois the writ of habeas corpus has not been suspended, even in cases of tremendous importance," said the judge in his opinion, which he has been preparing since last Tuesday. "It is on the statute book, and in spite of the vexations and inconveniences that the writ sometimes " . . . causes, it occupies a well deserved place in the administration of criminal law.

Called Flagrant Violation.

"In this case the action of Northup, Keele, Seyfarth and McQueeney constitutes a flagrant and outrageous evasion and untruthful return of the writ of habeas corpus issued by this court. The lack of respect for the orders of the court or to cast indignities on the court should and must be stopped. This dangerous tendency to destroy and weaken the administration of justice must not further be advanced, or the respect of the public for the courts will thereby be weakened, and the great institution of our judicial system in the last analysis preserves the public from tyranny and oppression of the legislature and executive, and protects the constitutional rights of the public. It only remains now to determine how many of these respondents are chargeable with contempt of court in what was done."

Prosecutor Northup, who fought his way over every obstacle in his three year battle to send Crowe to the penitentiary, sat silent during the reading of the long court opinion. The color in his face changed from a flush to a white as the judge went on reading.

Northup Tries to Speak.

When the judge came to the part wherein he said that Northup was the most flagrant offender, the prosecutor spat through his teeth, a characteristic habit when he is in the midst of a heated court fight. He arose to speak, but was beckoned back in his chair by the judge, who said he was not finished.

Judge Sullivan then read his second opinion wherein he found Northup guilty of the various direct contempts, and imposed the jail sentences. The first opinion only carried the fine for a sentence. When the judge finished it could be seen that the prosecutor was fighting to control his fiery manner of speech. He started talking in an ordinary voice and said:

"Now, then, this court should know the difference between emphasis and a strong conviction and all of that, and what is intended to be a direct affront to the court. I want to say with reference to the last citation from the court, that what counsel did was provoked by the court's own remarks, or if not provoked was excusable on the basis of those remarks."

Tries to Justify Remarks.

The prosecutor was beginning to warm up. His voice was rising to the booming tone, characteristic of him when he is angry.

"You have taken the word of a perjurer like Timothy L. Connolly, a fugitive from justice for three years, and said Connolly was telling the God's truth. . . ."

Northup stopped to expectorate through his teeth and the judge managed to head him off.

"May I finish my argument?" said Northup in response to the interruption.

"No, no, no. Just a minute," said the judge. "Just let me know your legal points and I will be glad to rule."

Northup continued his argument and tried to justify his remarks, which the judge held contemptuous and again he was interrupted.

Still Holds Same View.

"I take it you still justify your conduct?" inquired the judge.

"I certainly do, and I shall justify it to the end of time, and I shall argue the matter personally in the Appellate court, and will ask your honor to be present if you will, and if you don't I will send you a typewritten copy of the argument, word for word," replied Northup.

"Thank you, I don't care to hear any more of your remarks," said the judge in ending the proceeding.

THREE INDICTED BY INDIANA JURY IN GRAFT INQUIRY

James Black of Lowell, a commissioner of Lake county, Ind.; William Linton of Crown Point, a former commissioner, and Eugene Carpenter of Hammond were named in indictments returned yesterday at Gary by the grand jury which has been investigating charges of graft in county offices.

Carpenter, who is representative of the North State Publishing company, was charged with filing false claims, Black and Linton with being accessories to such filing, and all three with conspiracy to defraud. Investigation by the state board of accounts disclosed, prosecutors said, that in 1928 Carpenter charged the county $6,500 for furniture which could have been bought in the open market for $2,500.

Judge Martin Smith, before whom the indictments were returned in the criminal court, fixed bond for each defendant at $5,000. Black and Linton are under bond on another charge, in which they were indicted with Ross Smith of Hammond. Smith already has been convicted of collecting excessive claims from Lake county for testing paving materials, and is in jail.

REPUBLICANS OF JERSEY TO BACK HOOVER, REPEAL

Trenton, N. J., Feb. 26.—(AP)—The Republican state committee today adopted a resolution recommending that the New Jersey delegation to the national convention support the renomination of President Hoover and advocate a party plank for repeal of the eighteenth amendment. Daniel E. Pomeroy, reelected as national committeeman, interpreted the committee's action as pledging the delegation to the President.

Stanton yesterday. The state charges that Mrs. Summers murdered her nephew, Thomas Meyer, 16 years old, to obtain $3,630 life insurance money.

MRS. MARGARET SUMMERS.

The insurance agent who explained Mrs. Summers' dealings was John Lardner. Questioned by Assistant State's Attorney C. Wayland Brooks, Lardner began his story by saying that he was formerly a teamster, but had decided to go into the insurance business. He thought he would talk his new business over with his life long friend, Tom Summers, one of the deceased husbands of Mrs. Summers, according to Lardner's testimony.

Bought Policy for Roomers.

"I met Margaret Summers," Lardner testified, "and she said, 'I'll give you a policy.' 'On who,' I said. 'On Tom Lanagan.'" Lanagan, who has since died, was a roomer in Mrs. Summers' home at 632 West North avenue, where young Meyer died last May.

Lardner then asked Mrs. Summers how much insurance she wanted. "What's the limit?" she said. "Fifty cents a week," Lardner replied. "Give me the limit," was Mrs. Summers' answer, according to the witness. Lardner testified that he told Mrs. Summers he would write up the policy and return, but she said to "wait a minute," and she would give him another. "That's enough for one day," Lardner said. At this point the courtroom crowd chuckled and Mrs. Summers joined in the merriment.

Eight Policies Written.

A week later, Lardner testified, when he returned, Mrs. Summers said: "As long as you're here, you might as well write one for Meyer." This policy for young Meyer, which was one of eight, was furnished on the basis of 30 cents a week, Lardner said. A week later he wrote one for George Hemp, a former roomer in Mrs. Summers' home, whose whereabouts are unknown, and the following week Lardner wrote another for Hemp.

Lardner told the jury that Mrs. Summers revealed that Meyer's father had died from consumption. When Lardner said that the company would not accept the policy, they decided to state that the elder Meyer died from pneumonia.

Admitted After Battle.

The testimony concerning the insurance policies was admitted after a heated verbal battle in Judge Stanton's chambers. The state contends that Mrs. Summers held thirty insurance policies before Meyer's death.

Dr. Clarence Muehlberger, toxicologist, returned to the witness stand late in the afternoon and told of his tests with the fly paper, which the state contends Mrs. Summers used to poison her nephew. He said he tested three sheets of the paper and extracted a little more than 2½ grains. Each package contains six sheets of fly paper and the state has traced at least five packages to Mrs. Summers. Dr. Muehlberger said that three grains of arsenic is usually a fatal dose. The trial will be resumed Monday morning.

LAWYER HELPS HIS MILKMAN TO GET OUT OF JAIL

Every morning for years a quart of milk was delivered at the door of James Tracy, 6734 Indiana avenue. Two weeks ago, however, the deliveries were interrupted. Tracy complained to the Bowman Dairy company and learned that his milkman had been sent to jail for nonpayment of alimony.

Tracy, who is a lawyer, went to the jail and after visiting "alimony row" found the prisoner, Byron McLaughlin, 25 years old, a former Notre Dame university football player. McLaughlin, he learned, is $250 behind in payments to his former wife, Ruth, who caused him to be jailed on Feb. 8 by Circuit Judge Daniel P. Trude.

Yesterday Tracy and McLaughlin appeared in court. McLaughlin promised to pay $50 immediately and to continue his payments. He promised to try to regain his job and Attorney Tracy promised the court to aid him.

"You have a very kind heart, Mr. Tracy," Judge Trude remarked.

"O," said Tracy modestly, "it isn't my heart. It's just that I want my milk every morning."

ECONOMIC WAR UP TO CONGRESS, SEXTON ASSERTS

Congress alone has the power to declare an economic war, Corporation Counsel Sexton yesterday informed Lawrence L. Rogers, 11957 Normal avenue, who had asked if there is any law which would prohibit him from carrying the sign "Refuse Goods Made in Japan" on the rear of his automobile. There is no law, however, Mr. Sexton ruled, prohibiting a person from expressing his sympathy on a sign.

"This involves considerations of such far reaching consequences that their very character prohibits the necessity for special legislation against them," wrote Mr. Sexton. "The conventional procedure would be for a group of like minded citizens to assemble and memorialize and petition congress, which alone has the power and authority to declare economic and other wars."

COUNTY BOARD DOES A FLIPFLOP; WILL ASK ADVICE

Issue Bids as Budgetary Deadline Nears.

With two days left to pass a 1932 budget, the county board yesterday voted to ask a number of civic organizations to suggest economies in management of county offices. The organizations were invited to attend a board meeting Monday morning. The budget must be passed before midnight Monday.

The resolution, introduced by Commissioner Amelia Sears two weeks ago, was voted down at that time amidst derisive comments from the commissioners. Adoption of the resolution yesterday was resisted by Miss Sears, who pointed out that suggestions now could have no meaning because of the shortage of time.

Proponent Is Only Opponent.

When the roll was called the paradox was offered of every commissioner except Miss Sears voting in favor of the resolution which she had sponsored. There were many joking comments.

President Emmett Whealan also remarked on the shortness of time, but he voted for the measure and said he would invite the civic organizations to be present Monday morning.

The civic groups listed in the resolution are: D. F. Kelly and the tax commission; the Chicago Association of Commerce; the Chicago Bar association; the Chicago Bureau of Public Efficiency; the Civil Service Association of Chicago; the Chicago Civic federation; the City club; Union League club; Chicago Woman's club, and the Woman's City club.

A Challenge by Busse.

"I'd like to see any of these groups improve this budget," remarked Commissioner William Busse when he voted in favor of the resolution. "We've fired 553 persons and saved $5,000,000. I'll vote for inviting these organizations but I will say that I am sick of listening to theorists and quack remedies."

The resolution also called for the holding of civic service examinations for the filling of temporary county positions and the enforcement of a time keeping card index system for all employes with records kept on vacations and sick leaves.

Ex-Cop's Sentence to U. S. Prison Upheld on Appeal

The United States Circuit Court of Appeals yesterday affirmed the conviction of Ira O'Neal, a former policeman, and his brother, Pete, who were sentenced in District court to serve two years each in the Leavenworth penitentiary for sending obscene matter through the mails. The O'Neals are colored. Ira and his wife, Viola, were also convicted on a similar charge last week and he was sentenced to serve five years more.

WHEALAN WARNS AGAINST FIRES IN FOREST PRESERVES

President Emmett Whealan of the forest preserve commission yesterday issued a warning to the public against starting fires in the preserves. Blazes there not only injure trees and young vegetation, but consume the dry leaves which are needed for soil food, he said. Prosecution will be started against any one starting fires, he said.

N. Y. UNIVERSITY GETS $4,568,570 IN NICHOLS WILL

New York, Feb. 26.—(AP)—New York university receives half the estate of William H. Nichols, who died Feb. 22, 1930, leaving a net estate of $9,137,140, a transfer tax appraisal filed today showed.

Nichols was chairman of the board of the Allied Chemical and Dye corporation and a banker.

The remaining half of the estate goes to two members of his family. In addition 18 other public bequests are made.

$4,200,000 PAID IN FIRST WEEK OF TAX COLLECTION

$282,000,000 Is Total County Levy.

In the week since the first 1930 bills were sent out, there has been less than $4,200,000 in taxes paid, according to the county collectors' records. The levy totals $282,000,000. Practically all of the personal property bills have been mailed, and nine-tenths of the payments so far have been by that class of property owners.

Of the $260,000,000 county tax bill for 1929, payable May 15 last, about $178,000,000 has been collected. Few tax experts are willing to predict that a larger sum will be collected for 1930, and nearly all of them forecast a smaller sum.

Payments Are Received.

Among the larger payers yesterday was Mandel Brothers, who handed in a check for $33,700, payment in full of their personal property taxes.

Hart Schaffner & Marx paid their personalty tax of $35,385 in full. The trustees of the Ledyard Realty company, care of Hart Schaffner & Marx, paid their real estate taxes in full, $62,636.47.

On three pieces of property, Wilson Brothers were billed for $21,662.30 in taxes, and yesterday they paid $13,163.30.

Smyth Company Pays.

The John M. Smyth company paid its personal property taxes in full amounting to $5,922. Sprague, Warner & Co. followed suit. Its personal property taxes are $38,416, which were paid in full.

Cashless Pay Plan Hits Another Evanston School

Teachers and other employes of School District 75, in Evanston, went for the first time yesterday on a cashless pay basis. They were paid in teachers' orders, which correspond to scrip.

HOME OWNER'S GUILT IN STILL CASE IS UPHELD

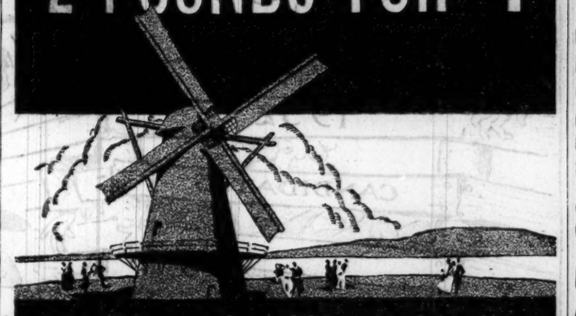

Despite his contention that he did not know a 3,500 gallon still was being operated in his home, a two story store and apartment building at 1815 South 52d avenue, Cicero, the United States Circuit Court of Appeals yesterday held John Rimkus guilty of maintaining a nuisance there.

The court affirmed a sentence of ten months in jail imposed on Rimkus by District Judge John P. Barnes. He was indicted for possession of liquor, manufacturing liquor, possessing a still and maintaining a nuisance after prohibition agents raided the place July 29 last year.

Rimkus was in his apartment on the second floor. The still operators had fled. He asserted that he did not know of the existence of the still, having rented the first floor store to a man whose name he did not know. He had been injured at work, he said, and had spent four months at the home of a brother in St. Charles, returning home two days before the raid.

SCHOOL BUDGET BEYOND REASON, D. F. KELLY SAYS

Tells Women Revenues Will Fall Short.

BY OSCAR HEWITT.

D. F. Kelly, head of the citizens' tax warrant sales committee, told the Woman's City club yesterday noon that the school board's 1932 budget of $90,195,140 is impossible to finance in his opinion. He said that the board cannot reasonably expect much more than 55 millions from taxes, and the actual receipts may be considerably less.

He did not advocate that appropriations be trimmed from 90 millions to 55 millions because he deems a 35 million cut impracticable, but he urged that the less essentials amounting to millions be pruned out.

Mr. Kelly said there was no good reason under present conditions for the print shop appropriation. He looked upon the sum [on paper] set aside for the purchase of sites as an idle appropriation. If the board bought the sites contemplated it could not borrow cash with which to pay for them, Mr. Kelly told the women, and if the trustees obtained the sites on credit they would be unable to obtain money with which to erect buildings on the land.

Wants Waste Eliminated.

Mr. Kelly said he was confident there is a large amount of waste in the $90,195,140 budget which, regardless of the lack of funds, should be eliminated. Some time ago the Kelly committee charged that there is "$1,000,000 or more" of waste in the operation of the school plants. None of that waste has been taken out of the budget.

However, the trustees, or rather eight of them, plan to adopt this unbalanced budget next Wednesday. They say they are aiding the teachers by so doing. Their public explanation is that there is a plot to reduce the teachers' salaries, and the passage of the budget next Wednesday will prevent that. Mr. Kelly has repeatedly said that he is opposed to a cut in the teachers' salaries.

The trustees will hold a conference on the budget at 11 o'clock this morning. It is expected President Lewis E. Myers and Trustees Robert F. Carr and William D. McJunkin will lead the fight against authorizing the spending of more money than the board can expect to obtain. On the othr side Trustees Joseph P. Savage, Mrs. W. S. Hefferan and Hemingway will probably be the leaders.

Makes Revenue Estimate.

Mr. Kelly said that the board could not reasonably expect more taxes for 1932 than the average of the collections for the last two tax years. For 1928 the collections were $181,414,619 and for 1929 $178,433,981.

"That is an average of $180,000,000 for all of the governments in Cook county," said Mr. Kelly. "The school board's share is 30.66 per cent, or approximately $55,000,000.

"That figure is not at all certain. The decision of County Judge Jarecki may have the effect of discouraging full tax payments. Some have estimated that taxes may be off this year 30 per cent from $180,000,000, or a collection of about $126,000,000.

"I think it is impracticable for the school board to reduce its expenditures to $55,000,000. The board may appropriate for such essential services as the schools must have and then issue bonds to get the money. But it is questionable whether the bonds can be sold.

Calls Reduction Essential.

"So far as I have been able to ascertain there is no way the school board can avoid trimming its budget if they would conserve the best interests of the school children. If the board appropriates lavishly beyond the tax income, its tax anticipation warrants will not be acceptable to the public. No one wants to buy a tax warrant, unless the taxes are sufficient to pay it off.

"Mayor Cermak desires that the fiscal representatives of the city, schools, county, sanitary district and park boards meet and decide upon severely trimmed budgets. I have talked with President Whealan of the county board and am sure that no one is more in earnest for a balanced budget than he is."

However, the county budget is still too high, in the opinion of Mr. Kelly. He suggested that the members of the club prevail upon some of the women commissioners to uphold the budget cuts.

Superintendent of Schools Bogan, who returned yesterday from Washington, D. C., repeated his statement that he would favor closing the schools rather than make a drastic reduction in the budget. The elementary teachers' union, also hinted that it favors closing schools. In a resolution the union stated, "If the people of the city aren't willing to pay cash to run the schools, their children aren't entitled to an education."

SIX WOMEN, SEVEN MEN SEIZED IN GAMBLING RAID

Six women and seven men were arrested as alleged inmates of a gambling house yesterday in a raid on the cigar store at 3818 Broadway by Sergts. Patrick Joyce and James Lynch of the Town Hall station.

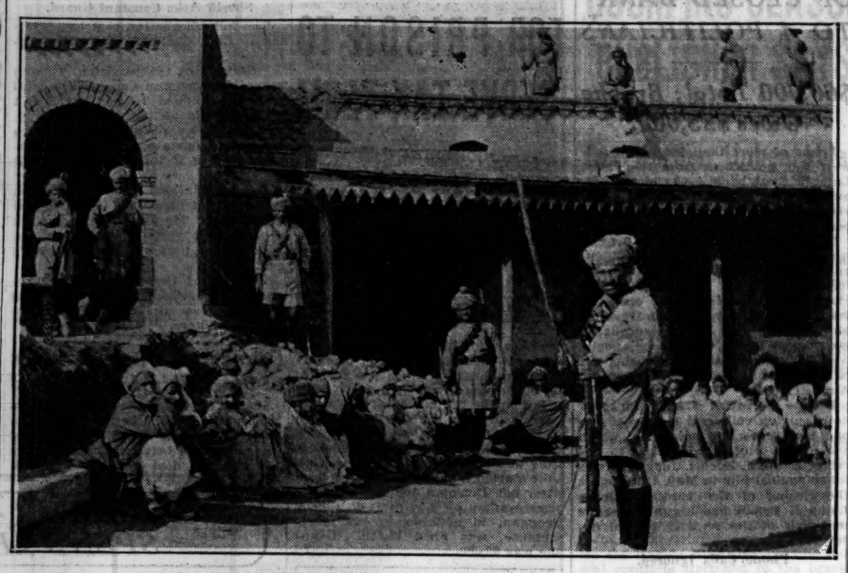

The women identified themselves as Mrs. Anna Ahern, 35 years old, 821 Bradley place; Mrs. Patricia Ancell, 22, 3720 Pine Grove avenue; Miss Ellen Rose, 33, of 4449 Malden avenue; Mrs. Patrick O'Day, 24, of 3807 Wilton avenue; Mrs. John Cable, 34, 3844 Pine Grove avenue, and Mrs. Corinne Ferguson, 27, of 720 Grace street.

They were booked as inmates of a gambling house and will appear this morning before Judge Edward Casey in Town Hall court. Max Samuels, 40, of 1248 Independence boulevard, was booked as keeper.

BUY STATE NOTES AS INVESTMENT, SAYS GEN. DAWES

Relief Warrant Sales Over 10 Millions.

Gen. Charles G. Dawes broadcast an appeal on the radio in Washington to his friends and neighbors in Chicago last night to purchase state tax warrants for unemployment relief. The sales yesterday amounted to $614,000, bringing the total up to $10,014,000. The issue is $18,750,000.

Gen. Dawes described the warrants as "absolutely safe, tax exempt six per cent notes of the great state of Illinois."

"The appeals heretofore made to you on behalf of the destitute were for donations which involved a direct personal sacrifice," he said. "You are not asked, in subscribing for these notes, to make a sacrifice. You are offered a business opportunity. Here in my room at Washington I am talking personally to each one of you, and I say to you, my friends and comrades at home, that this request to purchase these notes at once should go straight to your heart and conscience as an imperative duty."

Clarke Asks Quick Action.

Philip R. Clarke, heading the organizations of solicitors who were active in the old Liberty Loan and other drives, found the record less encouraging than it might be yesterday.

"Business concerns and individuals of means who eventually will have to buy these notes if the campaign is to be put over in a reasonable time have been holding off," he said last night. "They can send us all back to our desks in good season if they will do their duty at once. Our soliciting forces are devoting their time and energy to this campaign as a labor of love, and while they will stick to their guns until success is attained, they naturally are anxious to get back to their own work."

Enthusiasm greeted the action of the International Harvester company yesterday in subscribing for $200,000 warrants in addition to the $300,000 previously taken. This is the first instance of a large corporation increasing its original subscription.

$25,000 Each to 3 Concerns.

Sales of $25,000 each were reported from the Hibbard, Spencer, Bartlett company, the Central Public Service corporation and the American Brake Shoe and Foundry company; $10,000 from the Walter Field company and $1,000 from the Massey Concrete Products corporation.

The notes, which pay 6 per cent, are now available at banks or at the headquarters of the Joint Emergency Relief Fund at 10 South La Salle street. They are in denominations of $100, $500, $1,000, $10,000, $25,000, and $50,000.

Large sales to many important business houses and firms indicate how highly they are regarded as an investment. Two million dollar subscriptions have already been received, one from the Metropolitan Life Insurance company and one from the Chicago Surface Lines.

Seize 6,000

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, Feb. 26.—The "red shirt" revolt on the Indian frontier has been completely smashed, according to a Daily Telegraph correspondent's dispatch tonight from Peshawar. Tht leaders have been imprisoned and the situation is peaceful in four of five of the administrative districts, the report said, while there is only minor unrest in Peshawar, the fifth district.

The correspondent declared that he was told officially that "Moslem priests who have been stirring up trouble among the border tribes are being paid by soviet government agents."

The uprisings were quelled when the British authorities executed a series of raids which netted 6,000 prisoners from the Peshawar district alone. The villagers are now paying taxes voluntarily, the dispatch said.

NORTHWESTERN U. TRIMS $250,000 OUT OF BUDGET

Northwestern university's budget for the 1932-'33 school year will be trimmed approximately $250,000, President Walter Dill Scott said last night.

The cut is not considered large by school authorities in view of the average budget of $4,750,000. According to President Scott, the saving will be effected by fewer faculty conferences, less traveling by professors, fewer room redecorations, conservation of electricity, and the sending of "no more representatives to athletic matches than are necessary." Whether this applies to football was not intimated.

ATTACHES HOSE TO EXHAUST; SITS IN AUTO TO DIE

Francis Nicholas, 21 years old, sat in the back of his car in his garage in the rear of 850 Madison street, Oak Park, last night, reading Service's "Spell of the Yukon," and waiting for death. He had fitted up an improvised death chamber with death carried in the form of carbon monoxide fumes through a rubber tube.

Young Nicholas was found dead early this morning when his wife, Olive, 21, became alarmed over his absence. Oak Park police found him slumped over in the car seat, the book on his lap. Overhead was a lighted bulb. Nearby was a note stating he was killing himself because of illness and unemployment.

Nicholas prepared for death fantastically. He attached a twelve foot flexible tube to the exhaust pipe of his car and inserted the other end of the tube through a window. Inside the car he plugged up all possible ventilation. He turned on the light and started the motor. Then he opened the book and waited for death.

GEN. PERSHING IN A HOSPITAL AT WASHINGTON

Washington, D. C., Feb. 26.—[Special.]—Gen. John J. Pershing is again a patient in the officers' ward at Walter Reed hospital.

Gen. Pershing entered the hospital this afternoon and early this evening had not been placed in bed.

"Gen. Pershing has a slight hoarseness, otherwise his condition is excellent," Maj. Omar H. Quade, executive officer at Walter Reed hospital, said tonight. "He felt a little indisposed this afternoon and decided to come to the hospital for a rest. The physicians who have examined him state that this illness is not serious."

POLICE BATTLE PAY ROLL BANDIT GANG IN STREET

One Holdup Man Believed Shot After Raid.

Four armed men went late yesterday afternoon into the offices of the Samuel Bingham's Son Manufacturing company, 636 Sherman street, took a pay roll of about $700, and escaped after a running battle in the street with two detectives. One of the four, it is believed, was wounded by the policemen's bullets.

Carl F. Peterson, 5422 Wayne avenue, secretary of the company, and five girl employés were in the office when the bandits arrived. The leader pushed Peterson back into his chair while the others watched the women. A demand was made for the money, and when Peterson denied he had it a threat was made to kill him.

Flee With Pay Roll.

One robber then looked in the safe and found what was left of the pay roll. About half the employés of the concern, which manufactures printers' rollers, had already been paid.

Taking the money, the four fled down one flight of stairs to the street. The girls thrust their heads out of the windows and shouted to passersby: "Stop those robbers!"

Standing on the sidewalk, waiting for an auto thief to appear, were Sergts. Charles Gleason and Jerry Dixon of the detective bureau. Hearing the shouts and seeing the four men move rapidly out, they drew their pistols. A fifth member of the bandit band, in an automobile, drove up alongside the curb and the robbers dashed for sanctuary with him.

Bandits Fire Back.

When the detectives fired, the bandits fired back. One by one the desperadoes, following the car south to Polk street, leaped in. The last man, standing on the curb, was apparently struck and fell. Two of his companions dragged him into the car. According to Miss Clara Kilbourn, one of the employés, he shot at the detectives as he was lifted through the air by his confederates.

In all more than two dozen shots were fired and the bullets sprayed the parked automobiles along the street.

Besides Peterson and Miss Kilbourn, those in the office were Miss Anna Johnson, 2731 Sunnyside avenue; Miss Ethel Sheffery, 2205 West Division street; Miss Georgianna Leiner, 3322 Wesley avenue, Berwyn, and Miss Elizabeth Dobner, 6842 Jeffery avenue.

DEBATE "WHICH IS WORSE, N. Y. OR CHICAGO?"

Visitor Speaks Up for Gotham Rackets.

New York has surpassed Chicago in its racketeering activities. Its latest racketeering influences extend even to green peppers, soda water, flour, and artichokes. Thus a New Yorker defended New York's reputation as the "worse city" in a debate in the City club last night.

The subject was: "Chicago or New York, Which is Worse?" William H. Holly, attorney, who was traction counsel under former Mayor Dever, urged the audience to consider Chicago's iniquities. New York was championed as "worse" by Paul Blanchard, director of the city affairs committee of New York.

Chicago Outclassed.

Remarking that New York has outclassed Chicago in gangsters, producing the child murdering type, Paul H. Douglas of the department of economics of the University of Chicago introduced the speakers. Mr. Douglast also regretted another victory of New York, saying:

"Chicago was the first city of the two to develop literary geniuses. But as soon as Chicago made them prominent New York claimed them and made them affluent."

"New Yorkers know we have no culture in Chicago, and believe we eat peas with our knives," said Mr. Holly. "Where Chicago really excels, however, is in soot, smoke, and dirt. The result is that a Chicagoan can't wear a shirt a week, as New York gentlemen can.

A Beautiful Front Yard.

"We do have a beautiful front yard, which we're paying for on the installment plan, but meanwhile our children must be crowded 42 to a schoolroom. Except for our beautiful front yard the larger part of the city is a shantytown. We have some nice streets, but we have given them away forever to Samuel Insull and his group. We thought as soon as we voted for their traction plan that there wouldn't be an idle man in the city. But the Insull group hasn't kept any of its promises. We have no new cars and tracks. As for subways, we don't need them, but we feel we must have them, because New York has."

Mr. Blanchard pointed out, however, that New York was hardly pure.

"You did fire your former mayor, but we haven't fired Jimmy Walker," he said. "He's handsomer, and suaver, but he leads the same kind of crowd your former mayor led. I'm not sure it pays New York to have as mayor a man who wears pajamas so gracefully."

U. S. LOANS HOLD OUT MEAGER HOPE TO CLOSED BANKS

Auditor Nelson Explains Legal Obstacle.

BY O. A. MATHER.

Depositors and creditors of banks that have failed cannot expect to get much of their money back through the agency of the Reconstruction Finance corporation, according to Chicago bankers. While loans from the government agency may result in fewer bank failures in the future, it is not likely that much aid will be extended to the several thousand banks that have been closed throughout the country.

State banks that have failed in Illinois have almost no chance of getting any money through the government corporation, according to State Auditor Oscar Nelson, although closed national banks may be able to get loans.

Auditor Explains Law.

"I think the Illinois law is clear as to our state banks," Mr. Nelson said. "Under the law, receivers for closed banks have authority only to liquidate those banks, but they have no authority to borrow on assets. If a receiver sought to borrow, he might have to put up excess collateral for a loan. If the collateral were foreclosed, that in effect would be a sale of assets below their book value.

"About the only way that our closed state banks could get money from the Reconstruction Finance corporation would be for the corporation to buy their assets at book value or at such reasonable discount as the court might approve. A receiver can compromise claims or sell assets only with the sanction of the court.

"There would be no good of seeking a change in our laws from a special session of the legislature. The Illinois banking act can be amended only by a vote of the people and the earliest such a vote could be taken would be the general election next November. Besides, it is likely that any proposed change in the law would bring out all sorts of proposals that might defeat any specific amendment."

Limitations Pointed Out.

Although the aggregate capitalization of the Reconstruction Finance corporation is set at 2 billion dollars, it can lend only a maximum of 200 million dollars to closed banks. Moreover, the disposition of the directors of the corporation is said to be to make loans only to banks that have assets with a reasonable chance of paying out within several years.

Thus far the Reconstruction Finance corporation has made total loans of around 25 million dollars, and only part of this amount has gone to banks. Bank failures in the last year or two have resulted in tieing up nearly two billion dollars in deposits, according to estimates of Chicago bankers. Even if the government agency should lend the authorized 200 million dollars to these banks, which is hardly possible, it would mean only 10 cents on the dollar for depositors. Depositors' money tied up in closed banks in Chicago and Cook county is estimated to be nearly 100 million dollars.

Thus far the government agency has made loans of between three and four million dollars to about a dozen applicants in Illinois, Iowa, Indiana, and Wisconsin. The making of loans has just started and requires much detail work, according to Howard M. Sims, who is in charge of the Chicago district office. A number of applications are pending and more are expected, he said yesterday.

Hope to Restore Confidence.

It is no secret that government officials and bankers alike are hoping that formation of the Reconstruction Finance corporation will have a psychological effect considerably more important than its actual operations. If public fears of bank failures are allayed, then withdrawal of deposits will diminish and hoarded money will return to circulation, inspiring confidence and improving business.

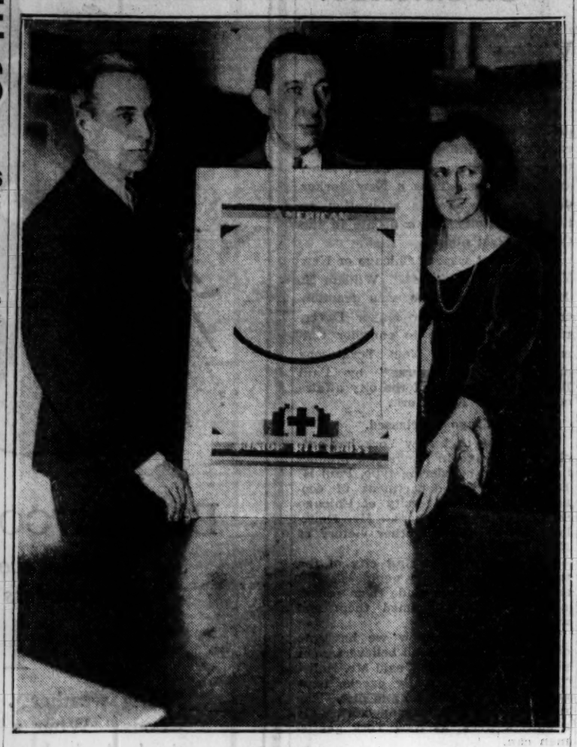

It also is the hope of bankers that returning confidence will make it unnecessary for the Reconstruction Finance corporation to raise and use its maximum capital. Its capital must be raised either by selling bonds publicly or to the federal treasury, which, in turn, must sell its own obligations in order to get funds with which to buy the corporation's debentures. Chicago bankers are rather skeptical over the ability of the corporation to market its obligations, except on a relatively high interest rate, and the same doubt applies even to the United States treasury, in view of its own large refunding operations in the next year or two.

Directors of the United Depositors' association, meeting in the Hotel Sherman last night, voted to have the organization's attorney, Louis Jacobson, take immediate legal steps to have receivers of closed banks apply for loans. The attorney was instructed to begin two cases to test the state law which stands in the way of such loans.

THREATENS COP; SENTENCED.

John Zajac, 18 years old, 1101 North Francisco avenue, who threatened Policeman Ray Timme with a monkey wrench when the latter found him stealing accessories from a car, was sentenced to six months in the Bridewell for attempted assault by Judge William Brooks in the Boys' court yesterday.

HOOVER TO SIGN RESERVE CREDIT MEASURE TODAY

Amended Bill Approved by Both Houses.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Feb. 26.—[Special.]—House and senate today gave their final approval to the Glass-Steagall bill to enlarge the credit facilities of federal reserve banks and to give them an expanded power to issue new currency.

The President announced he would sign the measure tomorrow.

As agreed to in the conference committee of both houses, the bill provides that on the approval of not less than five members of the federal reserve board groups of not less than five member banks may receive loans from federal reserve banks on hitherto ineligible securities, foreign securities excepted.

Time Limitation Removed.

Less than five banks may obtain such credit provided their aggregate deposit liability constitutes at least 10 per cent of all the member banks in the district. The house bill's one year limitation on the provision was eliminated.

In "exceptional and exigent circumstance" a federal reserve bank is permitted to make advances to any member bank in its district provided the bank has no further eligible securities to enable it to secure credit accommodations. It was agreed by the committee that this clause should remain in effect until March 3, 1933, instead of March 3, 1934, as provided in the senate bill. And the senate's provision limiting the provision to banks of less than $2,000,000 capitalization was amended to make such credit available to banks with up to $5,000,000 of capital.

Excludes 62 Banks.

Only 62 banks out of the 7,600 member banks in the country would be excluded by the $5,000,000 limitation, Senator Carter Glass [Dem., Va.], co-sponsor of the bill, declared in explanation.

The third section of the bill authorizes federal reserve banks to put up direct obligations of the United States as collateral security for federal reserve notes. Again the senate's extension of the provision to March 3, 1934, was amended to March 3, 1933.

16½ FOOT BRIDGE CLEARANCE HELD O. K. FOR SEAWAY

E. M. Antrim of the Chicago regional port commission informed a city council subcommittee yesterday that a 16½ foot clearance for bridges across the Chicago river and the sanitary district canal is ample at this time for barge traffic on the lakes-gulf waterway.

When the present bridges become obsolete and are replaced, a 25 foot clearance should be established, Mr. Antrim said, but the presence now of bridges with the lesser clearance should not delay the opening of the waterway. City engineers are working on a report on loop bridges which is expected to be similar to the report of Mr. Antrim.

The subcommittee was appointed by Ald. William A. Rowan [10th], chairman of the committee on harbors, wharves and bridges, to develop a policy for the city in the matter of bridge clearances in the metropolitan area. After the city engineers make their report a recommendation will be made to the full committee.

Niles Policeman Freed of Motorist's Charge

A charge of extortion by threat against Policeman Rudolph S. Skelning of Niles was not prossed yesterday by Police Magistrate Porter of Evanston. The complainant, Walter A. Cruice, 2275 North 59th street, Milwaukee, failed to appear in court. Mr. Cruice, in obtaining the warrant, swore that he gave the village policeman $10 to escape arrest on a charge of speeding.

Frankie Foster Seized in Los Angeles as Gun Toter

Frankie Foster, former north side gangster, was arrested yesterday in Los Angeles, where he has lived for more than a year. Police said they found a revolver in his automobile. He was also carrying a letter from one "Ben" in New York, which complained: "The racket here and in Chicago is pretty bad—no dough."

DISCLOSE LOANS OF CLOSED BANK TO 4 POLITICIANS

$60,000 Total; Brekke Owes $23,000.

Loans of more than $60,000 to four west side politicians from the closed Laramie State bank, 5200 Chicago avenue, were disclosed yesterday in an inventory of the bank on file in the Superior court.

The borrowers are Eden T. Brekke, west park commissioner and Republican committeeman of the 37th ward; former Ald. John P. Garner, supervisor of securities for the state industrial commission; Joseph F. Gubbins, former city superintendent of water, and Oscar C. Johnson, northwest park commissioner. Gubbins has paid most of his debt. The bank closed Aug. 16, 1930.

Brekke borrowed $23,773 on four notes, giving collateral largely of second mortgages and securities which are now worthless, according to Receiver Erwin J. Zuehls. Judgment was taken against him in May, 1930, before the closing of the bank. Attorney Louis J. Behan has begun an action in behalf of the receiver toward discovering assets.

Phone Calls Ignored.

Mr. Zuehls is the third receiver of the bank. He was appointed last November. He said Brekke has ignored his letters and phone calls concerning the debt which, with interest charges and attorney's fees, is now more than $25,000.

Garner, a stockholder in the bank, has loans of $14,644, and Johnson $7,751. Judgments have been secured against both. Gubbins is listed as having borrowed $16,915. Records reveal he has turned over two first mortgages valued at $10,000, besides some stock, as payments on the debt, and that he promised to pay $4,000 in cash, of which $1,000 has been paid.

A list of debtors who borrowed approximately $316,000 has been forwarded to State's Attorney Swanson. The prosecutor has promised that as soon as his office completes compilation of questionnaires from the debtors they will be called in for examination on their assets. The bank owes depositors $366,000.

Bain Charges Superseded.

Charges of conspiracy against John Bain, head of the chain of twelve banks bearing his name; his son, John H. Bain, and his son-in-law, Merle Fisher, which were instituted before their indictment on the charges, were nolle prossed by the state before Judge James F. Fardy in the Felony court. The charges were placed against the men to prevent their leaving the city, and have been superseded by the indictments, the judge was told.

MRS. BLACKLIDGE FILES CHARGES IN SUING LITSINGER

Attorneys for Mrs. Myrtle Tanner Blacklidge, former collector of internal revenue, yesterday filed the declaration in her $150,000 suit for libel against Edward R. Litsinger, member of the board of review. The charges grew out of the 1,500 word statement issued by Litsinger immediately after the $50,000 faro swindle which took place in a Springfield hotel in February, 1931, when card sharpers escaped with the money which the reviewer loaned to Mrs. Blacklidge.

The declaration reproduces in full the statement in which Mr. Litsinger charged that Mrs. Blacklidge was a party to the swindle and that she "deliberately" set out to mulct him. The declaration, prepared by Attorney David Stansbury, charged that Mr. Litsinger's allegations caused Mrs. Blacklidge to be placed in a scandalous and infamous light.

Pasquale Natali, 56 years old, 559 Gilpin place, was denied a new trial for the slaying of Sam Messina by Judge Walter T. Stanton in the Criminal court yesterday and was sentenced to thirty years in the penitentiary at Joliet. Messina and Natali were life long friends and they came to this country together from Italy.

turned around to look at his fellow prisoners. He seemed out of place, in his smart dress. The color scheme of his outfit was brown and tan. Then he lay on the bed and tried to sleep.

Druggan was sentenced to prison on Feb. 2 by Judge Wilkerson on his plea of guilty to income tax violation. Lake was sentenced at the same time. Lake started his prison term two days later, but Druggan fought off actual incarceration on his plea of illness. Druggan, in addition to his prison sentence, was fined $5,000. Lake's fine was $2,500.

CAPONE UNDER GUARD

Alphonse Capone, public enemy No. 1 and czar of gangland until he was convicted of income tax dodging, was placed under a special guard yesterday in the county jail in an effort to stop the flood of rumors to the effect that he is carrying on his activities despite his incarceration. Deputy United States marshals will stand a 24 hour guard in front of Capone's cell from now until he is removed to the federal penitentiary in the event that his appeal for a reversal of his conviction is rejected.

The special guard was posted as a result of conference recently held by Sheriff Meyering and United States Marshal H. C. W. Laubenheimer. They discussed the many rumors which have been current since Capone was jailed. These included gossip that Capone ran his bootleg industry from his jail cell; that he had women visitors, and that he came and went from the jail at will.

Sheriff Asks Constant Guard.

The following letter, sent by Meyering to Laubenheimer, was made public:

"Because of the persistent rumors regarding Alphonse Capone, a federal prisoner confined to my custody, I deem it advisable that you place U. S. marshals as guards over him 24 hours a day to coöperate with the jail warden and see if these rumors cannot be abated."

Deputy Marshal Paul Wunderlich was the first man to take the special guard post. He appeared at the jail at 8 o'clock yesterday morning and took up his post outside of Capone's cell.

Because of the rumors about Capone the marshal's office some time ago took over the task of supervising his visitors.

Salesman Is Arrested on Confidence Game Charge

Charles E. Rutte, 1210 West 83d street, a salesman for Commercial Counselors, Inc., 100 North La Salle street, was arrested yesterday on the charge of operating a confidence game. George E. Lane, 2620 Grunewold street, charged that he gave Rutte real estate bonds worth $2,000 on Rutte's assurance that he could sell them at more than double their quoted market price. Rutte sold them at the market price and kept the money, Lane charged. Recently Lane sent him a letter, saying that he had other bonds to sell and Rutte was arrested when he called at Lane's home.

Mrs. Sylvia Richey, 30 years old, 5643 South Green street, was granted a divorce yesterday from her husband, Theodore, by Superior Judge Joseph Sabath. She testified that when she became blind as a result of an attack of scarlet fever recently he told her he "didn't want the burden of a blind wife." Mrs. Richey refused alimony, saying that her parents, who live in California, are wealthy and will take care of her.

TAXPAYERS PAY ADVERTISING OF WOOD BUSINESS

Increase Sales Through Federal Subsidy.

BY ARTHUR SEARS HENNING.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Feb. 26.—[Special.]—As a result of a castigation by the public printer of the wood utilization committee of the commerce department, there has been brought to light another example of the way in which the taxpayers are made to foot the bills for the exploitation of private enterprises.

ROBT. P. LAMONT.
[Moffett Photo.]

The national committee on wood utilization, of which Secretary of Commerce Robert P. Lamont is chairman, is composed of 200 leading timber owners, manufacturers, distributors and consumers of forest products, representing nearly 100 trade associations. It grew out of a conference in 1925 between these interests and Mr. Hoover, then secretary of commerce, who became its first chairman.

Object: More Profits.

The object of these interests was to extend the use of their products and particularly to create a demand for lumber that is now wasted by uneconomical methods of utilization, for which purpose it was desired to educate builders and other consumers by means of an extensive series of publications. For similar purposes many industries have formed committees and established propaganda agencies at enormous cost for office rent and for publication and mailing of promotional material.

By interesting the government in the enterprise, however, the wood trade organization was able to swing its undertaking at a small fraction of what it otherwise would have cost it. Mr. Hoover extended the partnership of the government on the theory of aiding industry, of furnishing an impartial agency for reconciling conflicting interests within the industry, of conserving timber and of promoting reforestation.

Housed in Commerce Palace.

The committee was organized and given office space in the department of commerce in the new 17 million dollar palace in which it now occupies an extensive suite of rooms. Axel Oxholm, who had been promoting Swedish wood utilization methods, resigned from the commerce department and became director of the committee.

Since organization the committee has prepared and issued more than 30 books and pamphlets on wood utilization, of which a million copies have been distributed, according to Mr. Oxholm, who exhibits hundreds of letters from appreciative builders, engineers, consumers, colleges, and other bodies.

All this the wood interests have been abel to do on an anual budget of only $35,000. The government has furnished office quarters rent free, has printed and bound the publications, has distributed the publications as government documents and has transported them through the mails postage free. In addition 7 or 8 of the committee's Washington staff of 15 employés, Mr. Oxholm said, are on the commerce department pay roll. The publications are advertised in postoffices by government posters sent to postmasters.

U. S. Pays for Composition.

The cost of the type composition of the publications is borne by the commerce department. For the cost of printing and binding the government is reimbursed from the proceeds of the sale of the publications by the superintendent of documents at prices ranging from 5 to 25 cents each. The government has been reimbursed up to date for this cost of all the publications except that on "Furniture, Its Selection and Use."

Thus by operating under the auspices of the government the wood using interests have been enabled to save in the cost of their undertaking, it is estimated, several hundre dthousand dollars which have been paid by the taxpayers.

Illustrative of the vast saving in postage costs is the mailing postage free of 500,000 postal cards advertising the committee's 115 page furniture booklet, which otherwise would have cost $5,000.

Commenting on the fact that the commerce department spends more on printing than any other department Public Printer George H. Carter, in his annual report dated Jan. 20, last, said that 500,000 copies of the furniture booklet had been ordered and printed on representations by Mr. Oxholm that this number "would be needed immediately to supply the public demand for advice on the selection and use of furniture."

Books Stay in Storage.

"However, to date," continued Mr. Carter, "only about one-fifth of the copies have been sold, and the bulk of these were bought by furniture manufacturers and dealers for redistribution to prospective customers. The department of commerce ordered only 2,000 copies for its own use. The total printing and binding charge of the furniture pamphlet was $29,731.40 of which $28,672.73 was paid by the superintendent of documents for the 500,000 copies. The receipts to date from the sale of this publication amount to $10,503.71."

Thereat Mr. Oxholm waxed indignant, asserting that 400,000 copies had been sold at a profit of $22,000 to the government and that the committee had guaranteed to purchase any unsold copies. Inquiry of Mr. Carter today produced the information that 120,134 copies have been sold up to date and that the government is still in the hole nearly $20,000.

Mr. Oxholm recently mailed to the industry what he called "a copy of an editorial which appeared in THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE Feb. 9, 1932, written by Dr. A. P. Haake, managing director of the National Association of Furniture Manufacturers." The matter mailed was a letter by Dr. Haake printed by THE TRIBUNE in the "Voice of the People" column, which replied to a TRIBUNE editorial criticizing the wasteful government expenditure on the furniture booklet. Mr. Oxholm explained he had inadvertently made it appear that THE TRIBUNE had published an editorial written by Dr. Haake recanting its views and said he was mailing a correction.

TORTURED BY ROBBERS

Miss Angelina Galecke of 8044 Escanaba avenue, who was slashed with razor when she refused to tell where her money was hidden.

Gives Up Money

Three men who invaded the home of Miss Angelina Galecke, 22 years old, 8044 Escanaba avenue, tortured her by slashing her chest, hands, and legs with razors until she revealed the hiding place of her money. They fled with $160 which had been hidden in a trunk. Between 25 and 50 minor cuts and slashes on her body were treated by Dr. Aurelius Siemianowski, 8759 Commercial avenue.

Miss Galecke was alone in the house, where she lives with her father and brother, when she answered a knock at the rear door. The men forced themselves in and began to cut her when she refused to tell them where the money was hidden. She told them when they threatened to mutilate her face. She told the South Chicago police the money had recently been withdrawn from a bank.

DISMISSES SUIT AGAINST MEYER; RAPS ATTORNEYS

Judge Denis E. Sullivan yesterday termed a suit against Hugo Meyer and other officials of the Motorists Association of Illinois "a racket" and ordered a transcript of evidence presented to the grievance committee of the Chicago Bar association for possible action against the attorneys who prosecuted the suit. They are David K. Tone, Bernard J. Brown, and Benjamin H. Black.

He also gave Black until Monday to show why he should not be held guilty of contempt of court. At a hearing Tuesday, Judge Sullivan told the witnesses to return the following day. They did not appear, and later several of them testified that Black had followed them outside Judge Sullivan's courtroom in the Superior court and told them they need not appear unless he notified them to do so.

The bill of complaint, filed on behalf of a dozen stockholders in the motorists' association, charged that Meyer and other officials had applied association funds to their own use. All of the plaintiffs except two—H. W. Romer and H. C. McCandless—testified, however, that they had signed the bill in Brown's office without reading it.

"There is no doubt in my mind," said Judge Sullivan in dismissing the suit, "that this is just a racket engineered by Romer and Abe Goodman [who had solicited stockholders to join the action]. If that is the standard by which justice is to be invoked, then all I can say is, God help the people."

Los Angeles Swelters in "Unusual" 86 Degrees

OFFICE HOLDERS USURPING CLASS, PUBLISHER SAYS

Tax Burden Unbearable, Col. McCormick Avers.

Indianapolis, Ind., Feb. 26.—[Special.]—Asserting that the "producing classes of the third estate, raised to power throughout the centuries, have been totally overthrown by the usurping class of office holders," Col. Robert R. McCormick, publisher of THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE, spoke before the Indiana Democratic Editorial association this afternoon.

"Like the French nation under Louis XIV.," he said, "we are ground down by an unbearable army, which is extorting in taxes from the suffering populace ten billion dollars annually and is spending three billion dollars more, to the point where local treasuries are largely bankrupt and the federal credit is stretched to the breaking point. Everywhere people are crying for relief and nowhere are they receiving it.

Become "Yes Men."

"Our city councils and legislatures and the congress have become mere assemblies of 'yes men' to execute the will of a growing class holding office by law and grinding down the producers of wealth as did the tax gatherers of Louis XIV. and John of England in the dark ages of yore."

Tracing the history of bureaucratic government, Col. McCormick pointed out that in 1926 when private enterprise had produced radio "the government set up a bureau to license broadcasting stations just as 400 years ago Henry VII. licensed printing presses."

"If this does not seem a serious matter to you," he continued, "may I remind you that it took four hundred years of suffering and martyrdom for the press, the fourth estate, to wrest its freedom from tyranny and that this year only by a slender majority of one vote, did the Supreme court of the United States uphold this freedom against a law in the state of Minnesota which sought to reimpose upon newspapers the shackles of the middle ages.

Expenses Are Endless.

"If I were to go on and tell you of all government operations, operations to put water on land and to take water off land, to tax farmers who own their own farms, to subsidize other farmers to compete with them, to hold harbors where there is no shipping and dredge rivers where there is no commerce, build power plans for the pampered few at the expense of the many, of forty thousand civilians employed in the army and fifty thousand in the navy and a thousand other Arabian Nights activities, I would consume your afternoon.

"The general result is that we now have on the public pay rolls three million people and we have allied with them in the form of contractors and other beneficiaries I cannot say how many million more."

PAROLED CONVICT SENT BACK.

KNEE BREECHES? MELLON LAUGHS 'EM OFF IN SOUTH

"Ask Dawes," His Advice to Interviewer.

Augusta, Ga., Feb. 26.—(AP)—In high good humor, Andrew W. Mellon who resigned as secretary of the treasury to become ambassador to Great Britain, said today he was not worried over the question as to whether one should wear knee breeches at the court of St. James's.

The 77 year old financier laughed as a reporter asked him about the knee breeches.

Won't Talk Breeches.

"I have been asked that question several times, and all I can say is that I do not know. I do not know whether it is customary now or not."

"What," he asked with a smile, "was the answer of Ambassador Dawes to that question?" although he appeared to know the answer. Charles G. Dawes refused to wear the knee breeches.

The former financial expert of the United States, who is here "just for a rest and to recuperate from a cold," received a newspaper reporter cordially in his large suite at a winter tourist hotel.

He turned the tables on the interviewer by firing a barrage of questions at him about topics ranging from prospective cotton acreage in this vicinity to the whereabouts and present activity of former Senator Thomas Heflin of Alabama.

Not Much on Golf.

Mr. Mellon appeared to be in good health. He was in fine spirits. He said he doubted he would play much golf while here. "I am not much of a golfer," he confided. "I have not played for a long time. I suppose that most of my days here will be similar to the first."

"I have a little cold in the throat," he said, "and my doctor told me to come down here or to some other place with a similar dry climate to get over it. I am sure that will be all right within a week. I intend to take two weeks, however, or perhaps longer unless I am called away, just to get a good rest before going abroad. I have not set a date for sailing."

SEIZED FOR SALE OF TOY MACHINE GUNS TO 2 BOYS

A warrant for the arrest of Arthur Edward Baird, 6433 University avenue, alleged to have sold miniature machine guns to two small boys, was issued by Judge John Sbarbaro in the Grand Crossing court yesterday. The warrant charges that Baird sold toys without a license.

George R. Katzman, 6643 Greenwood avenue, the complainant in the case, presented two replicas of the Thompson submachine gun. A clockwork arrangement in the cartridge drum made explosive sounds when the trigger was pulled.

"Can't we do something to a man who sells this kind of toys," said Katzman. Katzman said that Baird, owner of a cigar and confectionery store, admitted that he sold the guns to the Katzman boys, George Jr., 8 years old, and David, 6 years old.

Assistant State's Attorney Albert Johnson found a section in the municipal code which prohibits the selling of toys without a license, and the warrant was issued.

JAPANESE BOMB CHINESE FORT IN BIG AIR ATTACK

This was a violation of previous Japanese promises.

Yesterday's Japanese air bombing activities also took in two Chinese towns behind the lines in the Kiangwan district, Tazang and Nanziang, both of which were practically wiped off the map. Many casualties, including women and children, were reported.

Part of Railway Destroyed.

Chenju, where the headquarters of Gen. Tsai Ting-kai are located, was also visited again by Japanese bombers and a considerable section of the Shanghai-Nanking railway was destroyed. The station at Lunghwa, on the Shanghai-Hangchow railway, received a dozen bombs from six planes. The damage was not serious.

Last night the Japanese tried a new stunt—night bombing. A large plane flew over Chapei, using a searchlight, and tried to spy out the concealed artillery bases which have been firing into the Japanese positions in the Hongkew section of the international settlement.

Aside from the bombing of the Chinese aviation bases at Hangchow, little damage was accomplished by the rain of Japanese high explosives over a wide territory yesterday. However, the air raids had the effect of causing a general evacuation of the lower Yangtze delta. Roads leading to the interior were packed with masses of Chinese, carrying their possessions.

Japanese Have 200 Planes.

According to foreign military observers, the Japanese now have 200 planes here, of which 130 are attached to two aircraft carriers anchored at the mouth of the Yangtze.

In addition to these planes, the Japanese 9th division has a large number of planes based at the new Japanese aviation field near the international settlement and adjacent to the campus of the American Shanghai Baptist college.

When the Japanese first began to use bombing planes, projectiles weighing 25 and 50 pounds were dropped, but recently they have been using aerial torpedoes five feet long and weighing from 250 to 300 pounds. These missiles produce gigantic craters, ranging from ten to twenty feet deep and forty feet wide.

One such bomb landed near the Hungjao airdrome near Shanghai, dammed a canal thirty feet wide and produced an artificial lake. Those landing in the small towns leave nothing but a pile of smouldering bricks, tiles, mortar and splintered timbers.

China Needs Money.

China's chief problem in the present situation is to obtain supplies, money and munitions necessary for organized resistance to the Japanese. At the present time the Chinese troops are dependent largely upon Shanghai's resources, although considerable sums are being received from Chinese residing abroad, including the United States.

But the financial status of Chinese abroad has been seriously affected by the depression, while Shanghai has become a dead city. Practically all shops, factories and native banks are closed. Even the international settlement administration is becoming embarrassed, due to a 25 per cent increase in expenses and a serious slump in revenues from taxation due to the Japanese occupation of the Hongkew section, which is the richest part of the city and which has always produced a large portion of the revenues for municipal administration.

Refugees a Problem.

In addition to raising funds to support the Chinese army of 60,000 now defending the city, Chinese merchants are also compelled to support vast hordes of refugees, more than 50,000 of whom, in destitute circumstances, are living in some 40 concentration camps within the foreign settlement.

The prospects, therefore, are not bright and foreign military observers here are convinced that the Japanese will fulfill their program of occupying a 20 mile zone about the city. In that event, these observers believe, Japan's troubles will really begin, because the Chinese then will likely rsort to guerilla warfare, a form of activity in which the Chinese are most adept.

Think Japs Doomed to Failure.

Foreign military opinion is that Japan's present adventure in the Yangtze valley, regardless of the motive or justification, is bound to be a failure in the long run. This is because of Chinese trade, which Japan must have to live, is being destroyed, and the ultimate result is bound to cause increasing chaos, leading to an extension of communism, with a possibility that the Chinese people ultimately will be forced to support the communist party as the only way out.

China to Protest Air Raid.

NANKING, Feb. 27.—[Saturday.]—The Chinese government was planning today to make a vigorous protest to the Japanese government over the bombing yesterday of the Chinese military airdrome at Hangchow.

It was expected that the protest would point out that Hangchow is far from the Shanghai battle front, and that, since Japan has not declared war against China, the attack was unjustifiable. The Chinese government will contend that Japan is responsible for damages.

CHINESE BANDITS BUSY AS RESULT OF BLOW TO JAPS

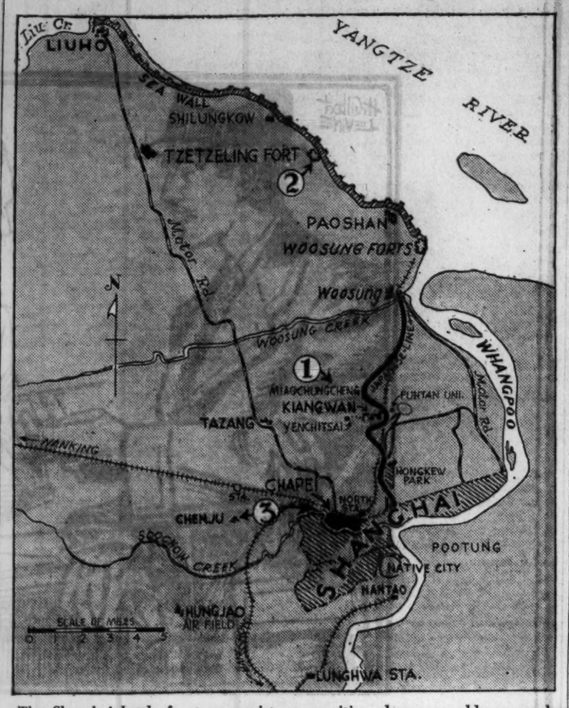

[Copyright: 1932: By the New York Times.]

DAIREN, Feb. 26.—Chinese bandits today destroyed telegraph and telephone communications between Tunhua and the Corean frontier. A force of Chinese policemen employed by the new government near Kailingcheng revolted and joined the bandits.

Outbreaks of this kind are attributed to the rejuvenation of Chinese resistance to Japan resulting from the checking of the Japanese military advance at Shanghai.

More than 400 bandits across the Liao river from Newchwang fled when attacked, leaving five dead.

CHINESE RECAPTURE LOST GROUND

The Shanghai battle front was quiet this morning following a night attack by the Chinese in the Kiangwan sector, in which the Chinese recaptured the village of Miaohungchen, taken by the Japanese last night. The map shows:

(1) The Kiangwan front, where the main action took place yesterday and today.

(2) Tzetzeling fort, where a Chinese ammunition dump was blown up by Japanese air bombs. Three Chinese guns were also put out of commission.

(3) Chapei and Chenju. The Chinese positions in the former opened a brief artillery attack on the Japanese in Hongkew this morning. Japanese planes again raided Chenju yesterday. A section of the Shanghai-Nanking railway was destroyed.

BOY SENTENCED FOR MURDER OF MRS. LAVANDER

CRIMINAL COURT.

Vernon Royals, murder, sentenced to 25 years in the penitentiary; Pasquale Natali, murder, sentenced to 30 years in the penitentiary by Judge Walter Stanton.

Carl Dominico, robbery, sentenced to 1 year to life in the penitentiary by Judge George Fred Rush.

Max Levy, Ernest Levy, and David Blumenfeld, larceny, sentenced to 1 to 10 years each in the penitentiary by Judge James J. Kelly.

Vernon Royals, 17 years old, convicted slayer of Mrs. Agnes Lavander near the lonely Forest Glen railroad station during a robbery two years ago, was sentenced to twenty-five years in the penitentiary by Judge Walter T. Stanton in the Criminal court yesterday.

Judge Stanton overruled a motion for new trial. When he pronounced sentence, Royals struggled with his guards and shouted: "I got a dirty deal."

Royals was seized as a suspect in the rape of Mrs. Phillip Myer, 52 years old, 4445 Ardmore avenue, near the scene of the Lavander murder. The youth confessed the murder, then later retracted the confession.

BEG YOUR PARDON!

Kenneth W. Moore, vice president of Peabody & Co., 10 South La Salle street, has asked THE TRIBUNE to make it known that neither he nor his concern has any connection with the Kenneth W. Moore, assistant treasurer of the American Bond and Mortgage company, who was found guilty yesterday by a federal jury in Pittsburgh on charges of conspiracy and using the mails to defraud.

HOOVER PONDERS WHETHER TO JOIN BOYCOTT OF JAPS

Cabinet Split on Question of Following League.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Feb. 26.—The crisis at Shanghai again engaged the attention of President Hoover and his cabinet today as American and foreign officials at that port perfected plans for evacuating their nationals to points of safety in event an extreme emergency arises. Secretary Stimson announced, following a conference with the President, that there would be a cessation of notewriting on the Chinese-Japanese situation.

While members of the cabinet were silent regarding future American plans for dealing with the situation, it was learned that the question of whether the United States would join in a general boycott has been discussed. One report was that the cabinet was divided on the question of what this country should do in event the league of nations assembly votes an economic boycott against Japan at its scheduled meeting on March 3 and invites the United States to join in the movement.

Oppose Boycott Movement.

In one high quarter it was said the administration was against declaring an economic boycott. Indications today were that while some government officials favor the use of economic pressure, the sentiment in cabinet circles, as well as in congress, is opposed to this country's engaging in a boycott movement, notwithstanding the urgings of the pacifists and internationalists.

The demand by league advocates, peace organizations, and habitual peace petition signers for the laying down of an economic boycott against Japan has continued to grow, if the quantity of literature reaching Washington officials is any criterion. The League of Nations association at New York broadcast a statement today urging that the United States join with England, France, and other nations if they decide to sever economic and financial relations with Japan.

Will Not Evacuate.

State department officials said today that there is no immediate intention to evacuate American nationals from Shanghai. It was added that the consular officers of the powers had agreed to work together in evacuating all nationals in event such a step became advisable.

Administration officials evinced interest in reports indicating unusual soviet military activity on the Siberian frontier. In view of the fact that an American consular officer has been engaged in looking over conditions in that district, officials were inclined to discount reports that the soviets were preparing for any immediate military move.

CHINA KILLS NEW LEAGUE PLAN FOR NEUTRAL ZONE

Council Forced to Halt Note to Japan.

BY JAY ALLEN.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

GENEVA, Feb. 26.—China today blocked a session of the league of nations council which was to have put the finishing touches on a note to Japan.

It had been planned to follow up Secretary Stimson's recent statement of American policy in the far east with the suggestion again for a neutral zone around Shanghai under the supervision of the powers.

The Japanese almost hinted for just that in their last note to the league as a means of "being saved from the terrible Chinese."

But the Chinese would not have it that way. Their delegate, Dr. W. W. Yen, is confident apparently that the Chinese troops are able, if not to hold off the Japanese, to give them a bothersome time. He said that his people will not hear of such an idea.

This development from the Chinese, who hitherto have been in a suppliant mood and anxious to please the league in the hope that the league would call off the Japanese when it was time, caused dismay in the council and further conversations will be held before they meet to draft their note to Japan.

JAPAN BUYS UP HUGE CARGOES OF FOOD IN MEXICO

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

MEXICO CITY, Feb. 26.—Japanese officers have arrived at several points on the Pacific coast of Mexico and are buying great quantities of food for the Japanese army at the Chinese war front. Purchases include dried fish, clams, chickpeas, tomatoes, rice, corn, and wheat.

The Japanese also are buying crude oil and refined gasoline for war machines and airplanes. Business is picking up along the coast since the arrival of the Japanese, who have also sent agents into the interior to make purchases.

The Japanese are quoted as having said that it is Japan's intention to store up dry foods in anticipation of possible more extensive war activities and trouble with other nations.

JAPANESE FORCE CHINESE COOLIES TO WORK IN army

[Copyright: 1932: By the Associated Press.]

SHANGHAI, Feb. 26.—The men every tourist knows, the Chinese coolies, have been impressed into service as the men behind the Japanese guns in Shanghai's war.

Half clad, mute and carefully masking their own reactions, gangs of coolies are taken forward each morning to the front lines to carry ammunition for the big guns that belch death for their own brothers and cousins across no man's land.

When the day is over the coolies are again herded together at the point of a bayonet, searched for arms, checked off and taken back to Shanghai aboard trucks.

CHINESE INSIST JAPAN IS GIRDING TO FIGHT AMERICA

Claim U. S. Must Act to Protect Self.

BY JOHN POWELL.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

SHANGHAI, Feb. 27.—[Saturday.]—Chinese and Japanese military activities were accompanied by more than the usual amount of verbal fireworks in the form of diplomatic exchanges, declarations, and notes yesterday.

E. S. CUNNINGHAM. [Acme Photo.]

Edwin S. Cunningham, United States consul general, sent two notes. One was addressed to Chinese authorities holding them responsible for damage to American property caused by Chinese artillery fire in the Hongkew section of the international settlement. This note was in the nature of a reply to the Chinese mayor, Wu Teh-chen, who disavowed any responsibility for the loss of foreign life and property within the settlement as long as the Japanese are permitted to use it as a military base.

German Consul Protests.

The German consul, supported by the Italian and one other consul, also joined in a protest to Chinese authorities against the firing into Hongkew on the grounds that Chinese shells had landed near the German consulate and had forced consular officials to evacuate and that the explosives were endangering neutral lives and property.

Mr. Cunningham also replied to the note of Kuramatsu Murai, Japanese consul general, regarding the aviation activities of Robert Short, American flyer, in behalf of the Chinese army, and who was killed in a fight with Japanese planes. The Cunningham reply said that "no official information has been received regarding the death of Robert Short while flying a Chinese combat plane and the matter is under investigation."

Local Chinese and foreign newspapers yesterday gave prominence to Secretary of State Stimson's letter to Senator Borah on the nine power treaty, as well as to the declaration of a spokesman of the Japanese foreign office. As a result Eugene Chen, former foreign minister, and Sun Fo, prominent Cantonese leader, joined in a statement which obviously came from the versatile pen of Chen, declaring that "Stimson's letter is a magisterial statement of American policy in the far east and is certain to rank high in American state documents, since it constitutes a restrained statement on the fundamental realities of the situation.

"Savage With Machine Gun."

"By her invasion of China, her deeds of violence, and her defiance of public opinion in America and the rest of the world, as represented in the league of nations, Japan has abused the great power intrusted to her at the Washington conference. She has revealed herself in a rôle that might be compared, not without justice, to a savage armed with a machine gun.

"If American and Great Britain together cannot restrain Japan, then the task ultimately will fall to America, because Japan's control of Manchuria, plus her dominance of the Yangtze gateway, places her in position to dominate the Pacific and establish her mastery there and in oriental lands touching thereon.

"The invisible government at Tokio, namely the military general staff, which planned and prepared the war with China in 1894 and the war with Russia in 1904 and the occupation of the German territory at Tsingtao in 1914 obviously now is preparing for the next war, which is certain to be with America.

Says U. S. Must Intervene.

"Indeed this assertion is less fantastic than if on Sept. 18, it had been whispered in world chancelleries that Japan would before midnight abandon herself to a career of crime and turpitude which during five full months would astound and shock the civilized world.

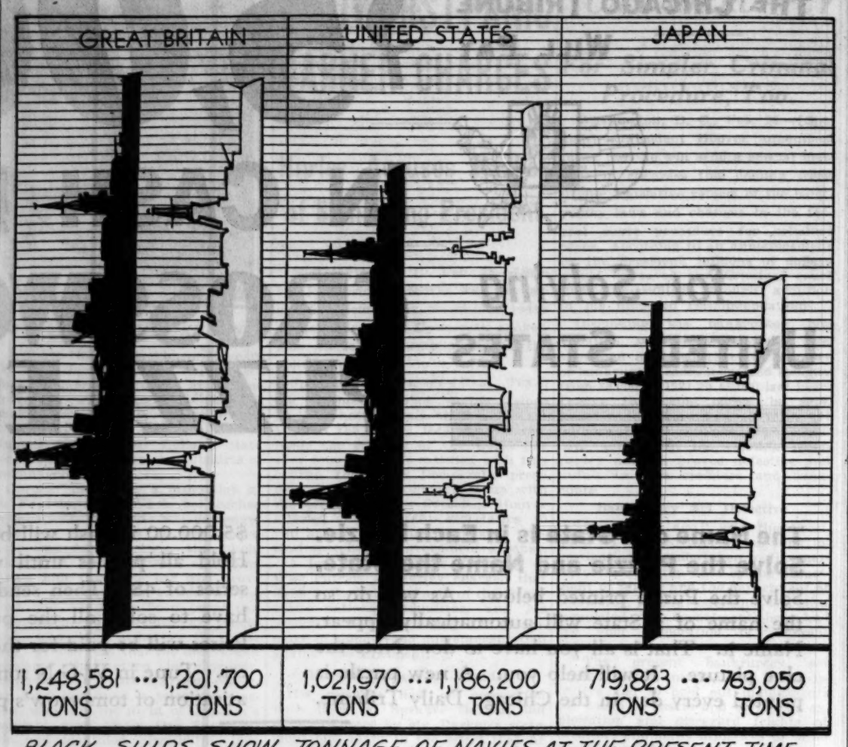

"In view of this an eventual armed intervention by the United States in the war which Japan is now waging against China is a necessity, not because American honor and prestige is deeply involved in Japan's contemptuous violation of the covenants of the nine power treaty and the Kellogg peace pact, but because the safety and security of the United States and its nationals and possessions in the Pacific are imperiled by the rulers of Japan.

"We offer this as an addendum to Secretary Stimson's statement of the historic policy of the United States regarding China, envisaged both as a state organism in the process of adjusting itself to an altered environment and as the object of military aggrandizement on the part of Japan or other predatory powers."

STEAL DOZEN GUNS AT SHOP.

A band of men smashed a window in the New York Loan bank, a pawn shop at 549 South State street, and escaped with a dozen shotguns and rifles early yesterday.

NAVAL STRENGTH OF BIG THREE

BLACK SHIPS SHOW TONNAGE OF NAVIES AT THE PRESENT TIME. WHITE SHIPS SHOW TONNAGE OF NAVIES AS ALLOWED BY TREATY.

Senator Hale's bill authorizing the construction of warships sufficient to build the United States navy up to treaty limits has passed the naval affairs committee and proponents predict passage in the senate. The chart demonstrates the present status of the navies of the three leading naval powers in comparison with treaty limitations.

RUSSIA CHARGES JAPAN IS BEHIND PLOT TO HURT HER

Asks Explanation of Manchurian Acts.

BULLETIN.

TOKIO, Feb. 27.—(Saturday.)—(AP)—A foreign office spokesman said today that instead of encouraging the activities of "White" Russians in Manchuria, the Japanese command there regarded those activities as a nuisance.

MOSCOW, Feb. 26.—(AP)—The world was informed today that Russia has charged Japan with supporting and protecting "white" Russian activities in Manchuria and has demanded an explanation of what is going on in that far eastern province.

L. M. KARAKHAN. [Assoc. Press Photo.]

These blunt and official representations followed close on the heels of a Tass [soviet] news agency dispatch from Peiping that Japan was sponsoring a "white" Russian force in northern Manchuria—a force which planned to invade Vladivostok and the Russian province of Primor.

Four Points Brought Up.

All this was topped off with publication in Moscow of a speech by Gen. Blucher, far eastern chief of the soviet army, which he wound up with the words of Joseph Stalin, Russia's strong man, thus:

"We do not want an inch of foreign land, but we will not give up a single inch of ours."

The soviet's official representations, it was revealed today, were made on Wednesday by L. M. Karakhan, soviet acting commissar for foreign affairs, and were given verbally to the Japanese ambassador here, Koki Hirota.

They were contained in four points: An explanation of the proposal of the Japanese command at Harbin, Manchuria, for trains to transport troops "on the pretext of defending Japanese citizens when in reality the troops were expected to be sent to the soviet border"; an explanation of the charge that "white" Russian activities in Manchuria were being carried on "under the protection and with the direct support of the Japanese"; an explanation of the action of the Japanese military authorities at Harbin in proposing a contract with the Chinese Eastern railway, partly Russian owned, to transport regular troops at a reduction of 50 per cent of the regular cost; and for informatio nabout the character of the newly formed Manchurian government.

The Japanese ambassador promised to refer the inquiries to Tokio.

Recruit "White" Russian Guards.

MUKDEN, Manchuria, Feb. 26.—(AP)—A group of 150 "white" Russians have been recruited here as train guards for the Fengtien-Shanhaikwan railway, which was formerly the northern half of the Peiping-Mukden railway in which British capital is interested. The road is now operated under the northeastern communications committee. A subordinate body of the provincial government of Tsang Hsih-yi. The Chinese director of the railway explained that the guards were needed to ward off bandits

WETS HOLD LONG LEAD ON LITERARY DIGEST'S POLL ON DRY REPEAL

New York, Feb. 26.—[Special.]—The wets continue to hold a commanding lead in the Literary Digest's national prohibtion poll. Although the drys made a slight gain during the last week, the advocates of prohibition repeal still hold 80.72 per cent of the votes cast to date, according to the Digest's second report, which will appear in tomorrow's issue of that magazine.

The incomplete returns from nine states not previously heard from increased the dry percentage from 15.85 to 19.28 per cent, but much of this percentage gain for the dry forces can be attributed to the returns from West Virginia, which show that of 3,332 votes representing that state, only 2,134 were wet votes.

The votes tabulated since the first report totaled slightly more than 450,000, making a grand total of 775,332 votes cast since the Literary Digest mailed the first of the 20,000,000 ballots. Of the votes tabulated to date, 149,526 favor continuance, while 625,806 favor repeal of the prohibition amendment.

North Carolina continues to lead as the dryest state reported, with a percentage of 42.21 for continuance.

AMERICAN WOMEN AID WOUNDED IN SHANGHAI WARDS

Many of Victims Boys of 14 to 15.

SHANGHAI, Feb. 26.—(AP)—American women are willingly aiding in this emergency which has filled Shanghai's hospitals with wounded soldiers, many of them mere boys.

Mrs. O. J. Bryant of San Francisco and Mrs. Roscoe Hambleton of Long Beach, Cal., are on active duty at the Chinese General Red Cross hospital, where there also are four American physicians, Dr. Athria Mowreath, a Fort Worth, Tex. woman; Dr. J. R. B. Branch of Loudon county, Va.; Dr. Love Ranking, Swetwater, Tenn., and Dr. R. S. Lyman, Hartford, Conn.

They are putting in long hours without complaint, for the wounded stream into the wards day and night. They see war at its worst, for only the most serious cases are brought to their hospital. The others are treated at field dressing stations.

The victims are appallingly young, some of them not more than fourteen or fifteen—boys who never will see again, children who have lost legs and arms, others frightfully wounded about the face.

Many cases are hopeless, but the nurses do what they can to make the last hours as comfortable as possible.

Today 350 were brought in, nearly all of them victims of Japanese bombing raids.

DON'T LAND JAP ARMY NEAR US! POWERS REQUEST

Also Ask Warships Moved from Settlement.

[Copyright: 1932: By the Associated Press.]

TOKIO, Feb. 26.—Four great powers called on the Japanese government today to avoid landing any further forces in the international settlement at Shanghai and to move Japanese warships out of the Whangpoo river off the Shanghai settlement.

The requests were in the form of memoranda and, avoiding the larger issues, were presented by the ambassadors of the United States, Great Britain, France, and Italy. They were not protests officially.

Although the memoranda were not identical, it was understood that they all expressed appreciation for the efforts of the Japanese command to keep the fighting zone outside the settlement and hoped it would continue to do so.

Ask Warships Moved.

The request asked that if Japan sent any more troops to Shanghai that she disembark them outside the settlement and suggested that if the warships were moved from the Whangpoo they would not attract Chinese shells, which might fall inside the settlement.

Each ambassador called separately on the foreign office and presented his memorandum. It was understood that the four powers had had consultations before the memoranda were framed and that the American ambassador acted on instructions from Washington as a result of the consultation.

Opinion in Japan on Secretary of State Stimson's letter of a few days ago reaffirming the American stand for the open door continued thus far to be hostile generally. The newspaper Asahi editorially asserted today that "not by doubting Japan's motives but by coöperating with her will America enable Japan to stand on her own feet." The newspaper Jiji said the Stimson letter was harmful and that there was no question of an economic blockade.

Vote $7,000,000 for Conflict.

An extraordinary appropriation of 22,000,000 yen [$7,040,000 at the present rate] was approved by the Japanese cabinet today to meet additional military expenses in connection with the expedition to Shanghai. The army received 20,000,000 yen and the navy 2,000,000 yen.

This was the second special appropriation made for the Shanghai expedition. A total of 34,000,000 yen was authorized on Feb. 9, bringing the authorization to date to 56,000,000 yen, or nearly $19,000,000. The money is expected to be raised by a domestic bond issue.

The appropriation authorized today required the consent of the privy council, but this was believed to have been assured.

Besides these appropriations for the Shanghai expeditions an appropriation of 42,000,000 yen was voted for the Manchurian campaign some time ago, which, in addition to the appropriations this month, brings the total to approximately $31,500,000 at the current exchange rate, or $49,000,000 at par.

U. S. CAN'T PROVE ABLIN HAD BAR; GETS ONLY FINE

Half a dozen government witnesses, testifying in the federal court yesterday before Judge John P. Barnes, were unable to prove that the Epicure club at 19 East Cedar street had a bar or other evidence that drinks were sold there.

In view of the evidence, Judge Barnes ruled that David (Cockeye Mulligan) Ablin and three co-defendants were not guilty of maintaining a nuisance, but fined them $500 each on charges of possessing liquor. Three witnesses, all policemen, declared they had found fifteen quarts of Scotch whisky in the place.

The district attorney said he had no information other than that tendered by the police.

SURVEY SHOWS NO TAIL LIGHTS ON MANY AUTOS

BY HAL FOUST.

"Our police department must have gone blind from bad moonshine," read a letter addressed to the Voice of Traffic of THE SUNDAY TRIBUNE. "The streets and boulevards are crowded with automobiles without tail lights. They're responsible for many of our accidents. Yet none of these dangerous cars is ever stopped by a copper."

So THE TRIBUNE'S road car was dispatched on one of its periodical surveys of local traffic conditions. In Michigan avenue, taxicabs and private automobiles were found in numbers with no tail lights or with a faint, ineffective flicker over dirty rear licenses. The cars cruised past policemen who gave them no notice.

Police Join in Chase.

Swinging east to the outer drive, THE TRIBUNE car was passed by a machine with no rear light, traveling fast and with a 1931 license plate. It looked like a prospect to report in a news story of improperly lighted automobiles. THE TRIBUNE car spurted forward to catch the number.

There was a roar of a motorcycle coming up from the rear. A south park policeman had joined the chase. THE TRIBUNE driver caught the number of the leading machine, 849-101, and lifted his foot from the accelerator. The motorcyle ran ahead.

Did the copper pursue 849-101? No. He wrote out an arrest slip for THE TRIBUNE driver on a charge of speeding. In a pleasant and business like manner the policeman issued a summons to appear in court on Monday.

Asked About Lightless Cars.

As the policeman was scribbling in his book, cars were spinning by with one headlight or with no tail light.

"Do you ever stop any of those machines?" he was asked.

"Sometimes, but they all swear that their lights were in perfect condition only a few minutes before."

During the evening these 1931 licenses on cars without tail lights were noted from THE TRIBUNE car in South Michigan avenue and in Grant park:

Cars With 1932 Plates.

The following 1932 licenses were also noted last night on cars without tail lights driving in South Michigan avenue or in Grant Park: 304-319 [Checker cab], 599-677, 546-596, 387-953, 395-748, 37-295, 315-066, 302-224 [Yellow cab], and 90-795. The secretary of state has not published the names of the 1932 license holders.

The absence of tail lights is not peculiar to the south park boulevards. On Thursday night, these 1931 numbers were noted on cars without rear lights driving on Washington and Warren boulevards, 970-363, issued to John Cassella, 60 East 18th street; 1-061-265, issued to Samuel M. Benson, 3554 Flournoy street; 702-717, issued to Albert Feldstein, 1506 South Sawyer avenue; 778-765, issued to D. M. Blish, Allerton house; 315-909, issued to Andrew J. Flood, 5516 Lexington street; 1-325-384, issued to Dominic Esposito, 1036 Polk street; and 920-224, issued to E. F. Bohne, 4834 West Adams street.

In North Michigan avenue and Lake Shore drive, the following unlighted rear 1931 license plates were reported: 1-330-132, issued to Charles E. Herrmeyer, 1885 Kenicott court, Des Plaines; 811-550, issued to Ethel Gerlich, 405 South Main street, Mount Prospect; 419-966, issued to Peerless Engraving and Colortype company, 233 West Erie street; 624-174, issued to Fred Barry, 2032 Dewey avenue, Evanston; 1-371-630, issued to H. C. Delzell, 1213 Sunnyside avenue; 1-113-206, issued to Walter S. Weiss, 547 South Dearborn street, and 348,329, issued to Frank Herodes, 2142 Barry avenue.

SEEK TO LIMIT CONTEMPT CASE POWER OF COURT

Washington, D. C., Feb. 26.—[Special.]—An amendment designed to protect newspapers which criticize the actions of a federal judge was added in the senate today to the Norris bill to limit the power of federal courts to issue injunctions in labor disputes.

SENATOR NORRIS. [TRIBUNE Photo.]

Introduced by Senator G. W. Norris [radical Rep., Neb.], the amendment provides that any person charged with indirect contempt of a federal court shall have the right to a trial by jury.

Another clause in the bill provides that the defendant in a contempt arising from an attack upon the character or conduct of a judge shall have a right to a change of venue.

With the debate on the bill proceeding into its fourth day, a majority of the senate showed a decided tendency in favor of the measure. Restrictive amendments proposed by Senator Hebert [Rep., R. I.] were successively defeated. The more limited "declaration of policy" which Senator Hebert sought to substitute for that in the Norris bill was turned down, 18 to 47.

The less inclusive list of cases in which federal courts should have no power to issue labor injunctions, proposed by the Rhode Island senator, failed of approval by a vote of 16 to 53.

At the senate's present rate a final vote will not come until next Monday or Tuesday.

BRUENING TURNS BACK FOES FOUR TIMES IN A DAY

Wins Confidence Votes; Hitler Made Citizen.

BY SIGRID SCHULTZ.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

BERLIN, Feb. 26.—The reichstag today unanimously accepted March 13 at the date for the presidential election and April 10 for the second ballot, if necessary, as proposed by Chancellor Bruening's government.

By a margin of twenty-five votes the reichstag rejected the motions of nonconfidence submitted by the communists, National Socialists [Fascists], Nationalists and German People's party against the chancellor. Thus the Bruening government consolidated its position at least until election day.

Hitler's Plans Spoiled.

The Fascist camp is in an uproar. At 5 o'clock this afternoon their leader, Adolf Hitler, was scheduled to be made a German citizen by the minister to Berlin of the state of Brunswick. The Austrian born candidate for president requested the minister to hold the ceremony in his luxurious hotel suite. The minister replied that such a demonstration is incompatible with the dignity of the state of Brunswick and its 500,000 inhabitants.

Hitler was forced to rush to the Brunswick state legation to collect the certificate of citizenship himself. But what upset the dyed-in-the-wool Fascisti still more was that the Brunswick minister made their idol, Hitler, swear to uphold the republic. He took this oath:

"I swear my loyalty to the constitution of the reich and state, obedience to its laws and with a conscientious fulfillment of my duties as an official."

Reds Put One Over.

This oath was taken in spite of the fact that the Fascist leader is the man who organized the powerful Fascist party which swore to abolish the present republican system as "the curse of Germany."

After the Fascists had left the reichstag, calling it a "monkey circus," and went to quaff beer in honor of Hitler's new citizenship, the communists put one over on their hated enemies. They introduced a motion stopping payment of police subsidies by the German reich to the state of Brunswick for "plotting against the republic with the Nazis." The motion was adopted by a majority vote of 70.

The communists also put through a motion compelling the minister of defense and interior, Wilhelm Groener, to cancel the decree readmitting the National Socialists into the reichswehr. The reichstag rejected another communist motion for stopping payments of reparations, tributes and foreign debts. Then it adjourned sine die.

Celebrate Hitler's Citizenship.

Germany's Fascisti tonight celebrated Hitler's naturalization. The city of Coburg made Hitler an honorary resident and flags waved from all the official buildings of the city.

In Darmstadt, capital of the state of Hessen, the Nazis obtained a majority in the diet on a motion for the "expropriation and redistribution of fortunes acquired since 1914, especially those of bankers," and on another motion for state administration of all banks. The diet instructed the Hessen government to take the necessary steps to induce the German federal government to prepare legislation to enforce the expropriation as demanded in the motion.

BANK KEEPS DOOR SHUT; BAFFLED BANDITS FLEE

After bandits had robbed the Hillside State bank, at Butterfield and Wolf roads, of $10,000 in four holdups over a 16 month period, officials decided to adopt speakeasy methods of protection against unwelcome visitors. Yesterday a band of five men, armed with revolvers and shotguns, were balked in their attempt to rob the institution and fled.

The new system of protection was inaugurated by the bank last December. As one precaution the front door is kept locked at all times. The cashier, William Heidorn, admits persons to the bank when he knows them or they show the proper credentials.

When four of the bandits climbed out of their car yesterday and appeared at the door of the bank, they found it locked. One of the bandits broke in the glass of the door with the stock of his shotgun, and saw Heidorn running back into the bank, where he picked up a revolver. The bandits jumped into their car and sped out of Hillside.

MEAT MARKET OWNER ROBBED.

Two youthful bandits, armed with revolvers, forced Peter Fottner to hand over $148 from the cash register in his meat market at 4354 Fullerton avenue yesterday.

CORD ANSWERS FLYERS' CHARGES IN WAGE DISPUTE

Pilots Appeal to Aldermen for Help.

BY HUGH SEXTON.

E. L. Cord, president of the Cord corporation, which controls Century Air Lines, made his first reply yesterday to the published statements of the 22 pilots discharged by the air line on Feb. 9. He charged the pilots with conducting "an organized attempt to misinform the public and retard progress of the aviation industry."

E. L. CORD.

Mr. Cord's statement, made in Washington, was given out by L. B. Manning, vice president of the air lines. He denied that pilots employed by the air lines are underpaid, and branded as "false, destructive, and unpatriotic" statements to that effect made by the 22 discharged pilots and officers of the Air Line Pilots' association, an affiliate of the American Federation of Labor, to which the discharged pilots belonged.

Cord's Reply to Pilots.

"Economic conditions must of necessity largely govern what an air line can do, the same as what any line of business can do," Mr. Cord said. "All business has found it necessary to make readjustments and to cut costs in order to meet present conditions. We have found this policy necessary in the conduct of Century Air Lines if aviation is to be built on a sound basis."

Mr. Cord also declared that under the new wage scale the pilots will be able to earn from a minimum of $240 a month to a maximum of $378 a month, dependent upon weather conditions, and that the average would be about $300 a month.

"Century pilots are not underpaid and they are not incompetent," Mr. Cord said. "Century Air Lines were started in March, 1931, despite the depression. We felt then, and do now, that what America needs is capital put to work in business and not donations to the unemployment fund.

"Jobs Created for Many."

"By starting Century, jobs were created not only for pilots, but for many more ground employés, for men in motor factories, for workers in airplane factories, and for multitudinous other workers in various lines of business that supply materials necessary for the building of motors and planes and the maintenance of an air line.

"As to Century pilots being incompetent, the truth is that the United States department of commerce has the entire responsibility for determining the competency of transport pilots working for all air lines. This department personally inspects every pilot.

"Century pilots have an average of over 3,200 flying hours, or more than 16 times the flying experience required by the United States government."

The 22 discharged pilots formerly received a salary of $350 a month, with $25 raises every six months, he explained. The method of pay was changed from a flat salary to an hourly pay of $3 an hour for daylight flying and $5 an hour for night flying. The flying schedules would bring the pilots' salaries to an average that would be very close to the former flat salaries, Mr. Cord said.

TAMMANY HALL "REACHING OUT," WARNS SEABURY

Cincinnati, O., Feb. 26—[Special.]—Warning people of the United States that Tammany Hall is "reaching out" to extend its influence to the nation, Samuel Seabury, counsel of the Hofstadter legislative committee, pleaded in a speech here tonight for country-wide support of his present attack on the New York City administration.

In this connection he said:

"Intoxicated with the absolute power which it exerts in the City of New York and the great influence which it exerts in the state, it [Tammany Hall] now reaches out to extend its power and use its influence in support of some candidate who will be friendly to it, if, indeed, he does not openly wear the stripes of the tiger."

In later repetition of excerpts from his address Mr. Seabury added to the word "candidate" the phrase, "even for the presidency of the United States."

He spoke at a dinner of the Cincinnati charter committee.

Gov. Roosevelt Entered in Nebraska Primaries

Lincoln, Neb., Feb. 26.—(AP)—The name of Franklin D. Roosevelt for President will appear on the Democratic primary election ballot in Nebraska. Petitions for Roosevelt were filed at the capitol late today by Arthur Mullen Jr. of Omaha. Deputy Secretary of State G. B. Thomas said there were easily 100 for each of the five congressional districts, as required. No acceptance from the candidate is necessary to put the name on the ballot.

POLICE SOLUTION OF ROBBERIES SETS A RECORD

Efficiency Has Tripled Since November.

With four days' work on crimes yet to be recorded, the police have cleaned up 138 more robberies and seven more burglaries so far in February than during the entire month of January, according to a report to Commissioner Allman yesterday by the division of criminal information and statistics.

Compared with crime figures for last November the police efficiency record is even more marked, the report points out. During the twenty-five days of this month solutions of robberies have tripled and solutions of burglaries doubled compared with November figures. And in the same period robberies decreased by approximately 500 and burglaries by more than 400. These figures were used by Commissioner Allman as the basis of his statement that the police "are doing better than holding their own against crime."

Four Months' Crime Figures.

The statistics for November, December, January and the first 25 days of February showing the number of burglaries and robberies solved by the police and the number of arrests for each crime are as follows:

	Burglaries.		Robberies.
Mo.	Arrests.	Solved.	Arrests.	Solved.
Nov.	125	151	187	189
Dec.	154	39	215	50
Jan.	143	374	205	451
Feb.	115	381	136	580

	Nov.	Dec.	Jan.	Feb.
Burglaries	2,001	2,366	2,309	1,586

While the number of arrests was considered uniform by the commissioner, the number of crime solutions during December fell off considerably.

Men on Special Details.

The explanation made for this variance by police officials was that the additional details required during the holiday shopping season withdrew a number of men from the work of solving these crimes. It was also explained that through one arrest a large number of robberies may be solved.

2 Royal Air Force Pilots Die as Planes Crash Over Ocean

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

GIBRALTAR, Feb. 26.—Two naval seaplanes attached to the British aircraft carrier Courageous collied in midair during exercises yesterday between Malta and Gibraltar and were hurtled into the sea. The pilots, Lieutenant Commander H. H. Ditton and Flying Officer H. S. Collins of the royal air force, were killed.

MAIN CANDIDATES ALL DENY THEY'LL QUIT RACE TODAY

Withdrawal Date Finds Foes in Battle.

BY PARKE BROWN.

Emphatic denials from everybody mentioned were the reply to numerour reports yesterday that this, that, or the other major candidate for state office was on the verge of withdrawing.

This is the last day for withdrawals at Springfield and nearly every one in the various headquarters, particularly those of the Republican entrants, heard a rumor or two that somebody in the opposition was about to quit. Such tales were less frequent in the Democratic camps, but there also gossip was busy.

During the day there were reports at various times that each one of the important aspirants for the Republican nomination for governnor had determined to step aside in favor of some one else, but each in turn denied he was wavering.

Brundage Opening Fight.

"I've just begun to fight," said Edward J. Brundage, the most recent entrant on the Republican side for governor. "We are having a reception from 1 to 3 in our Hotel La Salle headquarters tomorrow that probably will open some people's eyes."

Attorney General Carlstrom said once more that he is in the race to the finish and that he feels confident he is in the lead. Chicago headquarters for Omer N. Custer spiked the report concerning him by giving out his itinerary for a downstate tour opening on Monday at Watseka and Danville and winding up at Maulon and Carbondale on Saturday.

William H. Malone, former chairman of the state tax commission, said emphatically he had no thought of withdrawing. And one of the rumors that Len Small had determined, because of his health, to step aside was met by the former governor's own statement that he never felt better in his life.

Sheriff Tiffany for Brundage.

"Lake county will go for Brundage because it knows him and knows that he is the best qualified man in the race," he said.

Sheriff Tiffany also indorsed State's Attorney A. V. Smith of Lake county for renomination.

Judge Michael Feinberg issued a statement replying to the charge by State's Attorney Swanson that he is using his judicial office to promote his own candidacy for the prosecutorship.

"This hearing before me now is an investigation, not a controversy," he said. "I am not called upon to decide in favor of one litigant against another and violate none of the ethical canons of my office. The state's attorney is becoming picayunish in his criticism. It is a smoke screen to hide the more serious charges I have made against him."

DELAY DATE FOR BUILDING CUT; UNIONS BALK

The new schedule of basic wage rates in the building industry, providing a 20 per cent reduction on all labor costs, will not become effective until March 11. The new one year contract was scheduled to go into effect March 1 when it was signed two weeks ago.

Announcement of the postponement was made by the joint arbitration boards of the Chicago Building Construction Employers' association and the Chicago Building Trades council. The delay was blamed on the fact that several of the joint arbitration boards of the individual unions have not yet approved the agreement.

It was learned yesterday that approximately 14 unions, comprising practically all of the basic trades, have either signed the agreement or have ratified the terms. Only two of the basic trades are holding out.

The electricians, under the leadership of Michael J. Boyle, business agent, have in effect rejected the agreement. As a substitute they have proposed a 10 per cent reduction on new construction and a 25 per cent reduction on remodelling and repair. The plumbers have done likewise. It was understood that the rank and file of both organizations, the majority of whom are unemployed, have signified their willingness to accept the cut, but must follow the leadership of their business agents.

Leaders in the construction field yesterday stated that the action of the two unions is acting as a hindrance to the resumption of building.

CHINESE HELD FOR MURDER.

A coroner's jury yesterday held Moy King Home, 19 years old, 2300 Wentworth avenue, to the grand jury on the charge of murdering Jung Hoey, another Chinese, who was stabbed to death Feb. 7 in his laundry at 3422 West North avenue.

Persistent coughs and colds lead to serious trouble. You can stop them now with Creomulsion, an emulsified creosote that is pleasant to take. Creomulsion is a new medical discovery with two-fold action; it soothes and heals the inflamed membranes and inhibits germ growth.

Of all known drugs, creosote is recognized by high medical authorities as one of the greatest healing agencies for persistent coughs and colds and other forms of throat troubles. Creomulsion contains, in addition to creosote, other healing elements which soothe and heal the infected membranes and stop the irritation and inflammation, while the creosote goes on to the stomach, is absorbed into the blood, attacks the seat of the trouble and checks the growth of the germs.

Creomulsion is guaranteed satisfaction in the treatment of persistent coughs and colds, bronchial asthma, bronchitis and other forms of respiratory diseases and is excellent for building up the system after colds or flu. Money refunded if any cough or cold, no matter of how long standing, is not relieved after taking according to directions. Ask your druggist.

WILLIAM H. BLACKBURN.

William Howell Blackburn, 20 years old, 150 North Taylor avenue, Oak Park, formerly a student at Purdue university, was arrested by the Oak Park police yesterday. It is alleged that he shot and seriously injured Russell Gardner, an Indiana state road commissioner, in the outskirts of Indianapolis on Jan. 28.

Gardner picked up a pedestrian at La Fayette, Ind. When he reached Indianapolis he told his passenger that was as far as he was going. According to his story, the hitchhiker then drew a pistol, shot him, tossed him from the car and drove away. Gardner was struck in the head and has since been paralyzed.

Suspicion was directed at Blackburn, who left Purdue on the same date. It was said that his description answered that given by Gardner. Following the youth's arrest yesterday Fred Beachtold, a telephone lineman, who saw the flight of Gardner's assailant, went to the Oak Park station and identified Blackburn. The latter's extradition will be requested.

Blackburn, who is the son of Ross M. Blackburn, branch manager for the Buda company, railway supply concern, denied shooting Gardner or being with him.

321 JOBS LOPPED OFF LOS ANGELES CITY PAY ROLLS

Los Angeles, Cal., Feb. 26.—[Special.]—The Los Angeles council today cut 321 jobs off the city pay roll. The city attorney was instructed to draft amendments to the various departmental salary ordinances eliminating this many positions.

One of the jobs abolished is that of the Rev. Martin Luther Thomas, investigator for the city prosecutor on direct appointment of Mayor John C. Porter, who may object to signing the ordinance, it was said. The Rev. Mr. Thomas formerly occupied a Chicago north shore pastorate. The job slashing is expected to save the city $240,569 for the remainder of the fiscal year. Departments have been put on record to save another $232,649 in abolishing overheads, and savings on equipment. The council also has before it, with every prospect of favorable action, an ordinance providing a five day week for city employés, with salary reductions of from 2 to 10 per cent. The city now faces a deficit of $650,000, but expects to balance its budget by July 1.

There have been persistent reports that Miss Dolly will be married to Irving Netcher, Chicago merchant, whose brother, Townsend, is the husband of Constance Talmadge.

Aldermen Visit Tunnels to Get Franchise Facts

About 35 aldermen, members of the committees on local transportation and gas, oil, and electricity, made a two hour inspection trip yesterday through the bores of the Chicago Tunnel company which run beneath loop streets. The inspection was preliminary to discussion of a franchise ordinance for the tunnel company to replace the old grant which expired in 1929.

HOOVER LED U. S. INTO WORST PANIC GARNER CHARGES

Hurley Accuses Raskob of Slandering President

Washington, D. C., Feb. 26.—[Special.]—President Hoover was the target for Democratic broadsides today as Republican and Democratic spokesmen exchanged compliments in the political arena.

Speaker John Garner [Dem., Tex.], got in the first shot, saying "since he has been President Mr. Hoover has led the nation into the greatest panic the country or the world has ever known." Not satisfied with this charge, the Texas Democratic presidential posibility followed it up with the accusation that President Hoover allowed his assistant secretaries to run around the country making political speeches at government expense.

A few moments later Secretary of War Patrick J. Hurley charged that John J. Raskob, charman of the Democratic national committee, and his associates had been engaged in a campaign of slander and misrepresentation against the President.

Accuses Raskob of Slander.

His remarks had no connection with those of Speaker Garner, but were promoted by Mr. Raskob's statement last night to the effect that he had "good information that President Hoover will run on a prohibition referendum platform if his party should adopt such a platform.

"Mr. Raskob," the fiery cabinet member said today, "is in a position to speak much more accurately of the amount of money that he and his associates have spent slandering and misrepresenting the President of the United States than he is as to the President's views on the eighteenth amendment.

"It appears a little far fetched for the chairman of the Democratic national committee to attempt to interpret the views of the President on the subject."

Speaker Garner made the "panic" comment during a conference with newspaper men when his attention was directed to a speech made by Assistant Secretary of the Navy Ernest Lee Jahncke at Wooster, O., last night in which he said President Hoover's leadership had made the Democrats "just a little bit dizzy."

Raps Plea for New Posts.

The speaker then took a crack at President Hoover's recent special message on reorganization in the federal departments in which he had asked for authority to appoint four new assistants.

"Instead of the President trying to create new assistant secretaries," the speaker added, "I suggest he keep his present ones here at work. Then he might not need any additional ones.

"If the President has four more assistant secretaries running around the country and making political speeches there would be little of the government's business, and the business they are getting paid to perform, done."

Today's outburst marked the third time in recent days that Speaker Garner has attacked the administration policies. It also marked the third brush between Secretary Hurley and Democratic leaders.

HOOVER SEEKING CHANGE IN LAWS ON BANKRUPTCY

For Simpler Criminal Procedure, Too.

Washington, D. C., Feb. 26.—[Special.]—President Hoover announced today that he will send a special message to congress this coming week urging legislative reform of the bankruptcy laws and changes in the federal court procedure for criminal cases. According to an announcement by the President, millions of dollars would be saved and Criminal court justice expedited through adoption of his proposed recommendations.

Discussing the bankruptcy law situation, Mr. Hoover said that surveys had disclosed that the number of bankruptcy cases increased steadily from 23,000 in 1921 to 65,000 last year. During that same period, he said, losses to creditors jumped from 144 millions to 740 millions. The President added that the existing bankruptcy act has proved defective and unfair to both creditors and bankrupts.

Bankruptcy Act Defective.

"Two years ago," said the President, "I directed that a searching investigation be undertaken in the matter of bankruptcy laws by the department of justice and the department of commerce; that investigation has been completed. The departments have had the able cooperation of different private bodies.

"The present bankruptcy act proved, in this investigation, to be defective and to hold out inducements for waste of assets and to permit exploitation and disregard frights of creditors and many injustices to bankrupts themselves.

Criminal Procedure Changes.

"In the matter of criminal procedure in federal courts, the investigations by the department of justice, the law enforcement commission, and different bar associations agree on recommendations of certain reforms in the matter of permitting accused persons to waive indictment by grand juries if they wish to plead guilty; to overcome technicalities in the constitution of grand juries; to simplify the procedure of the district courts and appeals in criminal cases to the higher courts—the object of all these reforms being to expedite criminal trials and appeals and thus add a deterrent to crime by diminishing technicalities of which convicted persons can take advantage to produce long delays."

'THREE FINGERED JACK' WHITE FREE ON $40,000 BOND

William ("Three Fingered Jack") White, who has been in the county jail since October, 1930, following his second trial for the murder of Policeman Edward Pflaume, was freed in bonds of $40,000 yesterday. The bonds were set at a hearing before Chief Justice Harry Fisher of the Criminal court.

A jury found White guilty of the slaying and he was sentenced to fourteen years in the penitentiary. The Supreme court reversed and remanded the case for a new trial.

Assistant State's Attorney Harry Ditchburne protested against the bond on the grounds that the state was preparing a petition for a rehearing before the Supreme court, which will be filed soon. The motion for bond was granted, however, and it was immediately posted by the Public Indemnity company, bonding house investigated recently by Judge John Prystalski.

Policeman Pflaume, who lived in Forest Park, was shot and killed on Dec. 13, 1925.

Convicted $100,000 Gem Thief Jumps His Bail Bond

Ernest Levy, alleged leader of the gang responsible for the theft of jewels valued at $100,000 from the home of Lawrence J. Stern, wealthy resident of Glencoe, failed to appear yesterday in Judge James J. Kelly's Criminal court when his motion for a new trial was scheduled to be decided. His bond was forfeited. Max Levy, 35, brother of Ernest, and David Blumenfeld, co-defendants in the case, were in court. Judge Kelly overruled the new trial motions and sentenced the men to terms of one to ten years each in the penitentiary.

SLACKING THE TAXES.

Men representing the Chicago Real Estate board and what is known as the Association of Real Estate Taxpayers heard Judge Jarecki's request that they pay at least half of their real estate taxes and refused to act on it. It was said that the real estate board was not advising the owners not to pay, but that it would not advise them to do so. Judge Jarecki, having held the 1928 and '29 assessments to be void because of the escape of personal property, had undertaken as a citizen to plead for a rule of reason.

N. W. MacChesney was one of the representatives of the board. Mr. MacChesney is frequently ranked as Gen. MacChesney. His autobiography in "Who's Who," which is two inches longer than Herbert Hoover's, reveals that he was judge advocate, G. H. Q., A. E. F. in France, and was made "brig. gen., N. G. 'for long and distinguished services'"; also that he was "thanked by France, Eng., Belgium, Italy, and by U. S. Com. on Pub. Information and Ill. State Council of Defense. Presented with commemorative saber; recommended for D. S. M. Awarded citation by Gen. Pershing 'for exceptionally meritorious and conspicuous services.'"

These, of course, are pleasant memories, and many a combat soldier has fewer. They will endure into advanced years and give a glitter to the commemorative saber over the fireplace. Mr. MacChesney has had the breaks, most of them offered by his native city, which is now in desperate financial condition. Its school teachers might envy Belgian refugees.

While efforts are being made to bring some of the tax consumers to honesty and sanity, efforts are also being made to promote the payment of taxes which are beyond dispute. Citizens well favored by their city might be expected to aid this and, if not receiving in reward the thanks of France and Eng., have the consciousness of receiving the thanks of Chicago.

Real property owners began their protests with a recognized case. Under the influence of self-centered interests and racketeers they have not improved it as they advanced. The position of a landlord whose rents have disappeared or the position of a home owner pressed on all sides is within general understanding and sympathy. There is, however, no justification for a refusal to pay any taxes, for the decision not to meet emergencies on any reasonable basis. This is not defense against unreasonable taxation, but dodging of valid responsibilities which must be borne by others.

Real estate owners taking the uncompromising course are not good citizens. They are, moreover, gambling with numerous uncertainties which may have unpleasant consequences. An inequitable personal property tax is one of them. They themselves are probably not exempt from its destructive exactions. They are gambling with the title to their property. They are permitting charges to accumulate, and there is no theory of final state incompetence to collect. And—an injustice, no doubt—the landlord is not regarded in normal times as the chief philanthropist in the community. A reasonable course would preserve the case of the real estate owner. Unfair and unreasonable procedure may destroy it. The renter is not without political power.

JAPAN'S MORAL INEPTITUDE.

Japan needs a battery of American advertising copy writers under the direction of an English undersecretary for foreign affairs. The latter would know exactly how a point of national interest is to be concealed in a moral issue and the former would know how to put that moral issue on the market. The Japanese undertaking to imitate occidental methods are pathetic. It is not believable that their statesmanship deliberately uses the sardonic note in every communication addressed either to the opinion of the world or the government of other nations. And yet every attempt to put the veneer of moral necessity upon imperial realism gives the occidental peoples either a shock or a laugh.

Japan's position is not so surrounded by invincible bayonets that it can indulge itself in the luxury of mocking the rest of the world, but its ineptitude in the use of moralistic philosophy is such that mockery is the only resultant. A shrewd occidental, preferably a trained Englishman, might make a murdered Japanese priest cover the millions of dollars of boycotted Japanese goods rotting at the Shanghai wharfs and the Japanese army divisions which are being pushed out over the rice fields to sell these goods.

There could be a brown man's burden if Japan knew how to get under it, but to date there is only a white man's burden. Great Britain is sad eyed under it in India now, where there are none but moral arrests and moral lathi whacking. The modern conqueror must have a humanitarian glint in his eyes. Japan smells of nothing nearer the odor of roses than gunpowder, and the lily in its hands is all too apparently only a bayonet.

A WORD TO BANKERS.

The creation of the Reconstruction Finance corporation, the liberalizing of the reserve banks' credit restrictions and now the campaign against hoarding are directed toward a single objective. They are all intended primarily to increase the ability of the banks to make loans, though to be sure certain other incidental objectives are also in view.

Plainly, the banks are now better able to advance credit than they have been heretofore. But it remains to be seen if bankers are also more willing to make advances than they were. If their ability is not matched by their willingness not much will have been accomplished.

All the enthusiasm which accompanied the enactment of the new legislation was premised on the assumption that loans would now be made more freely. If the enthusiasm has tended to wane of late it has been because signs were lacking of any aggressive grasping of their new opportunity by bankers.

The time has come for the bankers to loosen up. That is not to say that they should take extravagant risks, but if they cannot see their way now to making fairly conservative loans to well established businesses, with long records of probity and good business judgment, it is difficult to see how the new legislation will be of much benefit.

If Banker Jones will not give credit to the X Y Z company for the normal conduct of its business, the X Y Z company will not be encouraged to buy and will be prevented, as well, from extending credit to potential customers. It was to break that chain of stagnation, without unduly imperiling the solvency of the Jones bank and the safety of its deposits, that the new legislation was put forward. Little good will come of the legislation if it results merely in broader investment by the banks in government securities. The amounts the government borrows and spends can never restore employment and purchasing power. Any improvement in present conditions must result from increased activity in private enterprise. If the bankers fail to grasp the opportunity which is now theirs they will be justly blamed for the consequences.

ORGANIZED CLAMOR.

Mr. Fess of Ohio says he doesn't read the bushels of propagandist mail he receives. We can't blame him, though we do not think a letter from Mrs. Sabin, president of the Women's Organization for Prohibition Reform, classifies with form letters sent out at the behest of lobbyists. Also we doubt that Mr. Fess would have consigned an official communication from the Rev. Scott McBride or the Rev. Clarence True Wilson unread to his waste basket. The dry régime which Mr. Fess champions was largely floated on a tide of propaganda letters, which represented, to borrow Mr. Fess' words, "no intelligent thought on the part of the sender" and was "nothing but an effort of manufactured clamor."

However, waiving the matter of Mr. Fess' consistency, we should be glad to indorse his attitude toward the method of bullying weak-kneed legislators employed regularly by the well financed managers of the minorities which have imposed their devices upon congress and the public. A flood of such letters and telegrams let loose upon Washington has often defeated well considered legislation or passed ill considered without any real sanction from general opinion. It has helped to build up an enormous bureaucracy and an enormous public expenditure. It has weakened and confused public policies in internal and foreign affairs. It has taken the control of policy out of the keeping of unorganized and uninformed majorities and put it in the keeping of organized and well financed minorities. In short, as public opinion it is a fraud and in many if not most cases makes a farce of representative government.

Any citizen who has a conviction of his own upon any proposed legislation is justified in informing his representatives of that conviction. When he has so little opinion that he resorts to a form letter it belongs in the waste basket. It does not represent a public opinion that ought to govern legislation or influence any self-respecting legislator.

PROHIBITION IN ILLINOIS POLITICS.

If Gov. Emmerson could have kept his hands off the act of the legislature repealing the state prohibition law it might now be said that the state was undisturbed by the issue in its internal administrative and legislative affairs. The question would be pertinent to its election of members of congress, but the state would otherwise be shet of the thing. The people in referendum and the legislature in session had disposed of the question by repealing the law, but Mr. Emmerson felt called upon to veto these decisions. Consequently the problem is in Illinois politics still. It is still a test by which the qualifications of candidates are assayed.

Illinois, in which a majority both of the people voting and of their representatives in general assembly had declared against prohibition, remains a dry state. Even if federal prohibition were modified or repealed, Illinois is prohibition. Its law does not represent the wishes or the convictions of its people, but a dry governor kept it on the statute books. Of course prohibition is now tied up in the election of another governor. Any candidate trying to wish it out of the campaign is politically dishonest.

Editorial of the Day

CHICAGO AGAIN COLLECTING TAXES.

[Illinois State Journal.]

Chicago, we are told, is now engaged in collecting taxes for the current year. Getting the money, it seems, was a mere matter of sending out the bills. The much-talked-of strike was not a real suspension. No one had blown the whistle, and taxpayers were in the dark; as to what was expected of them. Now that they are receiving their statements, they are responding.

The response does not apply to taxes of previous years, where payment has been refused on the ground that the assessments are illegal. Payment of these taxes must, of course, await the determination of pending litigation, but there are indications that the city will "muddle through." Somehow we are persuaded that it will be unnecessary for Burgomaster Cermak to drown the school teachers to save them from starving.

Members of the legislature have been violently condemned for going into recess before working out a scheme for Chicago's relief. The first effect of the legislative holiday has been to hurry up current tax collections. If the legislators stay off the job another month or two, Chicago may find and apply its own remedy.

A LINE O' TYPE OR TWO

How to the Line, let the quips fall where they may.

GOOD MORNING! Have you received a letter today saying you were shy in your remittance to good old Uncle Sam on your 1930 income tax? Washington sent out 25,000 of those things yesterday. But we've got to open that mail box and O, gosh, how we dread it!

MR. RASKOB announces that Mr. Hoover will run on a wet plank. But we doubt that Mr. Hoover will ask Mr. Raskob to write the rest of his platform.

AND FURTHER, saith Mr. Raskob, the drys will be most indignant at Mr. Hoover's dry plank and will brand him "a Judas and will vote for the devil before they vote for him." Well, if the devil runs for the presidency he ought to get a big business vote, for everybody says that it's gone to hell.

THE NEWS THAT A SPECIAL GUARD is to be placed over Mr. Alphonse Capone in the Cook county jail is almost a shock. Not that Mr. Capone is to have a special guard but that he still is abiding in our county jail. Away back in the middle of last October, as we recall it, Mr. Capone was sentenced to the government penitentiary away out in Leavenworth, Kas. And yet he is still with us. Perhaps the only way to get Mr. Capone into a federal jail is for the government to build one here in Chicago. Building a federal penitentiary especially for Mr. Capone seems a trifle expensive, but if he just won't leave Chicago there seems no other way.

ENCOUNTER.

If you had known your careless thrust
Could cause such agony,
I think you would have sheathed your sword
The day you spoke with me.
You meant no harm—how could you know
Of old wounds still unhealed
When smiling eyes and silly words
Were all that I revealed?

If I had come with saddened mien
And drooped this high-flung head,
Would you have stayed to comfort me
And bound the wounds that bled?
Oh, had I worn no scarlet gown
Nor told those futile lies,
Would you have stopped to bring again
Old laughter to my eyes?

LOOKING AT THE PICTURES of the snipers the Japs take prisoners and very probably stand up in front of a firing squad we would say that a sniper from a Japanese standpoint was a Chinese found in possession of a gun, toothbrush, razor, teapot, fan, newspaper, fountain pen or three cigarets. Or if he hasn't anything in his possession that proves he's guilty, he must have had a gun and chucked it away. To the wall!

IT BEING A DULL DAY yesterday the news sheets carried a cable message from London saying the favorite dish of the prince of Wales during the w. k. depression was tripe and onions. This may be a clever bit of propaganda to draw American tourists back. They get so tired of mutton, mutton, mutton when they're journeying around England—mutton for breakfast, luncheon, tea and dinner—that the lure of tripe and onions will be quite enticing. Mutton! Baa!

"SOCIETY MATRON WEDS Rum Runner Manager of Her Estate."—The Trib. Now, this is really a most excellent idea and is bound to become quite general. Any one who has seen a society matron reduced to tears just before a formal dinner because the stuff hadn't arrived for the cocktails can realize how comforting it must be to a hostess if her husband is a rum runner and is able to deliver the goods at any time. Perkins, make the next batch just a little stronger!

DR. BORIS SOKOLOFF gives the gals some leap year advice to the effect they can marry any man in the great wide world they happen to fancy by repeating often enough to him these words: "You are so wonderful!" Investigation has shown there were only five exceptions to this rule. In the case of the exceptions the lady said to the gent: "Oh, you great, big, strong man!" With these two committed to memory and diligently rehearsed a few times—honest, girlie, you can't lose.

AUTOGRAPH.

You ask me to write in your birthday book
The time and the place of my borning;
But which of my birthdays shall I choose
And which of them be scorning?

Is only the date for a journey
Through gates that are opened for entrances
In another jousting journey.

Which forever I have trod;
I cannot calendar my age,
For I am as old as God.

SOME RULES FOR FRACTURES.

THE committee on fractures of the American College of Surgeons gives us the following advice as to treatment:

A person with a fracture should not move or be moved until the fractured part has been splinted. The jagged ends of the broken bones are liable to cut and tear arteries, veins, nerves, and muscles if the fracture is unsupported and if the bones are not held rigid.

Even after proper splinting the injured member should be handled gently. When possible, traction should be applied to the fracture with the first aid dressing. This is often, but not always, possible. When it cannot be applied with this first aid dressing the delay should be as brief as possible.

In the examination of a part for a fracture, the grating together of the fractured bones should be done as sparingly as possible. While feel and sound are of first class help in proving that there is a fracture, it does considerable harm to the soft parts.

Whenever possible, X-rays should be used to diagnose the fracture, and also to prove that the bones are in position when the fracture is set. Fractures of bony prominences and breaks close to joints are not easily located except by X-rays and fluoroscope.

Just what is the best method of putting up a particular fracture is for the physician to determine in each case. The committee report gives a preferred method for treating a fracture in each part of each bone. This preferred method is to be regarded as the rule, but each case is to be thought of as a possible exception. The physician must exercise judgment based on experience in adapting the treatment to each case.

The permanent dressings should be put on without delay. It is a mistake to leave the fracture loosely held in a fracture box until the swelling has gone down. The quicker the bones are splinted and extension is applied the better, assuming the case to be one in which extension is called for. If the dressings are put on tightly enough to hold the bones perfectly rigid, the compression in the soft parts will be too rigid. If they are loose enough to be thoroughly agreeable to the soft parts the bone will not be held rigid enough. The physician must exercise good judgment in choosing a middle path.

Whenever a plaster cast is put on to encircle a limb it should be cut longitudinally into two halves or parts.

The object of treatment is to get a useful part. Good repair is only a way station on the route to the ultimate aim. It must be regarded as the prime consideration.

Fractured bones and near-by joints must not be kept immobile until muscles have atrophied beyond repair and joints have become stiff.

As soon as possible, gentle stroking of the soft parts should be done. Later on, massage and passive motion must be carried out. These exercises should not cause pain. Heat and light, locally applied, help to repair the soft parts. As soon as possible there must be some use of the injured parts.

WINTER ITCH.

R. O. S. writes: Apropos of letter by G. F. recently regarding winter itch, I had this trouble for several years, exactly in the form described by him. After consulting four prominent physicians in town with very little satisfaction I read a formula which called for two-thirds lime water and one-third glycerin. This acted as a complete cure and as a preventive if used at the first recurrence of the disease. I have used this formula for the last five years with complete satisfaction.

GOOD REST AS A CURE.

Mrs. L. S. writes: My left eye has been shivering on me for the last 10 months. What should I do for it?

REPLY.

You have a slight tremor in your eyelid. This is not important. You are tired. A thorough rest should cure you. Maybe it is a case of fatigue of the eyes.

GRAY HAIR AT 14.

G. D. writes: I am a girl, 14 years old, in good health. I have many gray hairs. What causes this?

REPLY.

Probably one or both of your parents "grayed early." Gray hair, a good complexion, and youthful features make a beautiful combination. About a hundred and fifty years ago the mighty powdered their hair in an effort to produce what seemingly nature has blessed you with.

NO PARTICULAR HARM.

Mrs. X. writes: Is peroxide harmful to the hair or scalp?

REPLY.

Not particularly. It is a little wearing on the fiber of the hair, but not enough to do any particular harm when used as infrequently as is done in blondining the hair.

STREET CAR EXTENSION.

Chicago, Feb. 12.—[Friend of the People.]—When are the 22d street cars going to run to the lake, if ever? We were told by the street car company and all those who sponsored the construction of the outer drive that the lake would be made accessible to the people. E. L.

The traction settlement ordinance was passed by the Chicago city council May 19, 1930, and was approved by the people on July, 1930. Exhibit "B" sets forth extensions, additions and improvements to be constructed, reconstructed or acquired by the company during the ten year initial construction period. In it is shown an extension in East Roosevelt road and in Burnham Park, from South Wabash to Soldiers' field. An extension is also provided in East 18th street and in Burnham Park, from Indiana to Soldiers' field; including track connection with East Roosevelt road line. On East 22d the schedule provides for an extension from Indiana to the Illinois Central right of way. No eastward extension is provided for 26th street. Although this ordinance was approved by the voters it has not yet become effective, because of litigation now pending in the Supreme court of Illinois over the financial structure of the Chicago Local Transportation company which is to operate the combined transportation facilities. Another reason for delay has been the failure of the railroads having terminal facilities on the south side to agree upon a plan for the south side railway terminals. Because of the failure to agree, existing terminals presenting physical obstacles to the local transportation extensions you wish have not been removed. It has, therefore, been impractical to construct these extensions, although other extensions provided in exhibit "B" have been made, where no such obstacles existed. If further information is desired, it is suggested that inquiries be directed to the Chicago Surface lines.

CAN PROCEED ANY TIME.

Chicago, Feb. 21.—[Legal Friend of the People.]—My brother and his wife separated eight years ago, neither securing a divorce. They have two children who are with the wife. I have tried to locate my brother without success. I do not know if he is dead or alive and have no way of finding out. I am told by his wife that she has warrants out for his arrest for nonsupport, secured five years ago. Are these warrants still in force now in case he should happen to come back or are they outlawed? T. B.

She could bring proceedings against him at any time.

FROM THE TRIBUNE'S COLUMNS

CHINA-JAPAN WAR, 1894

SHANGHAI, Aug. 11.—The following telegram has been received from Cheefoo: "A Japanese fleet attacked a Chinese fleet this morning off the harbor of Wei-Hai-Wei, where the Chinese have a fort said to be impregnable. The Japanese troops were repulsed at one entrance to the harbor and they are now attacking the other entrance."

LONDON, Aug. 11.—The Shanghai correspondent of the Times telegraphs that 12,000 troops from Feusan and 3,000 from Yun Son are marching towards Seoul, the capital of Corea. Another Shanghai dispatch says that the Japanese expelled the Corean operators from all the telegraph offices in southern Corea and have placed their own operators in charge. It is estimated that China will have 60,000 troops in Corea by the end of September.

SAN FRANCISCO, Aug. 11.—A Vladivostok telegram announces that preparations are being made for the dispatch to Corea of three regiments of infantry, a corps of engineers, and seven warships. The queen of Corea has appealed to the Russian minister for Russian protection in case of emergency and the ministry has consented to furnish it.

LONDON, Aug. 10.—A dispatch to the Pall Mall Gazette in Shanghai says Capt. Galsworthy and Chief Officer Templin of the sunken transport Kow Ching have arrived at Shanghai. They report that five British subjects who were on board the transport when it was sunk by a Japanese torpedo are missing.

SHANGHAI, Aug. 11.—A dispatch from Chee Foo says the Japanese attacked Port Arthur yesterday and were repulsed. Another dispatch says the Pei Yang fleet is engaged with a Japanese fleet and that a stubborn battle is being fought. Twenty-one ships are taking part in the battle. In the attack by the Japanese fleet on the Chinese fleet at Wei-Hai-Wei, a Chee Foo dispatch says, the Japanese were forced to retreat.

16 YEARS AGO TODAY

FEBRUARY 27, 1916.

LONDON.—The French succeeded in stopping, at least temporarily, the terrific German drive against Verdun, according to tonight's official report of the Paris war office. At several points the troops of the republic regained some of the ground lost, the report claims. Fighting is still in progress with terrific losses on both sides. Around Fort Douaumont, at Champneuville, and on La Cote du Poivre, infantry and artillery are engaged in a combat of great intensity. The wording of the Paris statement leaves in doubt the fate of Fort Douaumont, the outpost for miles northeast of Verdun. The Berlin official statement reported that the Germans stormed and captured the fort yesterday.

PETROGRAD.—The Russians captured by storm Kermanshah, an important Persian city. It is also reported that the Turks are in precipitous flight through Armenia, and the capture at Erzerum of 13,000 Moslems and much loot.

VIENNA.—The Austrian vanguard has entered Durazzo, capital of Albania. The Italian war report admits that its troops have been withdrawn.

CHICAGO.—Chicago's first and oldest families were interested in the wedding of Miss Roxanna Pomeroy, daughter of Mrs. Christian King Pomeroy, 26 East Huron street, to John Edgar Freeman, son of the Rev. and Mrs. John Newton Freeman, which was celebrated at the Fourth Presbyterian church.

28 YEARS AGO TODAY

FEBRUARY 27, 1904.

SHANGHAI.—The Russian retreat from and the Japanese invasion of the Liaotung peninsula has commenced. Dalny, 50 miles north of Port Arthur, is being evacuated. Russia has only five months' supplies at Port Arthur. The authorities declare they mean to defend Port Arthur and that Russia will fall back with the rest of her troops from Dalny to the Yalu, and, if pressed, will go even to Harbin and fight for two years. A large number of Japanese transports have returned to Nagasaki, where they are engaged in embarking more troops for the vicinity of Dalny. A still larger embarkation is proceeding from Ujina, near Hiroshima.

LONDON.—Estimates based on Shanghai dispatches are that already an army of about 150,000 Japanese soldiers has been borne to its destination, or, rather, destinations, for it is evident that transports have not all shaped the same course.

ST. PETERSBURG.—Gen. Kouropatkin may not go to the eastern front until 40,000 Russian troops are in the far east. At present there are 130,000 troops there. Anger at the United States still moves Russian newspapers to continue their attacks on Secretary Hay and America.

CHICAGO.—Charles R. Crane of Chicago has given a sum of money to the "young empress fund" for Russian soldiers and sailors. This information came in a cablegram from St. Petersburg in which the amount of the contribution was said to be $10,000. At his home, 2559 Michigan avenue, Mr. Crane admitted having forwarded a donation to the Russian relief fund, but declined to state the amount or to discuss it.

NOT A CALAMITY.

Chicago, Feb. 23.—A simple adjustment would be to have a 1 per cent tax on all property, both real and personal, with a constitutional guarantee that it would never exceed this rate in order to eliminate the fear of confiscation. The 1928 assessment could be used as a basis for real estate; if that is too high, cut it 25 per cent, which would only take a few minutes. Valuation inequality could still be ironed out by the board of review. With the fear out of the law the personal property owners would be more than glad to give an honest schedule and pay their just share of the taxes.

If teeth are to be inserted into this tax the teeth should be just as long in the disbursement as in the collection. The mismanagement of public funds should be classed as an embezzlement and mismanagers should be punished accordingly.

The finance committee could do a sensible thing. All they would have to do is cut the budget in half and let the chips fall where they may.

Closing of the schools is not as great a catastrophe or calamity as the average person thinks. It would be a great thing to close the schools to Oct. 15. Having the kids around the house until then would probably make the average non-tax paying citizen political minded enough so that he would become acquainted with his precinct captain, his ward committeemen, his alderman, and state legislative representatives. This might result in a few lynchings, but I believe that would be nifty.

ARNOLD K. MARKS.

THE POSTOFFICE CONTRACT.

Downers Grove, Ill., Feb. 22.—Well, I see where Uncle Sam gets another trimming (and not from the ex-service man) in our new postoffice building. First, they make a mistake and purchase a piece of property for four or five millions and then find out they don't want it, and now have a contract which will not protect us with the new building mechanics' scale going into effect March 1.

If this is Hoover's business administration, we surely need a change.

Our politicians have too much leeway or such things could not happen; they don't seem to happen with private enterprises. After reading the trial of the sanitary district members, it certainly makes an ex-service man think. A service man for $1 a day sleeps and eats the best he can. During the time of war he can be court-martialed and shot for sleeping on post; no excuse goes, such as being exhausted, lack of sleep, sick from poor food, or anything else.

Possibly the mistakes connected with the postoffice are not crooked, but what can we expect after the oil scandals, sanitary district, etc., etc.? If things such as these could be classed as treason (which they really are), and would be punished by death, the same as in wartime, we would hear much less of such things from men who are supposed to look after our welfare. L. H. COLBY.

THE FACTS.

Bennett, Ia., Feb. 16.—Your Washington, D. C., correspondent never was as good as he has been the last fall and winter. He is a wonder in giving the people the facts as they exist at this time. J. H. PHELPS.

GLOOM.

Cedar Falls, Ia., Feb. 23.—Your Arthur Sears Henning should get a job with an undertaker. He is the best crêpe hanger I know of. C. A. BEMLER.

HOODLUMS AND HOARDING.

Maywood, Ill., Feb. 13.—I have read with interest Mr. Leech's letter in this morning's TRIBUNE in which he says that the repeal of prohibition will cure hoarding in this country. It certainly will. It will not only take the old man's money out of his sock, but will take the sock as well, along with the nickels and dimes in the baby's bank behind the clock; also the baby's shoes and his bottle of milk. Mr. Leech's logic is fantastic. R. J. HUFFMAN.

MRS. DE STROSS' WARDROBE.

Chicago, Feb. 23.—Why is it that Mrs. De Stross continues to keep her hat on during the disaster at sea and has a different outfit on ever so often? Does she carry her wardrobe with her? If so, where does she keep it? I had expected to see Bimbo come out attired in his dress suit most any minute.

LEN BARTON.

THE SNORER'S MIND.

Oak Park, Ill., Feb. 24.—When THE TRIBUNE first welcomed suggestions of remedies for snoring I thought there would follow a flood of efficient cures, but after careful perusal of your columns I have found none that really answers the purpose. I therefore wish to advise what I believe should be helpful in breaking this pernicious habit. Try this: Raise one side of the bed so that it slopes off at a sharp angle, or if the appearance of a bed so arranged be considered unsightly it can be made up crowned along the center and sloping off to either side. The mind of the sleeper will be directed towards keeping in bed and he will neglect to snore. Gradually the habit will be overcome, when the normal style of bed may be resumed.

A somewhat simpler method is to apply an ordinary mouth gag, which will compel nose breathing, thereby eliminating the snore. E. E. W.

BUILT IN.

Chicago, Feb. 23.—I would suggest to prospective builders to include in their plans of new apartments also a snoratorium, a soundproof chamber to be occupied by confirmed snorers, where they can hold their nocturnal concerts without interfering with the peace and happiness of others. THEODORE KOHN.

A POSITIVE CURE.

Elgin, Ill., Feb. 22.—I think I have the only true cure for snoring. It was given to me by a very dear friend. And here it is: "Sever the head from the body."

A SNORER.

A MAN OF WIDE ACQUAINTANCE.

Winnetka, Ill., Feb. 20.—You have some sort of an ass writing your headings and I thought you would like to know it. In today's TRIBUNE he says—it's in the cartoon—that the Chinese inscribed prayers on their umbrellas as a protection against the bullets of the foreign devils in the Boxer rebellion. This is absolutely false. The Boxer rebellion was one organized and carried on by rebellious Chinese—not foreign devils at all. I have spent years in Shanghai as a United States consular officer and know what I am telling you is true. I lived at Shanghai three years and know every stick and stone in the place and most of the people. L. B. RING.

NEWS OF A BANK SHORTAGE.

Racine, Wis., Feb. 19.—While we realize that a newspaper is prepared to present news items properly, we could not help but feel, in looking over this morning's edition, that the headline referring to the bank shortage at De Pere is rather uncalled for at a time like this. We appreciate, of course, that the news itself should be covered properly, but there is a question in our minds whether it is advisable to give news of this nature such prominent headlines at a time when usual efforts are being made to stabilize the banking situation of the country. C. S. ANDERSON.

INFLATION.

Oak Park, Ill., Feb. 13.—Inflation of the currency is one of the things that will not hurt the farmer at the present time while it will take a nick out of the wages of organized labor, whose pay in the past has been all out of proportion.

WILLIAM C. KELSEY.

MARCHING TOWARD WAR.

Chicago, Feb. 19.—Are we, the long suffering public, expected to sit back and forever hold our peace while our secretary of state, apparently following a policy not befitting his position, thrusts us into war? J. M. H.

DE VALERA 'AIRS' SCHEME TO KEEP HIM FROM POWER

Dublin Newspaper Charge Creates Sensation.

BY HUGH CURRAN.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

DUBLIN, Irish Free State, Feb. 26.—Somewhat of a sensation was created in Dublin today over the publication in the Irish Press, Eamon de Valera's newspaper, of a rumor that two retiring ministers with some members of President William T. Cosgrave's Cumann na Gaedheal had formed a secret society to prevent the transfer of the government to De Valera's victorious Fianna Fail. It adds that army pensioners are being urged to join because the new government is committed to a revision of army pensioners.

President Cosgrave was expressly exempted from complication in the alleged plot. President Cosgrave was interviewed today, following a long conference with Ministers Blythe, O'Sullivan, Mulcahy, Fitzgerald, and McGilligan.

Calls Report Untrue.

"The suggestion that any of the ministers are engaged in a movement to obstruct transfer of the government to Fianna Fail and have formed a secret organization among army pensioners for the purpose of doing so is grotesquely untrue," he said. "I find it difficult to find a motive prompting its publication. The article clearly is mischievous. Its origin can only be explained by a disordered imagination or a guilty conscience. The ministers and army pensioners have given the best years of their lives to the vindication of the right of Irish people to choose their government."

Ernest Blythe, vice president, and Gen. Richard Mulcahy, minister of local government, characterized the Irish Press' allegations as absolutely unfounded. They added that President Cosgrave had done considerable to reassure the public. Certain quarters believe that the story was fabricated to help the Fianna Fail in the Sligo and Leitrim county election next month.

Stand Is Modified.

Politicians state that the prevailing discontent naturally follows De Valera's statement of policy last week when he clearly indicated that only disability pensioners would be paid. Sean Lemass, De Valera's lieutenant, has since modified this stand and today he explained that no pensioners will be left destitute and that the reductions will take the form least harmful to the individual.

Husband Gets Writ for Bride Held by Mother

Circuit Judge Thomas J. Lynch issued a writ of habeas corpus yesterday directing that Mrs. Lillian Turek, 19 years old, 1306 South Kostner avenue, be produced in his court this morning. The writ was obtained by her husband, Charles, 4144 Roosevelt road. He charged that since their marriage Tuesday in Waukegan the bride's mother, Mrs. Clara Aronson, has imprisoned her daughter in her home and refused to let him see his bride.

STALIN REGIME IS TOTTERING, TROTZKY SAYS

[Copyright: 1932: By the Associated Press.]

PRINKIPO, Princes Island, Turkey, Feb. 26.—Leon Trotzky, in one of the few interviews he has granted since his exile from Russia, said today he believes Joseph Stalin's rule at Moscow is crumbling and the Trotzky principles are hastening the process.

That, he said, is the real reason why Stalin issued his recent decree perpetuating Trotzky's exile. His absence from Russia and the ban on his books have not, however, prevented the Russian people from awakening to the value of his principles, the exiled revolutionary leader declared.

"Stalin Is Tottering."

This interview was the most direct attack on Stalin he has made in any of his rare talks with press representatives.

"The personal situation of Stalin and his limited group is tottering precariously," the former bolshevist war lord said. "The Stalin faction decided during its last conference that I was directing 'the advance guard of bourgeois counter-revolution.'

"The economic and cultural successes of the soviet union have aroused considerably the self-confidence of the working class and at the same time its criticisms of the bureaucratic régime which Stalin personified.

Move Not Anti-Soviet.

"There is nothing anti-soviet in this movement; on the contrary, it is entirely impregnated with the traditions of the October revolution. But it is directed against the dictatorship of the Stalin faction."

That is why, Trotzky said, his principles are increasing their application in Russia despite the ban on his works.

"Many soviet citizens go abroad for economic, diplomatic, scientific, or other reasons," he said. "They read my books and carry back in their heads the so called 'Trotzky contraband.'"

Alaskan Island Volcano Shoots Flames 500 Ft. High

SEWARD, Alaska, Feb. 26.—(AP)—Mount Shishaldin on Unimak island was in full eruption late today, radio reports here said. Flames were shooting skyward 500 feet. Residents of the island, one of the largest in the Aleutian chain, were apprehensive and some have decided to leave. The volcano was in eruption Feb. 13.

Brazilian Officers Wreck Paper Plant for Criticism

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

MONTEVIDEO, Uruguay, Feb. 26.—A group of Brazilian army officers today were reported to have wrecked the offices of the Rio de Janeiro newspaper Diario Carioca in retaliation for the newspaper's criticism of the military government. They threatened to wreck other newspaper plants.

The Charming Cheat

By Clara Sharpe Hough

SYNOPSIS.

Ricardo Dane visits New York in search of his aunt, Miss Filomena Stanley, his mother's half-sister. Ricardo's mother had recently died and left him heir to the ranch and mountain land in Romeu valley, California, where he had spent most of his life. He intended to find his sole remaining near relative and bring her back to Romeu Valley. He had understood this to be his mother's dying wish. His aunt, an actress, had been out of favor with the family.

Ricardo locates a Filomena Stanley, but instead of an aged aunt he finds a beautiful young aunt. She is living in a Bohemian studio with a Follies girl, named Frances. Ricardo readily believes this lovely creature, who acknowledges the relationship. Ricardo showers her with gifts and moves her into a better apartment. He moves into the same building on another floor. Webster Sutton, a college friend of Ricardo's, visits New York. He and Eunice Greenway, a girl from home, who is studying in New York, are entertained by Ricardo and his aunt. Eunice is a friend of Ricardo's fiancée, Rachel Beatty. She heartily disapproves of Filomena. Web believes his friend is being trimmed and, before he leaves, tells him so. Ricardo learns that Web was right when Filomena is called home due to the illness of her father. After another search Ricardo finds his real aunt. She is acting in a Broadway play. Ricardo's plan is to have Filomena prepare to marry him and leave her waiting at the church, but, before he can carry it out, Rachel arrives in New York with her father, who has been called there on business. Rachel meets the real aunt. She doesn't fit in with the stories Rachel has heard. Ricardo evades telling her the truth, but confides in his aunt. Eunice takes Rachel to call on Filomena. Ricardo meets them in the lobby. They see Filomena leaving the building. That evening Ricardo brings his aunt to have dinner with Rachel and Mr. Beatty. Aunt Fil, unknown to Ricardo, invites Rachel for breakfast next day. She also asks Filomena. Ricardo pays a farewell visit to Filomena. Rachel and his aunt drop in on them.

INSTALLMENT XXX.

THE SHOWDOWN.

Ricardo stared at her. "You know everything?"

Rachel nodded. "We talked it all over yesterday. I know all about it. You must marry her, Dick." Her glance swept again toward Filomena, much more presentable now, her hair smoothed and one foot tucked under her.

"Yes, but what is it that you know?" he insisted. She thought, quite plainly, that she knew a good deal.

"I know all about you and her," she nodded again toward Filomena, "you can't do a thing like that. You can't get away with it. You must marry her. Now, I believe in freedom, of course, and——"

"I can't do a thing like what?" he repeated, stubbornly. He would make her say out what she had in mind.

Rachel made a gesture around the room. "Well, this is your apartment, isn't it? You bought the piano, just like Eunice said, and you even——"

"Not my apartment at all," disclaimed Ricardo, "Fil's. She and she alone is the occupant."

"Tell that to the cop on the corner," said his aunt. "Can't you get this, Dick? We know. Filomena has admitted it all."

He turned suddenly to Filomena. "What did you tell them?"

Filomena's eyes were downcast, her cheeks scarlet. "I told them—most everything," she admitted.

"Then she told you I took this place for her to live in?"

"Yes. That's what we've been trying to tell you."

"She didn't tell you that my own room's downstairs, did she?"

"Why quibble over that?" asked his aunt. "You may have eight or ten other rooms."

Ricardo lit a cigaret. This new angle of development was almost staggering. A glance at Filomena revealed her still flushed and (presumably) embarrassed.

"Dick," said Rachel earnestly, "please understand this, I can't marry you, knowing what I do."

"Dick," said Rachel earnestly, "please understand this. I can't marry you, knowing what I do. And it certainly seems to me it's up to you to be decent and marry Filomena, after—after all this. But I'm not going to be nasty about it. I'm not going to tell any one else. I shan't go home and broadcast anything about you."

"Good of you, I must say."

"Dick, please don't act like this. You must see how I feel. I'm not being Victorian or narrow. You have just as much right to your life as—as you want. She has, too. But it's just decency, as far as I can see. I should think you'd want to marry her——"

"This your father's idea?"

"Of course not. It's my own. We're going away. We're going to take that trip around the world. When I come back——"

"Rather have a trip round the world than a wedding trip, I suppose," said Ricardo.

"Just plain jealousy, after all," he said.

"You're being stubborn about it on purpose. All right, have it that way then. I won't marry any man who's been living with another woman!"

"And I tell you I haven't been living——"

"You needn't lie about it either. That makes it worse. It's bad enough, your being here the day before your wedding. I can't understand that. If it had all happened before and been done with——"

"I tell you it never happened at all! I know you don't believe me, but I'm not quite that kind of rotter. What on earth would I want with two women at once? My God, one is more than I want to handle!"

"Dick," said Rachel with deadly quietude, "Filomena told me. Can't you get that into your head?"

He glanced at Filomena. He realized suddenly that, whatever she had told them, it had not been misunderstood.

"You'll get yours, you little liar. You wait," said Ricardo.

"Now, Dick," said his aunt, "don't be a bully. Filomena told us the whole thing, but, after all, it was just as well to tell it as to have us find out. We would have, anyway. Do you think we can't put two and two together? And nobody's trying to make things harder for you; you know we aren't——"

"O, no; not at all. Just came over to make the afternoon cheery?"

"And as for Filomena," said Rachel, angry color burning in her cheeks, "as for Filomena—whatever you may think of her now, it's your doing. You've made her—whatever she is. You've got to marry her now."

"I haven't got to marry anybody!" he cried. "How do you get that way, all of you? If I marry her it's because I want to, not because you tell me to. You aren't telling me where I get off, Rachel Beatty. And neither are you," he turned to Aunt Filomena, "and, as for you——" He glowered at the bent gold head of Filomena.

Diversion was created now by Filomena, who had been silent for so long. She suddenly lifted her head from the concealing cushion and cried loudly.

"Hey, Fran!"

So instantly that there could be no shadow of doubt she had been standing at the crack of the door the whole time, Frances appeared.

"Hullo, folks," she said cheerfully, "what do you say, Fil?"

"Fran," said Filomena earnestly, "you know who these people are. You must have heard some of what they've said. She"—Rachel was indicated by a nod of the tousled gold head, "won't believe him. Maybe she'll believe you. You've got no ax to grind. She thinks he's a liar, Fran. Ever since I've had this apartment who's slept in there with me?"

"I have, of course," replied Frances promptly.

"It's perfectly true," said Filomena, turning to the others, "Fran and I've been roommates ever since I came to New York. When I fell into a piece of luck like this—this apartment—I couldn't leave her out of it. Dick didn't want to stay here. Don't ever think that for a minute. He never knew she stayed here. But she's been here from the very first!"

Ricardo looked from Frances back to Filomena. Truth was written on their faces. He glanced expectantly at the others.

"How about that night at the pajama party?" asked Rachel.

"You mean when he first came?" Frances was scornful. "We sent him to his hotel in a taxi, pickled to the ears. No. If it's an alibi for Fil's nights you're after, I'm certainly it. I'll swear it in any court you like."

"My dearest child," said Aunt Filomena suddenly, "do you mean to tell me that all the while yesterday you were acting? Why—it was wonderful!"

"I don't understand," said Rachel, "just why you did it. I don't—Dick, if I was mistaken, it wasn't my fault, you see. If she can explain why she——"

"No," cried Ricardo vehemently, "no, there's been enough explaining and talking here today. We've finished with it. All right, Ray. You said you were through. You are. Now you can get out."

"Dick, I want to explain," said Rachel, "I really want to tell you how it was, you see, she said——"

"You've told me enough," said Dick.

"Well, one thing I am going to say," began Rachel, raising her voice. She never said it. Ricardo reached her in two strides and firmly and very discourteously clapped one hand over her mouth. The other he slipped under her arm and assisted her swiftly toward the door.

"You—you brute," gasped Rachel, released before the open door, "you vile brute! I shall never speak to you again as long as——"

"That's something," said Ricardo grimly, turning to find his aunt close behind him, an expression of undisguised delight upon her face.

"I'll call you up in the morning, Filomena," she was saying over her shoulder, "if I can get the appointment. Dick, I'm going to get her an appointment with Al Sherwin. Why, Dick, her fortune'll be made if she can show him——"

"You're going to do no such thing," said Ricardo, "I have other plans."

Aunt Filomena looked even more pleased. "Bully for you, Dick," she said. "Didn't know you had it in you."

Trotzky Story of Revolution Is Vast Work

First of Five Volumes Is Published Today.

BY FANNY BUTCHER.

"The History of the Russian Revolution," by Leon Trotzky. [Simon & Schuster.] Published today.

THE first volume of the monumental history of the Russian revolution, which one of its early leaders, Leon Trotzky, has been writing during the last four years of his exile from his native land, is published today in a translation—an excellent one!—by Max Eastman. Mr. Eastman is equipped by his sympathies as well as his literary gifts to put Trotzky's powerful Russian into equally powerful English.

LEON TROTZKY.

Trotzky's records of the facts of the Russion revolution are not mere eyewitness reports. The task which he set himself was to write a history, not a volume of reminiscences. He proclaims, again and again, that the part of the historian is the statement of fact so far as such fact is available. In his preface he writes: "The circumstance that the author was a participant in the events does not free him from the obligation to base his exposition upon strictly verified documents. The author speaks of himself, in so far as that is demanded by the course of events, in the third person. And that is not a mere literary form: the subjective tone inevitable in autobiographies or memoirs, is not permissible in a work of history." His participation in the revolution, however, gave him a unique position from which to produce its history. Incidentally, for the first time in history has a political revolution been recorded thus by a man who played a dominant part in its making.

Volume I. bears the subtitle "The Overthrow of Tsarism" and it is "dedicated to the February revolution, shows how and why that revolution was bound to come to nothing. The second volume will show how the October revolution triumphed," the author says in his "conclusion."

After pointing out the peculiarities of Russia's development, Trotsky parallels the conditions in France before her revolution and the characters of Louis XVI. and Marie Antoinette with the state of things in Russia and the characters of the tsar and the tsarina. He finds the parallel striking.

Trotzky explains the "palace revolution" and its causes, the stupidity and ineffectiveness of the tsar and the frantic zeal for power and even greater stupidity of the tsarina, and shows why the mere overthrow of Rasputin was not enough to save the imperialistic state.

"If the agrarian problem as a heritage from the barbarism of the old Russian history had been solved by the bourgeoisie, if it could have been solved by them, the Russian proletariat could not possibly have come to power in 1917," he writes. "In order to realize the soviet state there was required a drawing together and mutual penetration of two factors belonging to completely different historic species: a peasant war—that is, a movement characteristic of the dawn of bourgeois development—and a proletarian insurrection, the movement signalizing its decline. That is the essence of 1917."

The actual revolution he describes in minute detail almost day by day. In answer to the question "Who led the February revolution?" he says that "we can answer definitely enough: conscious and tempered workers educated for the most part by the party of Lenin. But we must here immediately add: This leadership proved sufficient to guarantee the victory of the insurrection, but it was not adequate to transfer immediately into the hands of the proletarian vanguard the leadership of the revolution."

And later he says: "On the 3d of April Lenin arrived in Petrograd from abroad. Only from that moment does the bolshevik party begin to speak out loud and, what is more important, with its own voice."

"The History of the Russian Revolution" is a vast work—this first volume alone is over 500 large, closely printed pages. Experts may snipe at it. I merely offer it to you at its face value—a serious, minute, intense, but apparently judicial record set down in the language of a zealous if sometimes heavy historian. What country Trotzky now belongs to is a nice question. He is exiled on a Turkish island, not wanted in many European countries and debarred from the U. S. A. Just this last week he was deprived of his citizenship as a Russian "forever and ever" by the U. S. S. R.

Slavery Better Than Urban Life for Negro, He Says

"The Negro Family in Chicago," by E. Franklin Frazier [University of Chicago Press] gives a careful and statistical treatment of the Negro in Chicago, pointing out the social and economic distinctions in the zones. The author cites figures concerning occupations, marriages, divorce, race mixture, etc.

Mr. Frazier is inclined to believe that slavery generally was a better economic state for the Negro. It held them together in an economic unit, according to the author, while emancipation on the other hand disorganized family life and made of the Negro a homeless wanderer, drifting to the cities. The analysis of the effects of urbanization on the Negro race has human as well as sociological interests.

Modern Italy Is Subject for Miss Hamilton

British Praise Courage of Writer.

BY FRANK SWINNERTON.

LONDON, Feb. 26.—H. M. Tomlinson, whose one recent publication is a short essay in praise of the work of Norman Douglas [it is an excellent piece of writing on its own account, and whole hearted in its praise], has been busy in other directions. He is a gardener, with triumphs to his credit. How the triumphs were produced I will not say, but his friends are benefiting by his proud largesse. Nor is this the only pride of which Mr. Tomlinson gives signs in these days. He has recently become a grandfather for the first time; and his benevolence is rapidly becoming patriarchal in character.

H. M. TOMLINSON.

One of the most interesting among the new books will be Miss Cicely Hamilton's study of "Modern Italy." Miss Hamilton is not only a very practiced dramatist, novelist, and journalist, but a woman of great insight and courage. She has long been in the public eye, for she was one of the most active of speakers in favor of the suffrage for women. During the war she was in France, and under fire, with other British women; and since the war she has done more than one important piece of work. Her book, "Modern Germanies," was the result of quick, active observation of new currents in German life, based upon a comparison with vigorous former experience of that life. Whatever she does [though she may be wrong] is full of courage. She once debated with Hugh Walpole, and her subject was a comparison of the difficulty in writing a novel and writing a play.

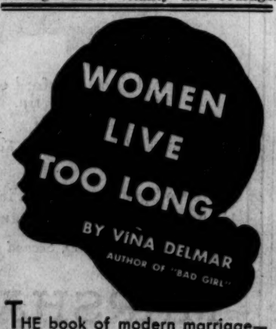

Miss Hamilton said it was easy to write a novel, but hard to write a play; Mr. Walpole that it was not as easy to write a novel as all that. A show of hands, unless I am mistaken, gave Mr. Walpole the victory; but Miss Hamilton did not mind. She proceeded to write some novels. She has had much theatrical experience, and acted in, among other notable plays, the first season of Bernard Shaw's "Fanny's First Play," when that piece was produced anonymously in London, and Mr. Shaw, attending the first night, laughed heartily at all the jokes.

I am pleased to learn that "Francis Iles," as to whose identity there has been some controversy, has written another thriller. "Mr. Iles" was the author of "Malice Aforethought," in which, you will remember, a doctor murdered his wife and escaped punishment, but was hanged for a crime of which he was innocent. This book had considerable success, because it was based upon a fresh notion, and was ingenious and bold. The new story has a similarly ingenious scheme, and opens with a wife's discovery of the fact that her husband is a murderer. The book is to be called "Before the Fact," and while it is often alleged that the crime story is now dead in England, it is clear that nothing is ever dead as long as new variations can be made in its formula. "Before the Fact" will be awaited with a calm confidence by those who are not unduly sated with tales of crime. And there will be a revival of controversy as to the identity of the author.

Frenchman Tells Plight of Germany After War

Pierre Vienot, a Frenchman, who has lived for six years in Germany, sympathetically examines the plight of that nation in a new book called "Is Germany Finished" [Macmillan]. The author studies the middle class crisis, the change in moral standards effected largely by the youth movement, and the effect of socialism on the doctrine of democracy. The Hitler movement, the author thinks, is an indication of the moral famine of a nation suddenly faced with the tragic breakdown of standards and institutions and forced to carry on temporarily through sheer vitality and courage.

Works as Salesgirl to Learn Locale for Writing

Ann Pinchot believes in the naturalistic approach to fiction as outlined and defined by Emile Zola. She worked for seven months as a salesgirl and a model in one of the largest and most luxurious shops in the world. She studied during this time the inside workings of a department store, the lives and troubles and tragedies and comedies of everyone in the store in the same way Viki Baum studied the inside workings of a hotel in Berlin before she wrote "Grand Hotel." The result of Miss Pinchot's conscientious "slicing of life" is "Shrine of Fair Women" [Long & Smith].

Two Mystery Experts Trick Their Readers

Rinehart and Christie Are Found Guilty.

BY MORTIMER QUICK.

DURING the last two weeks two ladies, hitherto trustworthy, the leading mystery writers of their sex in England and the U. S. A., have done us down. To be sure, both Mary Roberts Rinehart in "Miss Pinkerton" [Farrar & Rinehart] and Agatha Christie in "Peril at End House" [Dodd, Mead & Co.] have turned out their usual exciting stories that astonish you aptly in every chapter. But the end of each book leaves you a little too astonished for their own good. It is true that the armchair criminologist insists upon being baffled to the very end, but when the solution is more baffling than all that has gone before he is justly resentful.

We who seldom steal and almost never murder like to feel that there is a basic quality in the thief or murderer that makes him a possible suspect from the first beginnings of a story; that the light so gradually shed by an ingenious author reveals an inevitable criminal.

Miss Pinkerton, so nicknamed for her sleuthliness, is a trained nurse planted by the police in a nervous household where involved crimes seem bound to happen. Her special gift lies in confusing issues and between her and the author you certainly will be surprised upon discovering the guilty party. And kind of mad, too.

Agatha Christie in "Peril at End House" has played even less fair. The twist with which she concludes an absorbing series of events leaves you flat. Poirot is here, unusually cryptic, and his Watsonian friend, unusually dumb. There is a nice set of characters, a promising heroine and any number of crimes, consummated and unconsummated.

But in neither of these books is there any case for the offense. The solutions take you utterly by surprise not because you have missed bits of evidence and overlooked significant clews but because, it seems, Mrs. Rinehart and Mrs. Christie just made up their minds to fool you this time.

But perhaps I'm wrong. If entertainment is what you are after you'll find it here, and up to the end these are interesting books and maybe psychological development is out of place in a mystery story.

Babette Hughes doesn't think so and in "Murder in the Zoo" [Appleton] her amateur detective sets out to get his man with pure psychology as his weapon. He succeeds with great promptitude and little effort, displaying the while a smattering knowledge of French, German, behaviorism, cooking, bootlegging, and Chinese poetry. Do you like amateur detectives who quote the ancient Chinese poets? Neither do we.

To turn to man after this critical comment upon woman in detection, we come to "The Fire at Greycombe Farm" [Dodd-Mead], by John Rhode. Here is a smooth running story that covers every point and inevitably leads to a satisfactory conclusion. The eminent Dr. Priestley expounds his theories, but is never pompous nor tiresome. I think I like Dr. Priestley the best of all the super-detectors of the moment. He is remarkable, but not eccentric, and Mr. Rhode writes extremely interesting and skillful stories around him.

A curious book that is interesting from the technical point of view is "The Floating Admiral" [Crime Club]. It is built up of thirteen chapters, each written by a famous author of mystery stories. There was no agreement beforehand and each writer seeks to enmesh his distinguished successors in complications beyond his power to unravel. But nobody stumps anybody else and a very satisfactory conclusion is reached. There are two ways of reading the book—to turn after each chapter to the appendix which explains the solution each writer had in mind and which they were bound to submit with their installment or to read straight through and then study the appendix. It will interest you to see how the sets of clews emerge and the characters fall into place. It is also interesting to notice how distinctly each writer keeps to his own manner and material without destroying the unity and plausibility of the book as a whole. This is a really interesting and successful experiment.

If you want to learn how to murder and what clews not to leave about, turn to "Murder in Your Home" [Long-Smith], by Elizabeth Cobb and Margaret Case Morgan. This is a series of short plays, each embodying a first class murder. You act them and solve them on quiet winter evenings with your friends about you. The book has amusing illustrations and full directions for the very simple staging the plays require. Try it on your next house party or your more agile minded dinner guests.

Leonard Woolf Hits Mencken in Study of U. S. Democracy

Leonard Woolf, husband of Virginia Woolf, has written a study of the democratic mind, called "After the Deluge" [Harcourt Brace], in which he goes after H. L. Mencken for his false and "too facile triumph over democracy." He says that Mencken's arguments are old ones and unimportant ones, and reminds him that ". . . the sedulous investigations of the intelligence testers have proved the population of the United States consists largely of morons, outnumbering those born with the intelligence of a Mr. Mencken in the ratio of perhaps 500,000 to 1." He points out that the result is 500,000 morons to 1 Mencken.

Sees New War as One Way Back to Prosperity

Lawrence Dennis in "Is Capitalism Doomed?" [Harper's] comes to the conclusion that unless big business devises a means for a better distribution of purchasing power the whole capitalistic system will crack. Furthermore, he intimates that another war may have to be the means of restoring prosperity to the world unless a balance between labor and capital is established.

Holds History of Indian Lacks Facts of Origin

Book by Jennings Wise Both Good and Bad.

BY FAY COOPER COLE.

[Chairman of the Department of Anthropology, the University of Chicago.]

"The Red Man in the New World Drama," by Jennings C. Wise. [Roberts.]

A FAIR appraisal of this volume is exceedingly difficult for it is a strange combination of weird theories, historical materials of varying value and of sound investigation of Indian conditions.

To condemn the ready acceptance of unproved theories or questionable "history" is apt to be construed as criticism of a volume which, in the main, is a contribution to our knowledge of Indian affairs. Praise of its good qualities may be considered as accepting the volume as a whole—a thing no serious student could do.

The greater portion of the first one hundred pages and an appendix are given over to the origin of the Indians, the influence of Atlantis, and to the discoveries of the Norse and Welshmen. The author is inclined to accept the Asiatic origin of the Indians but believes that Mexico and Central America were settled and controlled by people of Atlantis before the submergence of that continent in 6000 B. C. He quotes with approval the belief of Le Plongeon that the pyramids of Yucatan were built 12,000 years ago, and cites Bacon, Donnelly and others to substantiate the claim "that modern research tends to support rather than break down an oft reiterated theory that in the dim ages of the past there was an intimate connection between the people of the old and the so-called new world."

With the war of the rebellion the author begins to pay more attention to facts. He traces the legal aspects of the transition of the Indian tribes from the status of crown vassals to that of political dependents of the United States. He follows the encroachments of the whites, the violation of treaties, the seizure of Indian lands and consequent disturbances. The creation of the Indian territory seems to promise a partial solution of the problem, but the land rush to the west and the discovery of oil in the territory lead to further despoliation of the Indian. According to the record of the United States land office up to 1880, nearly one billion acres of Indian land had been sold by the government for $233,000,000, but the Indians had been paid less than $9,000,000 of this amount. Yet this is but part of a shameful record.

Fame Lingers DespiteChange in Prairie Ave.

Few Retain Mansions of Former Era.

BY RUTH DE YOUNG.

The ghost of a purple roofed house
That ever held repose.

AS I paused in yesterday's twilight to gaze up at the turreted Prairie avenue mansion that used to be Marshall Field's, I remembered these lines written by Bodenheim, one of Chicago's own poets. They seemed to express so completely the glorious grandeurs that were—the vivid contrasts that are Prairie avenue.

It was my desire to learn how many of the city's first families still hold the great houses they erected shortly after the fire of 1871 that took me to the "near" south side. There are a few, a very few, I discovered, who are living on in the old ballrooms, the broad verandas and the great chambers with all the associated memories. The rest are gone and roomers, chickens and ducks, and "light housekeeping" signs have come to take their place. It is remarkable, say several historians, that Prairie avenue held its own even until after the turn of the century, hemmed in as it was by railroad tracks on the east and an encroaching business district on the west.

Debut Is Prairie Avenue Reunion

Pretty Martha Lee, who now resides in the east, might never have made a Chicago debut a few years ago had her grandparents, the John J. Glessners, given up their handsome granite residence at the southwest corner of Prairie avenue and 18th street. Famed alike for its architectural significance and its historical hospitality, it has been given, you may recall, as the future home of the American Institute of Architects. In making this free will gift in 1924, however, Mr. Glessner reserved the right to continue using the house for his residence as long as he desires.

The house was designed by the late Henry H. Richardson, a distinguished Boston architect who died just three weeks after completing it. Since so many of Mr. Richardson's "jobs" have been destroyed, like the Franklin MacVeagh house on Lake Shore drive, architects are glad that this, in many ways one of the most original examples of his work, is to be preserved. "For all its granite," remarked Mrs. Glessner at the time of Miss Lee's debut, "this house is ever so elastic, making it always possible for us to squeeze in another two or three."

There has been no larger reunion of Prairie avenue friends in the last two decades, perhaps, than came for that debut party.

Gregory Home Noted Residence

Nor can this historic street be mentioned today without a thought of Mrs. Robert B. Gregory, who lives on in the gray wooden house her father, William Gold Hibbard, presented to her as a wedding present in 1880. Reports in the papers of that day told of the ceremony in the Grace Episcopal church and the reception at the Hibbard home on Prairie avenue, after which "the newly married couple went to their own new home across the street."

Mrs. Gregory has always been active in the city's social life and is remembered particularly well as one of the early presidents of the Fortnightly club. She has already produced one short book of reminiscences of early Chicago days and now, we hear, is thinking about a second.

Almost directly across the street from the Gregory house is the great home of Mrs. Philo Adams Otis, where she continues to live with her son, J. Sanford Otis. With its red brick trimmed in Bedford stone, a heavy iron fence surrounding extensive lawns and gardens, and a carriage house that must have contained four or five victorias in the '90s, the hostelry spells all that Prairie avenue was. On down the street at No. 1905 is the shuttered Field mansion to which Mrs. Marshall Field returns for about a week every year.

Some Continue to Live There

Follow down the avenue past 22d street and the houses still occupied by the Edwin L. Lobdells and Mrs. John E. Jenkins and the roll of Prairie avenue families who have "remained" is complete. "Furnished rooms for light housekeeping" proclaims the destiny of the house that Philip D. Armour once occupied at 2115, and a great pile of stones is all that remains of the Pullman mansion at 18th street, once famous for "its picture gallery and palm house, magnificent conservatory, and private park."

Chickens and ducks run wild in the premises of the J. B. Sherman house, and vacant lots replace the old homes of Eugene S. Pike and Silas B. Cobb. Then, too, a number of the historic mansions have fallen into the hands of publishers for offices—a fortunate fate, perhaps, as in the case of the old Arthur Meeker house at No. 1815, since it has been allowed to remain almost as it was a half century back.

Wellesley Freshmen Now Lead in Smoking Rights

Wellesley, Mass., Feb. 26.—(AP)—The younger girls of Wellesley college held a trump on their older sisters today. Gentlemen may now smoke in the living rooms of the freshman houses while visiting immediately after dinner. And, of course, the girls may do likewise, which is something the upper class members may not do.

Public proclamation of the new arrangement was made in the student paper which announced the decision of the student senate.

Up to today freshmen could not smoke in their houses. Upper class women may only smoke in the alumni building and no other place on the campus. Agitation has been under way to permit smoking in the dormitories of the upper class women, and the upper class members are going to meet within a few days and discuss this matter.

Styles for Day or Evening

Novelty knit weaves continue to be the smartest fabric for dresses to wear for spring. Adrienne Dore wears, in this picture, a dress of yellow open weave, trimmed with shades of brown and green. The sports types hat is also brown.

This classic evening gown of extreme simplicity is worn by Lil Dagover. It clings softly but snugly to the figure and has a very unusual outline at the bodicetop. A long floating scarf twisted casually about the neck accentuates the slenderness of the wearer.

Walking

Mrs. Lloyd A. Laflin wears a smart, comfortable coat of brown lapin for early morning strolls down Lake Shore drive. The Laflins have a house on Mayflower road in Lake Forest, but are spending the winter in an apartment at 1120 Lake Shore drive.

Simple Treatment Will Add Luster to Extremely Dry Hair

BY ANTOINETTE DONNELLY.

I've just seen a satisfactory result from a simple hair treatment I'd like to pass on. The young woman is another of those dry haired victims from which the sex at the moment seems, from reports made to me here, to be largely constituted. Sometimes I wonder whether the reason for these many, many dry haired reports is the fact that women are becoming more aware of the beauty of glossy hair, or whether living conditions, worrying conditions, working conditions are responsible. The fact remains that dry hair is one of the most commonly reported ills.

The simple treatment referred to was recommended by a hairdresser. It is to rub a light application of brilliantine over a hair brush kept only for the purpose of adding gloss to the hair. This hair brush is not to be used for cleaning the scalp and hair. It is used after another brush has done its job of massaging the scalp and cleaning off the locks.

And the brilliantine should be rubbed very lightly over the brush. You want only a gloss—not an oily look. Better err on the side of too little of the oil than too much. Anyway, after a couple of months' usage, the hair of the young woman above referred to, puts up a creditable appearance. It has just enough body and luster to please.

The ingredients in brilliantines are good oil stuffs, so there need be no fears about using them. A bit on the hair each day would more likely help than harm dry hair. But, as suggested, the idea is to avoid greasiness. Use just enough for a soft sheen.

Another advantageous thing to use on dry hair is a scalp greasing oil, and massage it with the finger tips. Then take your stiff hair brush and brush until you have worked up some heat in the scalp. At the same time you will find you are brushing a gloss into the hair. This finger greasing may be done without the usual recourse that has to be made to a shampoo when a heavy dousing of oil is administered, as in the case of a hot oil treatment. The oil used for the light greasing may be olive or almond oil or a preparation made of two parts castor oil to one part alcohol.

Learn 'Charley Horse' Keeps Toscanini in Italy for Health

New York, Feb. 26.—[Special.]—The "mysterious" ailment, variously reported as neuritis, arthritis, etc., etc., which has forced Arturo Toscanini to give up conducting the Philharmonic Symphony orchestra for the remainder of this season, is, it was learned today, nothing more nor less than a "charley horse."

But a "charley horse," as any athlete can tell you, is no fun. The great conductor developed one in his right arm last summer and is now undergoing treatment for it near Sienna, Italy. The medical name for "charley horse" is "bursitis, or inflammation of the bursa," and a bursa, according to Stedman, is "a closed sac or pouch containing fluid, found or formed as a result of pressure, over an exposed and prominent part, or where a tendon plays over a bone."

Max Smith, Toscanini's unofficial personal representative, had this to say about the maestro's "charley horse":

"If you don't think the ailment serious enough to cause all this commotion among New York's Philharmonikers, just go and talk to some baseball player who has been laid up."

Finds Girl Scouts Place Emphasis on Homemaking Tests

If Girl Scouts of America practice what they have learned during the last year the brides of tomorrow are going to be excellent housekeepers, so declared Mrs. Frederick Edey, national president, at the Great Lakes regional committee meeting of the Girl Scouts at the Woman's Athletic club yesterday.

In quoting from the annual report, Mrs. Edey declared that of 169,121 proficiency badges earned during 1931, 64,078 were won by girls who had successfully passed homemaking tests. These badges included cooking, playing hostess, laundry, domestic economy, and canning.

Health badges ranked second in popularity, the report revealed. Girl Scouts won 40,280 badges, indicating their knowledge of first aid, personal hygiene, proper use of food and exercise, and the care of children.

The meeting will continue today, the sessions being held at the Drake hotel. Four hundred committee heads are attending. The Great Lakes regional conference is to be held in Indianapolis June 8, 9, and 10.

Mrs. Alfred Stern Named to Jewish Charity Board

Stylish Gloves Put Dash in Your Costume

Color Contrasts Appear Again.

BY RHEA SEEGER.

NEW gloves are a grand success . . . they'll slip on your hands and over your coat cuffs with a lot of dash and distinction. Perhaps the funniest thing one hears about gloves is this glib chatter about six button, four button, and eight, and more . . . of course seasoned shoppers listen and understand the phrasing, but pity the literal minded and the truth seeker when all these aforementioned buttons can't be located.

Having had this matter, of fashionable glove length measured by buttons, as it is, duly explained, we begin the serious shopping of the season . . . selecting the smartest models by their cuffs. Gauntlet gloves have staged a clever comeback . . . a comeback that stresses that difficult achievement, character, or whatever you call "it" into gloves.

Cuffs Rise to Dizzy Heights.

The cuffs on one pair of gloves rise to dizzy heights and points and then descend to divided depths at the wrist . . . all this smartly outlined with a contrasting color, such as black with white . . . another pair uses contrast, but more subtly, on cuffs that flare at the tops in large half circles . . . in these the white contrast is merely an edge to match the white stitchings on the fingers.

Others are in points that remind you of the sugar cookies that had pointed edges in similar sharpness . . . others are "pinked" so you will be told, with the same demure scallops that used to edge the ruffles on the good old gowns that grandma wore. You can also go, or stay, modern, with glove cuffs that have squared circles, long triangles, and oblongs of contrasting colored kidskin as appliqued accents . . . and some stunning white ones have real set-in godets of black. And cuffs are two faced without any trouble at all . . . you can wear one color as high as you like, and then about cuff, with the direct contrast in color showing.

Stitches Plenty These Times.

And how they do stitch these new gloves . . . time was, when glove stitchers only went around the necessary finger seams, and then on the inside . . . but those background stitching days are gone . . nowadays the seams have come outside, the sitches are bigger and better and brighter, and with all the thread left over they stitch with precision and care all over the newest cuffs.

Spring gloves are color conscious with the rest of us . . . even singing the blues with true American gusto. Whatever shade of blue you are wallowing in this year, you can find good blue companions in any kind of a pair of blue gloves that you want. And for good cheerful hand outs try a brace of blues trimmed with silver gray or blue gloves with silver linings, a small gesture to help stay the depression.

Beige colored gloves are arriving daily, just in time to be worn with all the lovely new beige coats.

Brown and Black Are Regulars.

Brown and black, so fashion says, are the regulars for spring, for they are as practical and wearable as ever . . . and as every woman knows, they can and will be worn with everything from a simple little frock for street and shopping to slinky shining evening gowns.

The plain but beloved slipons are still available in all colors and fabrics. These are the gloves you buy three to six at a time and how satisfactory and smart and comfortably correct they always will be.

You can be hand in glove with all manner of chic this season . . . there are plenty of new ideas for all kinds of hands out for glove smartness, and you can have all kinds of new models for small sums that will amaze you.

MISS RUE WINTERBOTHAM.

BY BETTINA BEDWELL.

PARIS.—[Special.]—The proper recipe for chic next spring is going to be a wool dress with a dash of silk added thereto. This formula is guaranteed successful when applied to the daytime dress, and will turn out as light as an angel food cake if you choose one of the new transparent woolens for the main ingredient.

Mme. Vionnet, no less, is behind this Parisian vogue for wool frocks with silk details. She is the genius of French dressmaking, the great name before which the smartest women in the world bow. Not for nothing has Vionnet been given this reputation. She's earned it, bien sur. Her way of applying silk to wool dresses is as individual as all her other works.

The transparent wool frock, even though its material is tissue paper thin, is apt to be bulky and over warm around the arms and across the back of the shoulders. It is at this point that Madame Vionnet replaces wool with silk. Look at the dress sketched today. This frock is made of wool, thin as ice wool, and with a rough surface, in navy blue. Navy blue crêpe de chine bias bands circle the armholes and a bias yoke covers the back of the shoulders, just where one feels the weight of wool when spring days grow warm.

The collar of this dress is made of crêpe de chine and tied in front. The belt is navy patent leather with a silver buckle, and the skirt is cut on the bias so that it clings, though it is full around the hem.

Writes of Fight of French Women to Gain Suffrage

(The French senate yesterday rejected the electoral reform bill recently passed by the chamber of deputies and referred the matter to a special committee. Maria Verone, a famous feminist of France, has written her account of the strategy used in the fight to gain the ballot.)

BY MARIA VERONE.

[Copyright: 1932: By the Associated Press.]

PARIS.—(AP)—French feminists have been aroused to a new fight for suffrage by the chamber's recent action because it is bound to have an influence on public opinion and on the senators as well.

The chamber's action on Feb. 12 is particularly significant because it has awakened energies which have been somewhat lulled to sleep. We know that the majority of the senate does not wish to give women the right to vote in 1932, but by changing the opinion of some of them we can change the majority.

Even if they do not give us the vote this year, we shall not allow them to cling to the same point of view in the municipal elections of 1935 and in the legislative elections of 1936. We shall fight for the cause.

The electoral period will give us an opportunity to spread propaganda.

We do not want to be the last in Europe to win the rights about which we have been talking for the last 80 years.

St. Katherine's Alumnae to Honor Sister Superior

Chicago alumnae of St. Katherine's school of Davenport, Ia., will hold a luncheon today at the Chicago Woman's club. Mrs. James A. Jerger, 4839 Dorchester avenue, president of the group, will preside. The guest of honor will be Sister Esther, sister superior of the school, which is under the direction of the Sisters of St. Mary of the Episcopal church.

WASHINGTON SOCIETY

Washington, D. C., Feb. 26.—[Special.]—Vice President Curtis attended the exhibition drill at Fort Myer this afternoon. Earlier the Vice President was the honor guest at luncheon given by the commandant of the fort and Mrs. Harry N. Cootes.

Assistant Postmaster General and Mrs. Frederic A. Tilton were hosts at dinner this evening preceding the Friday evening dancing class which met at the Willard. The small organization is the outgrowth of a group entertained each week by the late Mrs. Thomas F. Walsh, who died yesterday in her home at 2020 Massachusetts avenue. Her guests grew in number so rapidly that they formed a club known as the 2020 club and when it finally outgrew the spacious Walsh home moved to the Willard, where their meetings have been held for several years.

Miss Willa Fulmer, daughter of Representative and Mrs. Hampton P. Fulmer of South Carolina, and William Ticknor Reed, son of Representative and Mrs. Daniel A. Reed of New York, were married this afternoon in the Calvary Baptist church, the pastor, William S. Abernethy, officiating in the presence of a small company.

The president of the United States Chamber of Commerce and Mrs. Silas Strawn of Chicago went to New York yesterday and sailed tonight aboard the Europa for Paris. Mr. Strawn will attend the sessions of the International Chamber of Commerce which open there March 1.

Announce Rue Winterbotham Engagement

Will Become Bride of Alfred Shaw.

BY JUDITH CASS.

"MRS. JOHN H. WINTERBOTHAM announces the engagement of her daughter, Rue, to Alfred Phillips Shaw, son of the late Mr. and Mrs. Enoch Shaw of Boston"—so reads the formal announcement telephoned to this office yesterday. And a very interesting announcement it is, too, and quite a surprise to all but the relatives and intimate friends of the young people, for although every one knew that "Al" Shaw, one of society's most attractive and popular bachelors, had been devoted to the charming Miss Winterbotham from the time of her debut in 1925 until she went abroad with her mother soon after her father's death, which occurred late in December, 1930, I don't think any one knew until very recently that he was the favored and fortunate beau.

Mrs. Winterbotham and her daughter have just returned from abroad, where Miss Winterbotham was pursuing the study of painting, in which line of art she shows very real talent I am told by those who should know. Mrs. Winterbotham gave a small tea yesterday afternoon after the symphony concert at her residence at 1301 Astor street to announce the engagement. Miss Winterbotham is the namesake of her aunt, the late Mrs. John Alden Carpenter (Rue Winterbotham) and the sister of Mrs. Shreve Badger (Theodora Winterbotham). She attended Foxcroft school and has spent several years abroad studying art.

Mr. Shaw is one of the best known of the younger architects in the city. He served in the U. S. air forces during the war and just after the war represented Herbert Hoover in the Balkans. No date for the wedding has been set.

Mrs. Kellogg Fairbank is giving a buffet luncheon for about forty tomorrow at her residence, 1244 North State street, for Miss Winterbotham and her cousin, Mrs. Patrick C. Hill (Genevieve Carpenter), who leaves on Monday for her home in Fort Worth.

Many Girls Enter Swimming Meet.

The prevalence of that nasty little flue germ in so many households just now is responsible for there not being any boys' events in the children's swimming meet at the Woman's Athletic club this morning, but there are to be plenty of girls participating, so I am sure it will be a most exciting meet. The affair is to start at 11 o'clock, and afterwards there will be numerous luncheon parties with the young participants as honored guests. Mrs. Raymond C. Dudley, Mrs. William F. Peterson, Mrs. Stanley Zaring, and Mrs. William N. Pelouze will be honorary judges.

Among those who will take part are six of the seven daughters of Mr. and Mrs. Leo P. Cummings [there are eleven children in this good old-fashioned family], Jean and Susanne Sullivan, daughters of Mr. and Mrs. Arthus G. Sullivan; Gail and Gloria Gartz, daughters of Mr. and Mrs. A. F. Gartz Jr.; Eleanor and Lois Thompson, daughters of the junior John R. Thompsons; Annie May Henry, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Huntington B. Henry; Joan McArthur, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. Selin W. McArthur; Louise, Isabel, and Frances Chamberlin, daughters of Mr. and Mrs. Rollin T. Chamberlin, and Betty and Marion Vilas, daughters of Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence H. Vilas.

Mr. and Mrs. Nathaniel A. Owings and Mr. and Mrs. Frederick Hauck are among those in a house party that Howard Raftery is having this week-end in Geneva. The Louis Skidmores were to have been in the party, too, but Mrs. Skidmore is laid up in the hospital with scarlet fever. She picked up the "bug" probably while working over on the west side, where she has been active in settlement work since she and her husband moved to Chicago, where he is connected with the Century of Progress. Mrs. Skidmore and Mr. Owings are sister and brother.

Dinner Party For Birthdays.

Mr. and Mrs. Edwin E. Tullis [Anne Wood] and Mr. and Mrs. Elliott Donnelley [Ann Steinwedell] are giving a dinner party tonight at the residence of the Tullis', 1255 North Green Bay road, Lake Forest. The party is a birthday celebration for all four of the young people, all of whom have birthdays this month. Mr. Donnelley's is tomorrow and the others are on the 2d, 9th and 23d, but I was unable to discover which date is whose!

Mr. and Mrs. Edwin W. Sims of 112 Bellevue place are having a buffet supper tomorrow night from 6 to 9 o'clock at their residence for their son, Frank S. Sims, who is a candidate for the legislature.

Dr. and Mrs. Frederick Harvey of 431 Oakdale avenue also are giving a buffet supper tomorrow evening.

Mr. and Mrs. Royden Keith are giving the first of three supper parties tomorrow at their residence, 999 Lake Shore drive. Tomorrow's party is for the Robert L. Zabriskies, who are leaving Monday for their home in Aurora, N. Y., after a visit of several weeks here.

Set Date for Bradford Rites.

The date of the marriage of Miss Phyllis Bradford, daughter of Mrs. Hughes Bradford of the Ambassador East, to George J. B. Furness, only son of Mr. and Mrs. George James Furness of Roundwood house, Willesden, London, and Great Longstone, Derbyshire, England, has been set for March 26. The ceremony will take place in Christ church, Winnetka, and will be followed by a reception at the residence of Miss Bradford's uncle and aunt, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Donald Dallas, 655 Sheridan road, Winnetka. Following a fortnight's honeymoon in this country the bride and groom will sail for England on April 9.

Mrs. Francis J. Johnson of the Ambassador returned yesterday from a trip to California, where she was called

PasadenaStage Sends Recruits to Movie Lots

Community Players Win Film Contracts.

BY GEORGE SHAFFER.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Hollywood, Cal., Feb. 26.—The Pasadena Community playhouse has recently sent several recruits of more than ordinary preliminary luster into the rank of movie contract players.

M. G. M. has signed both Karen Moreley and Robert Young, the latter being given a long term contract on the strength of his rôle in "The Sin of Madelon Claudet" with Helen Hayes, followed by a part just completed in the as yet unreleased "Wet Parade."

Universal's "find" from the Pasadena stage is Gloria Stuart, until recently a University of California undergraduate. She has been given a contract for five years.

Randolph Scott, a native Virginian who also did his acting apprenticeship with the Pasadena players, is cast in Paramount's "Sky Birds" with Dick Arlen and Jack Oakie.

Augustina Lopez, the oldest woman in the movies, is playing a bit in "Thunder Below." She is 90 years old. She made her screen debut at the age of 87 with Richard Dix in "Redskin." She is a Mexican Indian.

Waldon Heyburn today declined to confirm or deny reports of his engagement to Greta Nissen "because any such statement ought to come from the lady." Waldon and Greta were cast as husband and wife in a Fox production two months ago.

Part of the reason for Rudy Vallee's present trip here is to negotiate for appearance in another feature length singing movie. His first one, made for Radio [then RKO] three years ago, didn't please many critics, but it made the studio some money. Since then Vallee has made musical shorts for Paramount, and it probably will be Paramount which stars him in his next film. Whether his wife, Fay Webb, plays in it is problematical. She wants to pursue her screen career.

Guili Andre, the Danish charmer from New York, who came here to model gowns, has displaced Irene Dunne as leading lady for Richard Dix in Radio's "Roar of the Dragon." These Scandinavian importations seem to bring something to Hollywood that rings the bell every time.

Ben Markson, former Chicago reporter, and Allen Rivkin, former New York reporter, wrote a one act play, "Is My Face Red?" which made a hit at last autumn's repertoire of Writers club plays here. They were elaborating it into a vehicle with Broadway intentions when David Selznik, boss of the Radio pictures studio, looked it over and bought it today. It's to be made a film vehicle depicting adventures of a wise cracking columnist.

Neither Bert Wheeler nor Bob Woolsey was willing to go to the length of buying an entire airplane which he could not fly but both craved the sensation of flying so much that they chipped in together today, bought a plane under joint ownership and engaged a professional pilot.

Paramount studio has banned extras with gold teeth. Their molars picked up high light in certain scenes and reflected it like automobile lights.

GASOLINE ALLEY—1932 AZTECS

Few Handicaps Face Growers of House Ferns

BY PAUL POTTER.

Few persons who care to add plant life to a home's interior can deny a partiality to ferns. For this reason the few handicaps to successful culture of a few foliage plants or a more pretentious fernery are the more willingly overcome.

The moisture requirements in the atmosphere for ferns to thrive, the dislike of the plants for gaseous air and the need for protecting them from cold drafts constitute the major handicaps. While most house plants like abundant sunlight, ferns thrive best in a spot away from direct sunlight except in winter.

A group of ferns will be found to thrive better than a scattered few, for the moisture in the air is preserved in a better manner.

Then, too, it is a frequent practice to overwater ferns. This is caused as a rule by heavy watering at too frequent intervals or from lack of soil drainage.

Perhaps the best type of ferns for adverse conditions, if we may start at that end of the list, is the Pteris. It is not well known among home gardeners but deserves greater popularity. The Boston fern is next in ease of culture, some kinds having waved or ruffled leaflets. The Roosevelt and Teddy Junior are two varieties of this type.

The sword ferns have been gaining prestige of late although every fernery should have its quota of the lace types.

Good morning!

It's a long hop from the bullet proof vest of a gangster to the vestments of a clergyman — but Clark Gable makes it without turning a bandolined hair. He also achieves a purged, ethereal look that will turn the amorous yearnings of his feminine admirers into a noble desire to mother him.

All of which is not saying that Mr. Gable is in his element as the Rev. John Hartley. He isn't. In fact, he is as much out of it as he could well possibly be, and, though his mien is all that could be required of any young cleric, never once does he make the shepherd he portrays a believable character. He gives a smooth enough performance, but it is at no time a convincing one.

Nor does Marion Davies ring the bell in the title rôle. She has found the naive, old-fashioned vehicle—written originally by Margaret Mayo for Mabel Taliaferro—primer stuff to which her sophistication found difficulty in stooping. With the wings of her talent clipped at every turn by the tritest of lines and situations, she flutters bravely, but is unable to arise to any heights. When, O when will we see Miss Davies in another "Quality Street"?

Minor rôles are handled with no particular effectiveness. Direction was limp. The best things about the film are some splendidly photographed shots of a trapeze trio in action. These are so exciting they make the palms of your hands perspire.

The story is about a girl trapeze performer and a minister. The former is injured while playing the tight-laced town where the latter has his church. She is taken to his home after the accident because it is nearer than the hospital to the circus lot.

While recuperating, Polly wins the heart of the dominie, at the same time arousing the wrath of the villagers. And so on. The dénouement is exactly what you expect it to be.

See you tomorrow!

Allowance Helps Train Child to Spend His Money Wisely

By GLADYS HUNTINGTON BEVANS

When you hand over 20 cents a week to your small daughter as an allowance, or 40 cents, or a dollar to your older son, what do you expect them to do with it—spend it or save it? Or perhaps spend a little and save a little?

And what do you want them to save for? Many parents will answer, "For a bank account," or "For a rainy day." The idea back of this is usually the vague one of making a child thrifty.

To my mind this is a mistake. Rainy days and bank accounts are distant abstractions and doubtful benefits to a little child, and even to an older boy or girl.

And saving is not what money is for primarily. Money is to use, to spend. An allowance should help a child to learn to use money wisely. That will give him a fine fundamental idea—a true valuation of money in the scheme of things.

O yes, I realize that a natural reaction to that is, "But then he may become a spendthrift." Not at all.

An intelligent child who lives with people who have the right attitude toward money learns eventually to save, as well as to spend wisely. At first he may see a very choice sponge ball which costs fifteen cents when his allowance is only ten. He decides to save this week's allowance so he can buy it next week.

Gradually he becomes conscious of the advantages of saving. First, he saves for a very near satisfaction. Later he learns to save for a far distant one. And still later he may say, "Well, there's nothing special I want this week so I'll stick most of this in the little bank—or you keep it for me, mother." Or he may even work out a policy of putting aside a small proportion of each allowance because some day he'll want something big.

This I believe from both experience and thinking to be as much saving as a child should do out of his allowance. But this must not be expected in the early years. It is better to let it develop through experience.

On Sunday we'll go into the allowance further.

Official Contract

By Charles True Adams

(International bridge authority; author of "Official Contract at Sight.")

Of late it has been rather the fashion to blame the growing divorce rate on hasty marriages. How, ask our domestic experts, can two people who have scarcely been acquainted for more than a few days or at most a few weeks hope to make a go of marriage when they know practically nothing about each other.

Certain it is that in the game of contract bridge many pairs of hands are mismated at a wrong declaration because of inability to exchange sufficient information before arriving at a final declaration. In yesterday's play a problem North and South took their time about it and made a great many bids but they finally were rewarded by reaching the only declaration at which the most could be obtained from the cards held. This was the hand:

♥—A,Q,J,3
♦—4

WEST.	EAST.
♠—5,4	♠—K,J,2
♥—K,7,6	♥—10,5,4
♦—A,Q,7	♦—9,8,6,3
♣—9,8,7,5,4	♣—K,Q,J

SOUTH.
♠—A,Q,9,8,6
♥—9,8,2
♣—None

North dealt and bid a club. East passed. South bid one spade and West passed. North now bid two hearts. East passed and South again took out—this time with two diamonds. Again West passed. North now assisted his partner's original spade take-out since he could give him exact information. His first refusal to assist showed that he did not have adequate support, meaning four small of the suit, and his assist at this stage shows that he has normal support, or three small of the suit. East passed. South now went to four spades.

South chose the spades because he knew that the partnership held eight of that suit between the two hands, which is the proper number [as a minimum, of course] that should be held in a biddable declaration. He did not go back to North's hearts since North's bid of the club before the heart tended to show that North's heart holding was only four cards. South, therefore, holding but three cards of the suit knew that there were only seven hearts between the two hands.

West for the lack of a better lead opened the ♠ 5, North played the 7, East the J, and South took with the Q. South now led the ♥ 2, West played the 6, dummy the J, and East the 4. Dummy returned the ♦ 4, East played the 3, South the 10, and West took the trick with the Q. West now led the ♠ 4, North played the 10, East the K, and South the A. To the fifth trick, South led the ♦ 5, West played the 7, and North trumped with the ♠ 3. Dummy then led the ♣ A, on which declarer discarded the ♦ 2. To the seventh trick dummy led the ♣ 2, which declarer trumped with the ♠ 6. Declarer then led the ♠ 8, which cleared the trump suit. To the ninth trick South led the ♥ 9, West played the 7, and North took with the Q. Dummy then led the ♣ 3, East's K came up, and South trumped with the ♠ 9. South now led the ♥ 8 to dummy's A, clearing that suit. Dummy then led the ♥ 3, which was now good and followed at the thirteenth trick with the ♣ 10, making six odd.

Here is Monday's play a problem:

NORTH [dealer].
♠—A,K,8,7,4
♥—Q,J,8,5,3
♦—7

WEST.	EAST.
♠—Q,10	♠—J,9,5,2
♥—K,9	♥—7,2
♦—K,9,6,2	♦—Q,10,4
♣—K,8,4,3,2	♣—A,10,9,6

SOUTH.
♥—A,10,6,4
♦—A,J,8,5,3
♣—Q,7

Bid and play this hand and then compare the result with that printed Monday.

Crying Wives Should Expect Trouble—Doris

Urges Weeping at Proper Time Only.

BY DORIS BLAKE.

The cry-baby wife does not show up often in my correspondence. Perhaps that's why I began to think her as extinct as the fainting dame of past generations. But here is one of her in my morning's mail confiding that she has only a father and a husband to look to for advice, confidence and support. That, in itself, leaves me dry eyed of pity. But not the cry-baby wife.

"My husband does not seem to understand my pleadings," she tells. "He does not like it when I cry and confide in him. We quarrel a great deal over this . . . He can't understand what a grief it was when my mother passed away . . . How lost I am without her . . . She died when I was 12 . . ."

A bad case of emotional instability to be dealt with here. I recommend a visit to a doctor for health-building instructions and a psychiatrist for mental and emotional handling.

But speaking of weeping wives, and I've learned from reliable sources that they are far from extinct, their particular danger lies in making their husbands weary of the monotony of their performances. A good tear jag, now and then, is not disparaged by certain of our best advisers. It clears the vision. It gets the trouble steamed out of the system. As opposed to keeping troubles bottled up inside of one, a good cry is heartily recommended.

The trick, however, is to know when and when not to turn on the tear faucets. I believe with a certain famed clergyman—confidant of warring couples—that tears will mend where angry words will not. That it is better to let loose the emotions in a good crying job than to keep feelings pent up and unexpressed.

However, I'm not recommending tear celebrations, but only suggesting that at the right moment they have their uses. But the wife who weeps on the slightest pretext, weeps if she doesn't get the coat, the car, the house she wants, or weeps just because she feels weepy, is in danger of drowning her husband's love eventually.

It's just another case of "Wolf! wolf!" The man can't distinguish after a while between real distress and what is simply annoyance from some trivial cause or from a wretchedly childish bad temper.

Butterscotch Cookies Head List of Recipes of Food Expert Today

BY MARY MEADE.

For the chowder lovers of yesterday we have a little suggestion which they may or may not wish to use. And we neglected to mention it when we gave the recipes for the soups. Apologies! Sometimes a cook wishes her chowder with more milk, and when such is the case, cook the clams and the vegetables in the water, using but half the amount given, and make up the difference in liquid in milk. However, keep the addition of clam juice out of the soup until just before serving. It has a tendency to curdle the milk.

Today's recipes were given on Saturday's and Sunday's menus.

The butterscotch cookies you may have time to stir together this morning. You can then bake them for dinner if you like.

BUTTERSCOTCH COOKIES.

2 cups of brown sugar
½ cup of butter
3 cups of flour
2 eggs
½ teaspoon of soda
1 teaspoon of cream of tartar
1 teaspoon of vanilla, or any preferred flavoring

Cream the sugar and butter together. Add the whole eggs, slightly beaten, then the flour sifted with the soda and cream of tartar. Mix, and add the flavoring. Make into a stiff roll. Put in an icebox overnight [or as suggested]. Slice thin and bake on a cookie sheet in a hot oven [400 degrees Fahrenheit].

The butterfly salad was for tomorrow's dinner. We think it is particularly appropriate to serve with a real grand chicken pie.

BUTTERFLY SALAD.

Asparagus tips
Pineapple
Lettuce
Pimiento
Green pepper
Mayonnaise

Take the asparagus tips and use them for the body of the butterfly. Take one-half of a pineapple ring for the wings and turn each outward. Dot the pineapple with tiny bits of chopped pimiento. Make the feelers of the butterfly with the green pepper. Serve the whole on a single crisp lettuce cup with a light mayonnaise.

[We trust that you'd know a butterfly if you saw one. If you don't, you'd better not attempt the salad!]

ASSAILS DELAY OF HEARING ON CITY GAS RATES

Attorney Says Board Is Too Busy with Politics.

Attorney Sylvester J. Konenkamp assailed the Illinois commerce commission yesterday for delaying its hearing on the rates to be charged by the Peoples Gas Light and Coke company for its new mixture of natural and manufactured gas. The hearing was continued until March 29 after a brief session of the commission on Wednesday.

Mr. Konenkamp is counsel for the Amalgamated Improvement association, a group of 45 neighborhood improvement clubs. The association became a party to the gas rate hearing last October as an intervening petitioner on behalf of thousands of home owners.

"I am not surprised that the hearing should be continued," the attorney said, "because it is quite evident that all the various state departments under Gov. Emmerson are too busy trying to nominate Emmerson's candidate for governor, Custer, to have much time for public affairs."

Mr. Konenkamp said he intended no reflection on the ability or sincerity of Assistant Corporation Counsel Joseph F. Grossman, who, he said, is alone in opposing on behalf of the public the battery of corporation lawyers, auditors, engineers, and publicity men representing the gas company.

Recalls Plea for City Staff.

"When this hearing was first called," Mr. Konenkamp said, "our association urged upon the city the necessity for organizing a staff of expert engineers and auditors to make a stiff fight against the excessive rates the gas company proposes to charge."

Mr. Konekamp said he had been informed that Mr. Grossman was engaged at this time not only on the gas case, but also on a case involving the Chicago Surface Lines and one involving the Chicago Tunnel company. He added:

"So long as the public has only one attorney engaged in the matter, and this attorney handicapped by the lack of a competent auditing and engineering staff, I am afraid the public will ultimately find itself in the same predicament on the gas rates as it was in the case of the elevated fares some years ago. It will be recalled that in the elevated case the Supreme court of the United States ultimately rejected the city's appeal from an adverse decision on the ground that the case had been improperly prepared."

Expense Opposed by Sexton.

Last Sept. 10, a month before the hearings began, Corporation Counsel William H. Sexton went on record in opposition to any program involving the city in any prolonged litigation with the gas company over the price of the new gas mixture.

"The last time the city became embroiled in such a suit it cost the taxpayers over a million dollars," he was quoted as saying. "The city has no funds now to conduct such costly litigation again."

In view of the present trend of the hearings and of the criticism leveled at the parties engaged, Mr. Sexton was asked yesterday what his present position might be.

Can't Spend the Money.

"Under normal conditions the city would employ a special assistant corporation counsel to take hold of this case, organize a staff, and fight it to a finish," he said. "In the present straitened circumstances this is impossible."

The corporation counsel pointed out, however, that the city council committee on gas, oil and electricity had authorized the use of $10,000 remaining in its fund to employ an engineer, and that this engineer was now at work for Mr. Grossman.

Mr. Konenkamp criticized the corporation counsel's plea of financial stringency to justify the city administration's attitude in the case.

"The stake of the people of Chicago in this matter is too great to interpose any quibbling arguments over legal fees," he said.

Mr. Konenkamp then discussed the system whereby the gas company now charges the consumer on the basis of "British thermal units," or the heating power employed, rather than on a basis of cubic feet of gas, or the actual quantity consumed.

"According to our computations there was no cut whatever, but an actual increase," Mr. Konenkamp asserted. "Certainly the charge per cubic foot is higher."

H. C. MOIR JR. IS INDICTED ON HOLDUP CHARGE

Harry C. Moir Jr., son of the former owner of the Morrison hotel, was named yesterday in two indictments charging robbery. The indictments grow out of his arrest in an apartment at 7805 Essex avenue, which police charge was a rendezvous for bandits.

Indicted with young Moir are Wilfred Anderson of Indiana Harbor and Alfred Ferdinandson, 4756 Drexel boulevard, whose arrests led to the raid on the apartment. Moir is charged with participating in two filling station holdups with them. His bonds were set at $20,000.

He did not appear yesterday when statutory charges against him and Miss Verda Weir, who was arrested in the apartment with him, were called in the Morals court. His attorney, Michael A. Romano, told Judge Harold M. O'Connell that he did not wish to produce his client in court until he could furnish bond on the robbery charges, and was granted a continuance to March 3.

Three Children Bitten by a Stray Bulldog

A stray brindle bulldog bit three children who were playing yesterday in the vicinity of Webster and Southport avenues. The children, who were taken to Alexian Brothers' hospital for treatment and later to their homes, are Charles Faubacher, 4 years old, 1314 Webster avenue; Patrick Nichol, 2 years old, 3104 72d court, Westwood, and Ellen Walsh, 5 years old, 2250 Clifton avenue. Policeman Oscar Glon of the Hudson avenue station later cornered the dog, shot him, and sent his body to the city laboratory for examination for rabies.

SCHAAF FLOORS STRIBLING; WINS DECISION

CHAMPIONS VS. CHAMPIONS IN GOLDEN GLOVES

Battle Shifts to the Stadium Monday.

BY WILFRID SMITH.

Champions against champions. This is the program for THE TRIBUNE'S fifth amateur boxing tournament at the Chicago Stadium next week.

On Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday, the best fighters in five states will seek diamond studded Golden Gloves and the right to compete against the New York winners at Madison Square Garden. Those who have seen the tournaments sponsored by 20 newspapers in the out of Chicago centers, or who watched the three metropolitan trials, know that Golden Gloves boxing carries more thrills per minute than any other series of bouts that might be arranged.

Will Use Two Rings.

The finals on March 9, of course, climax the annual campaign, but those bouts will not be superior to the three day Tournament of Champions. On Monday and Tuesday, two rings will be used at the Stadium. More than 200 boys are entered. Beginning at 7 o'clock, for four hours boxing will be continuous. Knockouts and close decisions will be staged side by side.

The Tournament of Champions may be seen each night for fifty cents. Ringside seats are only $1.50, while the first balcony tickets and part of the mezzanine, which afford an excellent view of the two rings, are priced at $1. There are many good seats left for the Tournament of Champions. They may be obtained at THE TRIBUNE Public Service office, 1 South Dearborn street, at the branch offices at 1101 East 63d street and 4152 West Madison street and The Tribune Tower lobby.

The Tournament of Champions brings to Chicago twenty teams of eight boys each. These won their titles in district meets, all of which lasted at least two days, while several lasted longer, depending on the number of entries. The caliber of the out of town contestants is said to be higher than in any previous season. Chicago's entry of 48 boys balances with those who last year fought in the same meet.

Chicagoans Hold Five Titles.

Last year Chicago boys won five of the eight titles. Don Gonzales of Cleveland, who fought his way through the south side sectional, won a sixth championship. The others went to Jack Kranz and John Long, who represented the Gary, Ind., Post-Tribune. It is not likely that Chicago will do as well this year. For one thing, four cities are represented for the first time. Among these Grand Rapids, Mich., may be expected to send a team which should go a long way, even if it does not include a champion. The Wisconsin state team, selected by the Milwaukee bureau of THE TRIBUNE in a three day meet sponsored by the Milwaukee Eagles, is another threat to Chicago's supremacy.

Milwaukee is not a new center, however, but its eight champions probably are superior to the 1931 team. The other new sectionals are Evansville, Ind.; Joliet, Ill., and Quincy, Ill.

Lighter Boxers Start It.

Contestants in the first four weight divisions will compete Monday night. There are 26 boys in each weight. They must report at the Stadium, 1800 West Madison street, between 3 and 5 p. m. for physical examinations and to be weighed. A one pound allowance is made in each weight. Drawings will be made at 6 o'clock and the first bout will start an hour later.

Since nearly all of the boys must fight twice Monday night, two minute rounds will be the rule. There'll be approximately 32 fights in each ring and with two minute rounds the show should be over approximately at 11 o'clock.

On Tuesday afternoon the welterweights and heavyweights will report. The same program will be followed as

The finals of the greatest meet in amateur boxing will be held at the Stadium on March 9. Admission to these bouts will be $3, $2, $1. Tickets for the Tournament of Champions, which will be held at the Stadium, next Monday, Tuesday, and Wednesday, cost 1.50, $1, and 50 cents. THE GUMPS—I WANT CHICKEN

Princeton Should Be Like Old Times for Mr. Crisler

BY WESTBROOK PEGLER.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, Feb. 26.—There is no school of tonsorial art at Princeton university, and Herbert O. Crisler, the new football coach, naturally cannot expect to do as well there as he might if he were coaching at some institution whose scholastic requirements are adjusted to the intellectual capacities of athletes slightly lame in the head.

BILL ROPER.

It is said of Princeton nowadays that it takes a Michelson to get into the school and an Einstein to stay there. The more successful football teams, especially in the west, are not exactly crowded with Michelsons or Einsteins, but a large number of the boys are serious students of physical education.

It's Different at Princeton.

Mr. Crisler goes to teach football at a university which does not pretend to prepare young men for careers of rubbing ballplayers' soupbones or spanking the blubber off the midsections of plump and sedentary business men. Any Princeton graduate who desires to rise to the position of trainer for the New York Giants, with the privilege of taping up a sliding bruise on the southwest sector of a celebrated baserunner, or wishes to be a rubber in a business men's gymnasium, must take a post-graduate course, preferably at some state-supported university.

However, Mr. Crisler goes to Princeton well schooled for a career of defeat, disappointment, and trial, because he got most of his training at the University of Chicago, where the intellectual requirements and other embarrassments of the coaching department were somewhat similar to those now existing at Princeton. He played under A. A. Stagg and after playing under him he helped him coach the teams.

Then Times Changed.

Chicago, whose teams of a freer and easier day had dominated football in the middle west, became the soft spot in the Western conference, and Princeton, where conditions once were much freer and easier than they are today, is now admittedly outclassed in company in which the Princeton teams once were the equals of most and the betters of many.

It probably is a mere coincidence that the decline of Princeton's power and prestige in football began soon after the solemn interchange of notes with Harvard, which led to the severance of football relations. The Princeton boys dearly loved to smack the Harvards around and when the Harvards at last complained that the smacking had exceeded the bounds of playful sportsmanship, one of them even displaying the imprint of a Princeton class ring on his nose, something went out of the lives of football players at Princeton.

It probably was another coincidence that when the Navy broke off relations with the Army, the Navy, like Princeton, lost class in football. Both Harvard and the Army, however, seemed to feel quite the opposite effect and, while their late most cherished enemies were suffering from a sort of depression, the two of them went on to years of spiritual and financial prosperity.

Roper in Kibitzer's Role.

Will Roper, the Philadelphia statesman, who might have quit coaching Princeton while the quitting was good, but waited until it was not so good, retains his interest in football at his alma mater and has become something of a kibitzer. He is not a very constructive kibitzer, either, for he still insists that spring training and early training in the fall are neither feasible nor desirable at Princeton, and merely demands the appointment of an athletic director, as though that would solve everything.

The fact is that Princeton is in the position of a man trying to swim with an armful of anvils. The young men are not allowed to practice except within certain arbitrary dates, which Mr. Roper defends, although they may be asked to take their

Crisler Plans Princeton Visit for Next Week

Minneapolis, Minn., Feb. 26.—[Special.]—H. O. (Fritz) Crisler today confirmed the announcement that he had signed a contract to coach the Princeton university football team for the next three years. In a statement this afternoon Crisler said he would leave for Princeton next week to confer with officials.

"I wish to confirm the announcement that I have accepted a position in the athletic department of Princeton university. It was a most difficult decision to make in view of the kindly expression of feeling on the part of students, faculty, alumni, friends, and members of this administration with whom I met yesterday.

"The regents representing the administration were most cordial in urging me to make adjustments within the limits of consistency. I will leave for Princeton the first of the week to confer with officials with regard to future plans. I will not leave Minnesota to take permanent residence in Princeton until such time as my successor has had an opportunity to make complete adjustment."

SHAMROCKS BEAT KANSAS CITY SEXTET, 2 TO 1

McFadyen Scores Goal in Last 30 Seconds.

Kansas City, Mo., Feb. 26.—[Special.]—Donnie McFadyen of the Chicago Shamrocks skated through two Kansas City defense men with thirty seconds remaining in an American Hockey league game tonight and cleanly beat Goalie Porky Levine of the Pla-Mors with the shot that won the game, 2 to 1.

The victory gave Chicago a virtual tie for first place as it has two more games remaining than the Pla-Mors. By winning the Shamrocks repeated their triumph of last week here and won the odd game of nine matches between the teams this season.

Pla-Mors Tie Score.

Five minutes before McFadyen outmaneuvered the defense men, Kansas City had tied the score. Pete Mitchell, playing despite a severe abdominal ailment, sent the disc into the net after taking a pass from McCormick. McFadyen just had been penalized for the second time in the period when the tying goal was scored.

Curley Headley made the goal that sent the Shamrocks out in front in the second period. Riley, in a faceoff in the attacking zone, struck the puck and Headley picked it up just inside the blue line. He fired through a milling mass of players and was as surprised as the crowd of 5,500 persons when the shot evaded every one and went inside the net. Levine didn't see the puck until it was in the cage.

Game Speeds Up.

The game did not compare with the one of last week. The teams were too cautious, each playing a waiting game. Close checking featured, but there were fewer penalties than expected. After the Shamrocks scored the clubs warmed to their tasks and thereafter a fast battle was carried on to the end.

Ralph Taylor of the Shamrocks suffered a cut right eye early in the third period, but after having medical attention he returned to finish the game.

CAMPBELL SETS THREE NEW AUTO SPEED RECORDS

Daytona Beach, Fla., Feb. 26.—[Special.]—Sir Malcolm Campbell, the British auto driver who broke his own world's record Wednesday, today roared down the beach at the rate of 257.142 miles an hour in an attempt to establish a new mark for the mile, but set three new records at longer distances.

Campbell's speed today broke the world's record of 242.751 miles an hour over a five mile course, but did not break the record he set last Wednesday by 2.22 miles an hour. Campbell drove 253.968 miles an hour in a mile run in establishing the new record last Wednesday.

With a strong northeast wind blowing, Campbell took the Bluebird on the beach and drove the first five mile southward run in 1:13.26. The speed attained on this run was 245.7 miles an hour.

Again he raced down the speedway and drove 239.372 miles an hour in 1:15.04. The average speed for both runs was 242.751 miles an hour and was clocked in 1:14.15 for both runs.

In addition to breaking his own five mile mark, Sir Malcolm established new records in the five kilometers and ten kilometers. He held the former mark of 241.569 for five kilometers, while the old record for ten kilometers was made by M. Borzacchini at Cremona, Italy, three years ago.

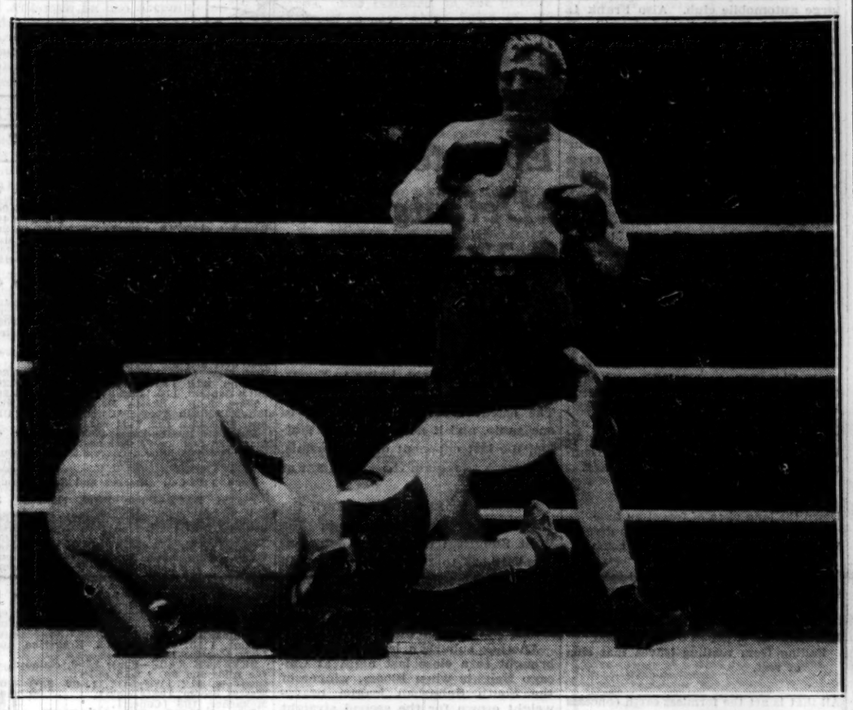

Kieckhefer Wins at Billiards, but Loses at Home

While Augie Kieckhefer was winning honors in the all-star three cushion billiard tournament at the Kieckhefer Recreation rooms last night, defeating Willie Hoppe, 50 to 29, in the deciding game, he suffered a loss he did not expect. Just as he left the billiard amphitheater he was informed that burglars had broken into his home at 7746 Bennett avenue and, according to Kieckhefer, got away with everything except an old cue, the billiard table in the basement, and five tons of coal which had just been delivered.

AUGIE KIECKHEFER

The robbery had taken place while Kieckhefer was playing Hoppe, but the sad news was withheld until the battle ended. Kieckhefer saved the three cushion diamond championship emblem, as that was in the office safe.

TAKING A FALL OUT OF STRIBLING

Ernie Schaaf's right has landed, sending Willie Stribling to the canvas just before the fourth round ended at the Stadium last night. Stribling, his feet still in the air, hasn't completed the fall. He came back for the remaining six rounds, in which he received a beating from the Boston heavyweight.

C. (Be Your) Selph Signs Sox Contract

BY EDWARD BURNS.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Mineral Wells, Tex., Feb. 26.—J. Louis Comiskey's knights of the bath splashed and steamed right merrily today in the first training maneuver designed to give the Chicago White Sox strength to fight their way out of the American league cellar. And hike—you should have seen some of the boys waddle for miles and miles. In the interests of first hand news we followed them every step of the way, although at times we had difficulty in keeping our motor throttled down properly.

One of the fellows recalled that in his daily road work for his last Dempsey fight Gene Tunney walked or ran several miles backwards each day and was rewarded with the world championship because he was able to back pedal masterfully in the seventh round. Manager Fonseca, however, frowned on this implied suggestion for making world champions of the Sox, pointing out with some reason that prize fighting and ball playing are two different professions.

"We Must Run on and on."

He cited the case of Landis vs. Shires as proof of this contention, and went on to say the following: "It is unpleasant that this matter should come up at this time, but since I have determined to face all issues I will say that the Sox in the past, unfortunately have shown amazing skill at retrogression or running backwards. Based on our 1931 finish we have no place to run in a backwardly direction. We must run forward—on and on and on, I hope."

Immediately a camp slogan was formed from the foregoing. "We must run forward, on and on and on" is the slogan, the words, "I hope," having been deleted.

For the first time in several seasons there are no Sox holdouts. Carey Selph, Houston infielder who was first prize in the winter draft, and who previously had stated he would quit baseball before leaving Houston, breezed into town today and President Comiskey signed him within 15 minutes of his arrival.

He'll Play Third Base.

Selph is counted upon to play third base for the Sox, although he was a second baseman with Texas league champs last year. Through the rules of the draft the Sox in 1931, because they were in the American league and because they finished last, got first pick in the draft and chose Selph. He showed early signs of being a bonafide holdout, but something made him change his mind suddenly and he now says he is eager to play his best for the Comiskey forces.

It was revealed in the training program that the activities of the battery men are to be quite distinct from that of the fielders, even in the matter of bathing and hiking. Throughout the training season the battery men are to wear blue uniforms, while the others will wear white—a scheme which Manager Fonseca and Coaches Johnny Butler and Bill Cunningham believe will aid them in determining to what extent the athletes are performing their assigned training chores.

Sometimes pitchers like to shag a few flies in the outfield when they are supposed to be throwing. Under the Fonseca plan a blue uniform in the outfield will show up like a drunk at an ice cream supper and an immediate checkup can be effected. And so on.

All Eyes on Smead.

Everybody still is waiting for Smead Jolley to put on his new catching regalia, but unless the moviemen locate the Sox camp, which is nine miles from the railroad, Smead will not rig up completely until he reaches San Antonio. He did spend a few minutes today with the pitchers to break in his new glove.

No one but pitchers and catchers touched baseballs today, however.

GEORGE LITTLE.

George Little Accepts Post at Rutgers

Madison, Wis., Feb. 26.—[Special.]—George Little, resigned Wisconsin athletic director, has accepted the post of director of physical education at Rutgers university, Brunswick, N. J.

Little, whose memorial at Wisconsin will be the Badger fieldhouse, accepted the terms of the Rutgers athletic board of control late today, and will have charge of intercollegiate, intramural, required, and advanced physical education at the state university of New Jersey, starting April 1, if he can be released from his duties here by that time.

"I know I'll be happy in my new position, not that I haven't been happy here in my seven years as director of athletics," Little said tonight.

Says Salary Is Attractive.

Questioned as to the amount of salary and the tenure of office at Rutgers, Little refused to state the exact amount he would receive, but admitted that the salary "was attractive." His term of office will be the same as any other member of the Rutgers faculty, he said.

Little was graduated from Ohio Wesleyan in 1912 and went to Ohio State the same year as assistant coach in football. Two years later he went to the University of Cincinnati, where he remained for two seasons, moving to Miami, where he developed two championship football teams, one runner up and a fourth place winner in four seasons. His coaching career there was interrupted by the war, but he returned and in 1922-'23-'24, he was at the University of Michigan as assistant director of athletics and assistant in football. In 1923 he was made head football coach and the Wolverines under his coaching lost but two games in two years.

Resigned Position in 1927.

He came to Wisconsin in 1925 and for two years acted as director of athletics and head football coach. He resigned as football coach in 1927 and secured Glenn Thistlewaite to replace him.

Little resigned here in December as director of athletics. In addition to his work in connection with the new Badger field house, he developed intramural sports and had charge of the four year course in physical education.

Sammy Fuller Conquers Ray Miller in 10 Rounds

KNOCKDOWN IN FOURTH ROUND WILLIE'S FINISH

Badly Beaten Rest of Fight.

Preliminary Results

Ben Jeby stopped My Sullivan [9].
Clyde Chastain beat Mickey Patrick [6].
Al Fay beat Tom Davenport [6].
Sammy Levine beat Davey Day [4].
Pete Wistort beat Charley Young [4].

BY FRENCH LANE.

Willie Stribling, another old young man of fistiana, was pushed off the comeback trail at the Chicago Stadium last night by Ernie Schaaf, an up and coming young heavyweight from Boston.

It was the second time in eight days that an old fellow of the prize ring had been detoured off the comeback trail in the Stadium ring. A week ago Thursday King Levinsky pushed Jack Dempsey onto a side track.

Schaaf got the unanimous decision of Referee Dave Barry and Judges Rube Metz and Livingston Osborne over Stribling in the most vicious ten round fight that has ever taken place at the arena where the next President is to be nominated in June.

Stribling Badly Battered.

Stribling didn't get away as lucky as Dempsey. Both of his eyes were closed, he had ugly cuts under each eye, claret was flowing from both nostrils and from his mouth when it finally ended and Dave Barry lifted Schaaf's hand in victory.

The 10,925 spectators who paid $29,381.60 to see the battle cheered a minute for Schaaf and then they cheered two minutes for Stribling. For Stribling, in the face of defeat, had displayed a gameness that most people thought he lacked. He had fought back with every thing he had; he had refused to go down under the pain producing punches of Schaaf and was on his feet a pitiful spectacle as the final tap of the bell ended it.

At the beginning of the ninth round, after Stribling had been unmercifully beaten up, it looked as if Pa Stribling was about to reach under the ring and toss in the sponge. Somebody tapped him on the shoulder and said, "Don't throw in the sponge."

Might Have Tossed in Sponge.

"I had no such idea," responded Pa Stribling. "I was just reaching down for the sponge to wipe off Willie's face."

But if I had been the daddy of Willie Stribling I would have tossed in the sponge. I couldn't have stayed there without hiding my eyes to see my kid beaten up as Willie Stribling was beaten up in the last round.

Stribling fought much as he fought against Max Schmeling in Cleveland last July when the world's heavyweight championship was at stake. He started out like the young Stribling of a few years back. He made the slow moving Schaaf look like a novice in the first part of it. He was going along apparently with nothing to worry about until just a few seconds before the fourth round ended.

Knockdown Turns Tide.

Then a punch landed on Willie's chin. It was a terrific right which Schaaf started from his hip. It knocked Stribling down into the bottom of the ring. The bell sounded. Willie pulled himself up off the canvas and wabbled back to his corner as if nothing had happened.

That knockdown—some people at the ringside say it was a lucky punch—polished off young Stribling. It was the Stribling swan song as far as heavyweight possibilities are concerned. It left one of the gamest fellows that ever fought in a professional prize ring helpless before a heavier and harder punching foe.

Possibly Stribling's swan song is as sad as Dempsey's. Stribling has been a more active fighter than Dempsey. And when Dempsey is finally beaten as badly as Stribling was last night he may show the same gameness. Everybody who cheers for Dempsey must hope he will not stand up to take such punishment.

Dempsey Sees Enough.

Dempsey, who is out traveling the highways and the byways, arrived just about the time the second round started. In a front row seat he seemed to enjoy everything until the time that Schaaf upset Stribling. Then Dempsey walked out on the show.

After Schaaf had knocked Stribling down in the fourth round it was just a case of how far the bout would go. Folks who had watched Schmeling stop Stribling in Cleveland said the end was near. They thought Stribling would wilt under the Schaaf attack and go down to be counted out.

For six rounds Stribling was cut into ribbons. Cuts were opened up all about his face and head. Referee Barry went over to his corner at the beginning of the last three rounds to see if he could go on with the struggle. Every time Stribling answered, "I'm all right."

After the way he stood up under the Schaaf attack in the last few rounds no one can say that Stribling is not game. He took the most terrific beating ever dealt out to any fighter.

PITCHING A LA JUNE WINS FOR ROOT, BAECHT

Pat Malone's Half of Cub Squad Beaten Again, 6-3

BY IRVING VAUGHAN.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Avalon, Catalina Island, Feb. 26.—Pat Malone and his Colts ran into more grief during the course of today's training episode in the Cubs' camp. Manager Hornsby ordered them into another game with Charley Root's Ponies and the latter gang won a seven inning argument, 6 to 3.

The outcome was doubly painful for the perpetually perspiring Malone. He not only managed the day's loser, but was pitching when the Ponies registered four of their runs. That outburst came in the first inning and settled everything. After that inauspicious start Pat threw two more innings and looked more like himself. Pat, after completing his pitching assignment, went into the outfield and actually caught one fly ball. That was a sort of personal triumph which eased the sting of two drubbings in two days.

Root, Baecht in Good Form.

Another veteran member of the staff appeared in the person of Root. Root pitched the first three innings for his Ponies and had enough mid-season stuff to keep the Colts well subdued. Root gave up only four hits, three of which were bunched for a run in the third inning. Ed Baecht, who succeeded Root, then came up with four impressive innings in which he permitted only two hits while striking out five men. Malone fanned when two Colts were on base in the seventh.

Malone's costly first inning was featured by several things, but the dominant item was a triple by Vin Barton, the prospective right field regular. Young Hack and Billy Herman opened the battle with singles off Pat and the former scored on a double steal. Harry Taylor then walked and followed Herman across the plate when Barton hit a three bagger into the waving palms in left field. Barton scored a moment later on an infield out. The significance of his hit was that it went to left, proving that he has benefited to some extent by Hornsby's batting lessons. The manager has been trying to break him of his habit of free swinging and consequent pulling all his drives to right.

Hemsley Hits Homer.

The pleasure of making the longest drive of the day went to Rollie Hemsley, the catcher, who for two days has given a fairly good demonstration of playing third base. He stepped up in the sixth and whacked one of Lon Warneke's offerings into the left field corner for a home run. Hemsley was supposed to be suffering with a strained muscle in his right leg, but dashed around the bases recklessly. Hartnett also tore loose a drive equal in length to that of Hemsley's, but Gabby doesn't run with the same speed, so had to be content with a triple.

Hack and Herman, the two young infielders who are slated for regular jobs, again demonstrated that they possess talent above the ordinary. Hack picked off a single from Malone's delivery and also one off Warneke. In each instance he demonstrated that he can get down to first base at about the speed of Cuyler. Herman's efforts against the same pitchers netted him a single and a double.

14 Regulars Arrive.

The 14 regulars arrived today, but most of them spent so much time devouring their noontime meal that the camp game was finished before they arrived at the park. Guy Bush and Woody English were the only ones to accept a chance to ride to the island by plane. The others decided the boat ride was the lesser of two evils. Bush, always a glutton for work, showed that he hasn't changed any by dashing right up to the field and chasing batted balls, even though dressed in his street togs.

All hands, a total of 36 men, will be assembled for the first extensive drill tomorrow morning at 11 o'clock. Batting practice is to be the theme for the new arrivals right from the jump. After the three hour workout about a dozen of the first squad will be taken over to Los Angeles to assist in a game between movie teams managed by Joe Brown and Buster Keaton. It is to be a benefit for the Olympic fund.

OLYMPIC SKATE STARS VIE AT STADIUM TONIGHT

Skating performances from the Olympic winter games will be reënacted this evening at the Chicago Stadium in the western open indoor championships and diamond trophy invitational events. The ice carnival has attracted leading racers from the United States, Canada, Europe, and Japan.

The controversy over American and European racing systems, which arose at the winter games, is expected to be cleared up by a comparison of the two styles.

Ivar Ballangrud, winner of the world's championship after his defeat in the Olympic games, will race his teammate, Erling Lindboe, 500 meter champion, and the Japanese Olympic quartet in a dash against time. The Americans and Canadians will skate the American style of jockeying for positions and alternating in the pace. The times of the respective divisions will then be compared.

Entered in the meet are all five of the United States outdoor champions, the United States women's Olympic team, twenty-five members of the American and Canadian Olympic teams, Jean Wilson of Canada, coholder of the international title; Bobby McLean, world's professional speed champion, and Miss Megan Taylor, 12 year old figure skating champion of Great Britain.

In the WAKE of the NEWS

EARLIER CHICAGO.

DEAR WAKE: It is a far cry from the present day auto speeders back more than three decades to the time when bicycle, or bike, riders who rode fast were known as "scorchers."

Among those of that period were William H. [Billy] Arthur, former assistant corporation counsel and now a public utility magnate. Bill, in those days, was a keen amateur boxer, while now he is a demon golf club swinger at Olympic Fields.

Also in the list was Si Mayer, long police secretary and now head of a large automobile club. Also Frank L. Childs, the "umbrella barrister." It was Childs, with his stentorian voice, rooting and razzing at the old west side ball park in the heydey of Cub victories, who nearly drove demented the late Charles W. Murphy, then president; Frank Chance, Tinker, Evers, Schulte, and the other players. His whoops frequently aroused the inmates of the Detention hospital across the street to join in the bedlam, until he finally was banished from the ballyard—the first instance of its kind up to that time.

Carter H. Harrison Jr. [1897] made his mayoralty campaign on a cycle and the wheelmen dubbed him, "Not the Champion Cyclist, but the Cyclists' Champion."

The "Cyclists' Champion" and a long line of cyclists rode on the cable car slots in a big parade for him along Clark, State, Halsted, Madison, Wabash, Clybourn, and Lincoln and Blue Island avenues. Harrison was elected by a tremendous plurality over John M. Harlan, independent Republican; Nathaniel C. Sears, Republican, and Washington Hesing, independent Democrat.

Carnations.

Down the long vista of forgotten time
A quiet house beside a garden dreams
Where cinnamon carnations come to bloom
Apart from vanity and sordid schemes.
Carnations out of good brown earth upsprung
High over all a poplar's silvery light

All that is art the formless earth conceals
Against the bleakness in the souls of men.
Know you black desolation in your heart—
Go finding roses in a garden, then,
Where sentinels of Lombardy patrol
The silences that cherish dusk and dawn—
Go not tomorrow down the olden road:
The incense of tomorrow may be gone.

O, sweet brown earth! Out of your mother breast
All strength and beauty reach unto the sky.
Only the fool who loudly paints his fame
A little house, carnations, and a song
O, Good Brown Earth! Your heart is never wrong.

MAROONS MEET MICHIGAN TRACK SQUAD TONIGHT

Michigan's track team, almost certain of victory, will do its exercises against the Chicago squad tonight in the Midway fieldhouse. The meet will be the first indoor appearance of a Wolverine track team on the Midway since 1923.

John Brooks, sophomore sprinter and hurdler, is the only Maroon expected to win first place. Other Chicago point getters will be Roy Black in the hurdles and Don Birney in the pole vault, but beyond these Michigan is slated, on its record, to capture firsts and seconds in the other events.

Jack Campbell, who took fourth in the conference indoor 60 yard dash last year, and Don Renwick will furnish competition for Brooks and Wallace of Chicago.

Savoldi Throws Lumpkin in Mat Bout at South Bend

South Bend, Ind., Feb. 26.—[Special.]—Joe Savoldi, former Notre Dame football star, came back to South Bend Friday night in his first appearance here as a professional wrestler to win his match with Roy [Father] Lumpkin, former Georgia Tech star, two falls in three.

Evanston Five Defeats New Trier, 28-24

New Trier High school's heavyweight basketball team went down to its first Suburban league defeat of the season last night, losing to Evanston, 28 to 24, on the latter's court. The defeat cut New Trier's lead to one game, and it now must beat Morton, the last opponent of its schedule, next week to remain the sole tenant of first place.

A basket by Shields gave York the heavyweight championship in the West Suburban conference, defeating Glenbard, 28 to 27, at Glen Ellyn, in the final game of the season. Maine captured the lightweight title by triumphing over Downers Grove, 29 to 13.

Another suburban league race was brought to a close last night at Chicago Heights when Bloom, winner of the South Suburban league heavyweight crown for the second straight year, defeated Calumet City, 29 to 22. Thornton won the lightweight title by handing Kankakee a 17 to 15 setback.

St. Patrick heavyweights continued their march toward the Catholic league title by winning from Loyola, 36 to 20, on the Loyola court. Meyer and Cinsie led the attack, the former scoring four field goals and two penalty throws, and Cinsie scoring 11 points. Loyola led at the half, 14 to 13.

Led by Sid Dry, Roosevelt's unbeaten lightweight team opened the Public High School league quarterfinal round play by defeating Austin, 38 to 28, at Austin's gymnasium. Fox also starred in Roosevelt's victory, scoring four baskets and one free throw.

Ballyhoo Is Useless Fish but Elusive

BY BOB BECKER.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Aboard the Ilderim, Florida Keys, Fla., Feb. 26.—After a day on the banks with our light tackle, 200 yard capacity level winding reel and nine thread line, to catch bonefish, we laid aside this equipment last night and tried something new in the fishing game. This time it was catching balaos, or "ballyhoos," as they call them down here, by moonlight.

The ballyhoo is no fish for the rod and line enthusiast. It's merely a low, plebian species used for bait. But last night the sport of getting these long, slender, needlelike surface jumpers was exciting, because of the bright moonlight and the fact that bets had been made that we couldn't dip up one 7 or 8 inch fish in ten dips of the net.

We left the Ilderim about 8:30 in the evening. The night was as balmy as one of our northern July nights. As the open launch started out across the moonlit water between the keys, where we are anchored, Bill, the engineer and manager of the ballyhoo expedition, hung a large gasoline lamp at the prow of the boat. Then he carefully explained what the game was and how we were to play it.

We were given a long handled dip net and told to stand up on the prow of the boat. As the launch moved along slowly you kept watch of the water near the prow and whenever one of the balaos showed on top of the water the plan called for a quick scoop to dip it up. As these fish aren't any bigger than a minute and are great jumpers, it is no easy trick to catch them.

We made five unsuccessful scoops with our net and the ballyhoos jumped to safety. On the sixth dip we got one, but it was not until one of the boys gave us a tip on how to really go after them that we began to get them in numbers. The point was to slam the net on the quick jumping fish and let him leap into it rather than try to dip him up with a scoop. After thirty minutes of riding on the hurricane deck of the boat and banging the net into the water we secured enough of them to bait up the traps for stone crabs.

16 SURVIVE IN WESTERN PING PONG TOURNEY

Clark Is Favorite to Win Singles Title.

Eight hundred last night literally hung on the ropes around a squared arena in the Palmer house to watch 200 entries in the western ping-pong championship battle under a flood of lights for the singles title.

At the end of play at 11 o'clock four men remained in each of four quarters, with the consensus favoring Coleman Clark, defending singles champion and a ping-pong expert of five years' experience.

Here Are Semi-finalists.

First quarter—Max Rushakoff, 1932 Chicago district champion, playing R. E. Clark, and Calvin Fuhrman playing Paul Pearson.

Last night's contestants featured every race and every age. One of the youngest players, listed as one of the best boy players in the United States, was Edward [Tiny] Lewis. He is 16 years old and probably weighs 108 pounds dripping wet. Throughout the matches he played a strong defensive game, winning easily from players twice his size and more than twice his age. His defeat by Bob Robinson in his final game was one of the upsets of the tournament.

Coleman Clark won all his games easily, playing a smashing offensive game. His style of play varies with every serve, baffling his opponents. One of his favorite strategems is the variation of serve. All serves are cut strongly with a windup reminiscent of a big league baseball pitcher. The ball seems to head in one direction and takes a bad bounce to the opposite side. He plays most of his smash shots from three to five feet back of the table.

Ward Beats Foshini.

Joe Ward's defeat of A. Foshini, two games to one, with wearying rallies of 25 to a hundred returns was one of the feature games of the evening. Both players were dripping with perspiration at the conclusion of the match.

Every type of play and grip was represented at the tournament with the smashing, offensive style having the better of the argument at the end of the evening. The pen holder grip of the racket was the favorite with the defensive players and the standard or tennis grip the favorite with the smashers.

Preliminaries in the doubles will be run off this afternoon, starting at 1:30 o'clock. Clark and his brother, R. E. Clark, are favored in the doubles. The Clark brothers recently won the district doubles championship and are considered by the alleged experts to be unbeatable.

Semi-finals in the singles will be run off this afternoon at about 5 o'clock and the finals in both brackets will be the center of attention tonight. The tournament is being held under the auspices of the Interfraternity club, one of the most active ping-pong centers in the Chicago area.

on Monday. At the conclusion of the two nights 64 boys will remain in the tournament. There will be eight in each weight.

32 Will Survive.

On Wednesday night, the last of the Tournament of Champions, each boy will fight once. The 64 contestants will be reduced to 32 in as many bouts. One ring will be used.

Most of the out of town teams will arrive tomorrow. Several have arranged to work out at loop gymnasiums in the afternoon. Official headquarters for the tournament have been established at the Congress hotel. Press tickets and other information for the visitors will be given out there Sunday night and Monday morning.

Each mail brings additional information concerning the abilities of the invaders. Nearly every team claims to have at least one champion. But proof will be found only when the boys climb into the ring. And when they do, unless you are there, you'll miss Chicago's greatest boxing show.

TILDEN, NUSSLEIN RENEW TENNIS BATTLE TONIGHT

Bill Tilden, world's professional tennis champion, and Hans Nusslein, German champion, will renew their tennis rivalry at Patten gymnasium tonight in a match sponsored by Northwestern university.

In addition to the Tilden-Nusslein match there will be a curtain raiser between Emmett Pare, former national clay courts champion, and Albert Burke, French champion. The program will conclude with a doubles match between Tilden and Burke and Nusslein and Roman Najuch. The latter, a Czecho-Slovakian, is a former holder of the German professional championship, and tutor of Nusslein.

PURDUE MEETS WISCONSIN; EYES EIGHTH TRIUMPH

3 Other Big 10 Games Carded Tonight.

Games Tonight

Illinois at Minnesota.
Chicago at Ohio State.
Michigan at Iowa.
Purdue at Wisconsin.
Army at Notre Dame.

Lafayette, Ind., Feb. 26.—[Special.]—Purdue's undisputed lead in the Big Ten basketball race again will be endangered tomorrow night when the Boilermakers meet Wisconsin in a return game at Madison. Although the Boilermakers defeated the Badgers here earlier in the season, 38 to 22, Coach Lambert is expecting a real tussle and will have his full strength available.

Purdue has won seven of its eight conferences games this season.

Johnny Wooden, who is leading the individual scoring race with 93 points in eight games, is expected to increase his margin. Last year Wooden was runner-up to Joe Reiff in the scoring race with 97 points, and with four games remaining on the schedule is practically certain to set a new scoring mark for himself.

The two teams have met 13 times since the world war, with Purdue chalking up nine victories against four defeats.

WISCONSIN.		PURDUE.
Steen [c]	F	Eddy
Ryckman	F	[c] Kellar
Griswold	C	Fehring
Nelson	G	[c] Wooden
Wichman	G	Parmenter

CHICAGO AT OHIO

Chiz Evans, sophomore, who scored 15 points last Saturday when Chicago upset Ohio State's basketball team, will not be in the Maroon lineup at Columbus tonight in the return engagement against the Buckeyes. Evans has an injury to his leg which will keep him at home.

Keith Parsons, last year's regular center, will take his place in the Ohio game, with Paul Stephenson and Kenneth Fraider at the forward positions and Capt. Harry Ashley and James Porter at the guards. Ashley has been used in recent games at forward for part of the time and Coach Norgren probably will continue his experiment tonight, putting Fraider back at guard.

IOWA SEEKS REVENGE

Iowa City, Ia., Feb. 26.—[Special.]—University of Iowa basketball players have built a defense which they think will stop Capt. Norman Daniels, Michigan forward, here tomorrow night. If successful in halting Daniels, the Hawkeyes expect to avenge a previous defeat at the hands of Michigan.

The Iowans also have been perfecting their own shooting which was faulty against Indiana last week. The Hawkeyes had almost twice as many tries at the hoop but were nosed out 33 to 34.

Scoring hopes for the home quintet rest largely with Parker Bennett, giant center, who starred against Michigan at Ann Arbor until he was ejected from the game on personal fouls. Bennett will be matched against Edward Garner, a pivot man nearly as tall as the Iowan.

FOUR GOPHERS IN FINALE

Minneapolis, Minn., Feb. 26.—[Special.]—Four University of Minnesota basketball players will make their final appearance in the field house tomorrow night when the Gophers play Illinois in the last home contest of the season. The quartet of seniors who will end their careers this year are Capt. Mike Cielusak, Glenn Bethel, Cliff Sommer and Ralph Engebretson.

Princeton to Bring Crisler Touch of Old

Princeton apparently is a victim of the great reform, a school that turned too square. Great athletes used to be drawn mysteriously but irresistibly to Princeton and Princeton teams were distinguished for their fury and dash.

Since the reform, the football teams have been recruited from run of the mill Princeton boys and in the last two years they have won just two games out of 14. One of those years was Mr. Roper's last, so he did not leave them smiling when he said goodby.

In time, if Mr. Crisler lasts long enough, he probably will come upon one of those happy accidents which bring together a batch of good football players who are also legitimate students. Harvard and Yale have about the same foibles and prejudices with regard to the term of practice that Princeton suffers from and they have had good teams notwithstanding.

For the time being, then, Mr. Crisler's coaching job will be one of those character building jobs which the coaches speak of with the tongue in the cheek. The late Knute Rockne used to say that when a coach was having a bad year he was building character. In a good year, however, he was a wizard mentor.

With it all, Princeton still pines to win football games, and Mr. Roper in his latest paper as a kibitzer goes so far as to complain that there are not enough soft touches on the schedule. Soft touches are good for the morale of the winning teams but no good for the morale of the soft touches, so the sporting spirit of this suggestion is rather obscure to the naked eye.

Willie Stribling, the prize fighter, was raised on soft touches, but when at last he got a chance to fight for the heavyweight championship his attack wilted after five rounds.

RESCUE EXPLOITS BRING HONOR FOR LAKES SKIPPER

Cleveland Captain Gets Congress Medal.

Cleveland, O., Feb. 26.—(AP)—A bluff old captain who knows his ship, his men and his lakes, beamed satisfaction as he stuck out his chest today to receive a gold congressional medal awarded for his life-saving exploits in 37 years of seafaring.

Capt. Charles H. Mohr received the medal. On Sept. 26, 1930, he almost foundered his own freighter in a southwester taking seven men off the sinking Our Son, the last sailing schooner on the great lakes. Before that he had saved twenty lives.

Presented by Lawyer.

The presentation was made by L. C. Hinslea, attorney and holder of a master's license, before the Cleveland lodge of the International Shipmasters association.

Hinslea, whose forebears sailed the lakes, said so far as he has been able to learn, Capt. Mohr's exploits never have been equalled by a great lakes shipmaster.

Affidavits tell the story of Capt. Mohr's greatest exploit in saving the crew of Our Son.

One of the worst gales in the history of the lakes was blowing and Capt. Mohr with his 3,811 ton freighter William Nelson loaded with sand was running for the Wisconsin shore of Lake Michigan. Seas were washing over his decks, pilothouse windows were smashed, the stairways to the bridge were carried away, and part of the steel deck had been caved in by the waves when he sighted Our Son.

Risks Own Ship.

Capt. Mohr sent out an SOS, and then deliberately turned about in the heavy sea, risking his own ship and crew of 36. The car ferry Pere Marquette No. 22 came up at about the same time and stood by.

The seas were too heavy and choppy to put out a boat. So the captain expertly rammed the bluff of the William Nelson's bow on the windward side of the schooner's main rigging and in three or four minutes had taken off the entire crew. In about 45 minutes the last windjammer on the lakes had gone down.

Record of Fearlessness.

Capt. Mohr's first rescue was in 1922, when he took off two men, two women, and three children from a sinking yacht in Georgian bay. In November, 1926, he saved three men from the yacht Valencia in Lake Erie. The next November he rescued four rum runners, who had been adrift three days in a blinding snowstorm on Lake Erie and who were naked when found because they had burned their clothes to attract attention. In July, 1929, he saved four men and two women from a capsized yacht near Kelley's island, in Lake Erie.

Later he was attached to the special troops of the 33d division, Illinois National Guard. Troops of that unit will provide the funeral escort. Burial will be in Michigan City, Ind. Joseph Cloidt, Veteran of Civil War, Dead at 91

Joseph Cloidt, 91 years old, who fought in the battles of Bull Run and Gettysburg, died on Thursday at his home at 1408 Park avenue, Chicago Heights, after an illness of several months. Mr. Cloidt was a native of Germany, but came to the United States when he was 14 years old. Friends said that while in the army he had acted once as bodyguard for Abraham Lincoln. He is survived by two sons and two daughters. Funeral services will be held at 1:30 p. m. tomorrow in Chicago Heights.

MRS. H. E. COFFIN, WIFE OF CAPITALIST, DIES AT SEA ISLAND HOME

Brunswick, Ga., Feb. 26.—(AP)—Mrs. Howard E. Coffin, wife of the capitalist, died at the home of her nephew, Arthur W. Jones, on Sea island today following a heart attack yesterday.

Mr. and Mrs. Coffin were friends of President and Mrs. Hoover and they had expected Mrs. Hoover for a visit at their Sapelo island estate tomorrow.

Mrs. Hoover is en route down the south Atlantic coast in the motorship Sequoia and had telegraphed she would stop at Sapelo.

Mr. and Mrs. Coffin formerly lived in Detroit, where Mr. Coffin was prominent in aviation and automobile circles. He served as president of the Hudson Motor company and formerly was president of the Eastern Air Transport company.

AUTO ACCIDENT SUICIDE VICTIM IS ESCAPED CONVICT

The man who shot and killed himself shortly after his automobile struck another machine in Indiana Harbor yesterday morning was identified later in the day as Clarence Ragland, alias Cloyd Langford, an escaped convict. Police expressed the belief that Ragland ended his life because he was afraid he would be taken back to prison.

CLARENCE RAGLAND.

Ragland escaped from the brick plant of the penitentiary at Junction City, O., on June 4, 1929. He had been serving a sentence of from two to twelve years for pandering in Toledo. The identification was established through fingerprints. Ragland's mother, Mrs. Dora Ragland, lives in Hopkinsville, Ky., and a wife, Katherine, in Drakesburg, Ky.

Mrs. Hannah Drapny, 3547 Pennsylvania avenue, driver of the car that hit Ragland's, was shaken up, but not seriously injured. The collision occurred at Washington street and Block avenue, Indiana Harbor. Ragland stepped out of his car with a revolver and sent a bullet into his head.

CHAS. F. HARDING, VETERAN CHICAGO LAWYER, BURIED

Charles F. Harding, a member of the Chicago bar since 1880, was buried Thursday at Madison, Wis. Mr. Harding, who was 77 years old, died on Wednesday. His home was at 4842 Kenwood avenue.

He was born in Philadelphia and was educated at the University of Wisconsin. That institution awarded him the honorary degree of doctor of laws in 1925. Its president, Glenn Frank, delivered an address at the grave on Thursday.

After practicing law for a short time in Madison, Mr. Harding came to Chicago to act as general counsel for the various interests of the late Senator Charles V. Farwell. Later he became a member of the partnership now known as Tenney, Harding, Sherman & Rogers.

In connection with the Farwell interests Mr. Harding organized the Capitol Freehold Land Investment company, a British concern which built the state capitol of Texas and took 3,000,000 acres of land in the Panhandle as payment. The property was operated as a cattle ranch, the largest in the southwest.

The widow, Mrs. Hattie Harding, and three children, Charles F. Harding Jr., Mrs. Harriet H. Jones, and William H. Harding, survive.

EDITH M'CORMICK PRAISES OPERA IN RADIO DEBUT

In her first appearance before a radio microphone, Mrs. Rockefeller McCormick last night characterized the Chicago Civic Opera as one of the greatest advertising media this city can boast. Speaking over the NBC network under the auspices of the Friends of Opera, of which she has been honorary chairman since its inception ten years ago, Mrs. McCormick urged the public to subscribe promptly to the guaranty fund now being raised, so that contracts may be signed and plans made for next season.

"We have brought the name of Chicago into all the great centers of Europe," Mrs. McCormick said, "because our artists and conductors are chosen from the best houses in France, Italy, Belgium, Germany, and other countries. As they return to their own homes when the season is over they take with them news of Chicago—of its great parks, boulevards, hotels, shops, museums and other attractions.

"Many music students come to Chicago not only because of our fine schools, but because of the musical advantages offered in attendance at the opera. Our hotels, shops and transportation are benefited in the opera season and many families gain their support from the company's pay roll."

PLAN TO TRAIN POLICE IN CARE OF AUTO VICTIMS

Squad Will Carry First Aid Kits.

Police squad cars equipped with special medical kits for emergency first aid treatment and with trained members in their crews will be sent to the scenes of all major traffic accidents in the future, according to plans developed by the council committee on traffic and public safety and Commissioner Allman yesterday.

All the cars now equipped with radio will be fitted with the new kits and the training of the members of the crew will begin soon under Maj. John Bauder, drillmaster. As soon as the training has been completed the police radio system will begin to broadcast calls for the squads whenever a major accident occurs.

Hope to Save Lives.

"We are prepared," Commissioner Allman said, "to make a determined drive upon reckless drivers, intoxicated drivers, hit-and-run drivers and others who use the streets in such way as to endanger life and limb of pedestrians. We also believe that the emergency treatment of the injured may save many lives.

"The success of radio patrol work in crime prevention and apprehension has led us to believe that it will be equally effective in traffic accident investigation work.

"Several other cities have made notable progress in improving safety conditions through a scientific investigation of accidents, but it is believed that the Chicago plan promises to be even more effective because of the flexibility provided by the radio patrols," he added.

Ready to Aid Injured.

All the specially equipped patrols will perform their regular police duties, but in addition will pay particular attention to the conditions of streets likely to cause accidents, and to drivers whose reckless operation of their cars might lead to accidents. Whenever an accident occurs, the commissioner explained, the squads will be dispatched by radio call. Their first duties will be to aid the injured persons. Afterward they will make a detailed investigation of the crash.

The new police squads will coöperate with the fire department and the department of public works and other agencies involved in accident prevention activities.

Auto Hits Train; 3 Die.

George Eder, prominent Lake county, Indiana, attorney, and two women companions were instantly killed early yesterday when their automobile crashed into the side of a Grand Trunk freight train at Highland, 8 miles south of Hammond. The women were Mrs. Mae Beherns and Mrs. Catherine Clark, sisters, both of Hammond.

The accident was not discovered for an hour until another motorist discovered the wrecked car at the crossing. The train crew was informed of the crash when they reached the Hammond yards.

Eder and the women were returning from Cedar Lake, where they had driven a third sister.

Two automobile deaths in Cook county yesterday increased the toll since Jan. 1 to 173. The victims:

Peter Austra, 50 years old, 1113 South Mozart street. Died at the Michael Reese hospital from hurts sustained two weeks ago when he was run down near his home. The driver was Ernest Monsell, 5931 South Marshfield avenue.

Martin Karlovich, 22 years old, of 1727 west 21st place. Died last night at the Frances Willard hospital of injuries received earlier in the day when his motorcycle crashed into a motor truck at 51st avenue and 14th street, Cicero. Henry Engelhardt, 515 South Central avenue, truck driver, said Karlovich drove into his truck.

FUNERAL IS HELD FOR SETH CREWS, RETIRED LAWYER

Mr. Crews is survived by two daughters, Mrs. W. A. Bradford of Hubbard Woods and Cora Crews of El Paso, and two sons, Vandeveer Crews of Toledo and Floyd of El Paso.

MICHAEL ESPERT, RICH WAREHOUSE OPERATOR, DEAD

Michael Espert, president of the Monarch Refrigerating company, died yesterday in St. Luke's hospital after an illness of seven months. He was born in Chicago 74 years ago.

Although he had accumulated valuable property and was known to be a man of considerable wealth, Mr. Espert spent nearly 20 years working alongside the employés of his company, which operated two large warehouses in Chicago. He worked from 7 a. m. to 6 p. m. and often did manual labor in his plants. His generosity was noted among his workers, many of whose homes were financed through his aid. Mr. Espert had lived at the Alexandria hotel, Rush and Ohio streets, for many years.

On one occasion Mr. Espert appeared in United States Commissioner Walker's office to sign a bond for $2,000 for a friend charged with violation of the prohibition act. Mr. Espert wore a shabby overcoat fastened with a safety pin. The judge was startled when Espert swore he was worth "at least $25,000,000," and scheduled a valuable piece of property at 8 East Austin avenue. Relatives said yesterday, however, that the amount was greatly exaggerated.

The funeral will be conducted at 2 p. m. Monday from the home of his daughter, Mrs. George Ortseifen, 337 Essex road, Kenilworth, to Graceland chapel, where services will be held at 3:30.

$210,000 VALUE PUT ON ESTATE OF H. A. BLAIR

The estate of the late Henry A. Blair, president of the Chicago Surface lines and for many years a Chicago banker, was valued at $210,000 in the petition filed yesterday for admission of his will to probate. Only $10,000 was listed as cash and personal property. The remainder of the estate was in real property.

The will was filed last Tuesday after it was found in a bank vault during an inheritance examination of Mr. Blair's safety deposit boxes. At that time the estate was estimated at "less than $1,000,000." The will was probated and heirship proved before Oscar Caplan, assistant to Probate Judge Horner.

Mr. Blair was 79 years old when he died on Feb. 15 after 10 days illness with pneumonia. His will divided his property equally between his widow, Mrs. Grace P. Blair, 209 Lake Shore drive, and his daughters, Anita, and Mrs. Natalie B. Bradley, 1205 Ridge avenue, Evanston. Mrs. Bradley's portion was left in trust. She will receive the income for life after which the trust income will be divided between her three children until the youngest comes of age. At that time the principal will be divided equally between the children.

GOLD AND JEWELS FOUND IN TOMB DAZZLE MEXICO

Display Discoveries at National Museum.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

MEXICO CITY, Feb. 26.—For the first time the historic discoveries in the tomb of Monte Alban in the state of Oaxaca were shown privately to a large number of invited guests at the Mexican national museum today. The exhibit filled one large room. Large cases lined the walls, with another located in the center of the room.

Exhibits number 500. But these scarcely give an idea of the richness of the discoveries, for, as one archeologist pointed out, the parts composing each article run up into the thousands. For instance, in one priestly collar there are three rows of 120 gold beads, each with 34 golden bells and golden harps and each with many gold adornments totaling more than 400 pieces.

The amount of gold objects in the exhibit is astonishing. It contains probably more than 2,000 beads large and small. There are more than 60 gold heads of gods cast and elaborately engraved. The workmanship is exquisite.

There are many strings of pearls, some small and some large. There are well polished massive gold collars composed of numerous beads on strings, coral, Mexican emeralds and turquoise, sheets of beaten gold in the form used by goldsmiths for applying to objects in gold plating. Finger rings and earrings, combination collars of gold, pearl, emerald, turquoise and shell are arranged in various ways giving a sense of gorgeousness, skill, artistic taste and imagination.

More than 40 bones, carrying hieroglyphics and inscriptions, superior in every way to any work in the few existing Zapoteca and Mixteca codices, are on display. It is impossible to describe the extent, vaxiety, and richness and the archeological significance of this immense find.

Rites Today for Veteran Chef, Theodore Pierrot

BROKERS WONDER IF UTILITY WILL REDUCE COMMON

Middle West Is Subject of Conjectures.

BY THOMAS FURLONG.

Whether Middle West Utilities company will follow the example of other large utility holding companies in reducing its capitalization has become a live topic in La Salle street. The recent actions of Niagara Hudson Power, and Electric Bond and Share in announcing plans for reducing the number of shares of capital stock has brought the matter to the fore again.

When reports were circulated some time ago that the Insull holding company was planning such a move it was stated by officials the matter had not been discussed. Brokers believe that developments since that time and the steps taken by other utility holding companies now can make such a move more probable.

At the annual meeting, March 29, stockholders of the company will vote on an amendment to the charter modifying, in certain particulars, the preemptive or subscription rights of stockholders. The amendment, it is believed, will pave the way for refinancing by the company through the sale of stock.

Notes Due on June 1.

The action is regarded as significant, inasmuch as the company has a $10,000,000 note maturity to meet June 1. The notes were weak yesterday on the New York curb, sinking 10 points, to 64. The weakness has led to speculation by traders over the manner in which the company will meet the maturity.

The continued heavy trading in Middle West stock on the Chicago exchange yesterday was said to represent liquidation by a large bank of a customer's account. After selling down to 3¾ the price rallied and finished the day at its previous quotation of 4.

Large Common Stock Issue.

The present outstanding common stock of Middle West totals 16,015,287 shares. A "reverse splitup" of the kind proposed by Niagara Hudson and Electric Bond and Share, if carried out in the same ratio, would reduce the number of shares outstanding by two-thirds.

Outside of the heavy trading in Middle West there was little speculative activity yesterday on the Chicago exchange. Total transactions amounted to 43,000 shares, of which nearly 50 per cent represented sales in the Insull issue. Prices were comparatively firm.

Vote to Cut Dividend.

Directors of the National Standard company meeting yesterday after the close of the market voted to reduce the dividend on the capital stock from $3 to $2 annually. A regularly quarterly dividend of 50 cents was authorized. W. F. Harrah, president, stated that the action was taken because there has been some recession in earnings so far this year. Directors believe that the new rate can be safely maintained, he added. The company's stock was quiet yesterday around 19½.

Borg Warner corporation directors declared a dividend of 25 cents a share on the common stock and the regular dividend of $1.75 a share on the preferred stock. The distribution on common was not designated as a quarterly dividend. The company's annual report which will be issued late next week is expected to show around 80 cents a share on the common stock for 1931.

U. S. BONDS RISE ON PROMISE OF EASIER MONEY

New York, Feb. 26.—(AP)—The bond market today made a bow to higher prices with United States government issues still occupying the center of the investment stage.

Renewed enthusiasm was injected into the federal list by the New York federal reserve bank's cutting of the rediscount rate yesterday and a reduction today in the bankers' acceptance rate. Three of the Liberty loans reached new highs during the session, but reacted moderately later under flurries of profit taking. All of these, however, retained some of their gains. Two of the treasuries closed at new top figures for the year, but some of them eased slightly under realizing.

The utilities, for the first time in several weeks, attracted some attention. Gains of fractions to a point or more were made by some liens of American Telephone, American and Foreign Power, Brooklyn Edison, New York Edison, Brooklyn Union Gas, Columbia Gas and Electric, Consolidated Gas, General Public Service, Western Electric, and International Telephone.

Japanese obligations, although traded in only moderately, were heavy. Substantial advances, however, were made by issues of Argentina, Buenos Aires, Chile, Canada, Colombia, Dutch East Indies, Australia, New South Wales, and Germany. Graz municipal 8s were 10 points higher. British loans gained from ¼ to 4⅞ points.

Plan Relief to Employes Who Paid High for Stock

New York, Feb. 26.—(AP)—A plan to provide some relief for employés of the Paramount-Publix corporation who purchased the amusement company's stock at considerably higher levels some time ago was reported today to be under consideration by the management.

While officials of the company declined to discuss the matter, as details have not yet been worked out, it was understood the creation of a special fund, from which employé stock could be repurchased if the holders desired to sell, was being contemplated. Employés of the corporation purchased the stock at $52 a share, largely on the installment plan, which shares were selling around $70. The stock is now selling below $10 a share.

In addition to the inauguration of some repurchasing scheme, it was learned the company also is discussing the creation of a profit sharing plan which would be participated in by all employés.

Hog receipts fell off abruptly at all leading distributing centers yesterday. That sent prices into one of the sharpest advances in recent weeks. Top sales equaled the highest marks since Jan. 7. An earlier clearance at the upturn was effected and closing sales were among the highest of the day, despite the easier turn in the wholesale market for fresh pork.

The peak reached $4.35, equaling last Monday's top, which was only 30c under the highest paid for hogs since middle of last November. All the loss of the last three days has been recovered. The general average price moved up 10c to $4.00, and shows a gain of 10c compared with the close of last week. Best grades are fully 15c above a week ago. Receipts of hogs at Chicago this week have been running second smallest since last October, barring a holiday period.

Offers and bids in the hog futures market were exactly the same as on Thursday's session. July contracts could be bought at $6.00 or sold at $5.00, while mediums for May delivery were offered at $5.35 and bid $5.00. March hogs were offered at $5.00 and carried bids of $4.25@4.50, according to weight.

Some Cattle Prices Higher.

Unusual activity featured the Friday session in the cattle yards and advances were uncovered in some divisions. Packers were buying against unfavorable reports from the wholesale market where prices for good grades of beef have toppled to the lowest levels since last July.

Best beef carcasses are selling $2.00 per cwt lower than early in February, while plainer kinds have gone down only 50c to $1.00 in that time. Quality of live cattle graded better for Friday and, with demand on eastern account broad, the top sales were highest for the week's close since Jan. 29. Prime 1,474 lb steers went to New York buyers at $8.35. Few others, however, were good enough to pass $7.00 and the bulk sold at $5.00@6.50. Butcher stock recovered a small part of the loss recorded earlier this week.

Lamb Trade Strong.

Brisk demand for dressed lamb and limited supplies held yesterday's prices in a strong position, though sellers were unable to force them up any because of the poorer quality. Buyers were eager for stock when a strong to 50c higher wholesale market brought the price of dressed lamb to the highest level since November and $2.00 cwt above the low spot early in February.

TRADE AWAITS SPRING TOUCH; FEBRUARY DULL

BY O. A. MATHER.

While some slight improvement in general business in the last week is recited by the mercantile reviews, about the best that can be said for February is that trade and industry have been bumping along on the bottom. It is common comment that sentiment is somewhat more cheerful and seasonal spring improvement is expected. Thus far, however, sentiment has not been translated into actual expansion. But this is the between-season period from which little can be expected.

Bradstreet's Review says that reports from 55 leading centers indicate a slight quickening of general trade from its previous low level. The belated cold weather and the moderately priced merchandise proved somewhat of a stimulus to the marked lethargy evident so far this winter. In the south, however, heavy rains have curtailed activity. Wholesaling and jobbing appear to have slackened, with orders now being received of a noticeably hand to mouch variety.

Merchants Still Cautious.

Merchants are still carefully watching the demand of the public and while hoping for an early Easter season of fair volume are filling their needs less than usual. The optimism apparent from the reports is evidently based upon the small number of bank failures and the belief that the spring will witness some general increase in activity.

The heavy industries still fail to pick up. Here better sentiment is fairly prevalent, but it canont be based upon actual operations. When recovery actually comes, these industries will be the last to respond, but it is apparent from their low state of activity that general business is still at a standstill. The condition of collections also indicates the prevailing quiet. These everywhere undoubtedly are dragging, restricting credit and generally slowing up trade.

Several cities report that retail merchants are putting on full displays of spring goods. The early showing is due to the early Easter this year. Along with this, there are many "sales" being held to dispose of winter goods as much as possible, and last week brought somewhat greater success, due to the price reductions and the cooler weather in some sections. Department stores, especially, have benefitted. While many stores are still burdened with large inventories of winter goods, in general this condition is improved from a year ago, as merchants for the past year have consistently followed hand to mouth buying policies and consequently have not been caught, despite the smaller public buying power and the warm weather.

Dollar Sales Aid Trade.

Several cities have been putting on widely advertised "dollar sales," with fair success in volume, although with profits less apparent. In New York City automobiles, women's shoes and stationery were equal to last year in sales, while tires had a better demand than 1931, with collections in that line better. Kansas City reports that automobiles are also selling faster than in previous weeks. Several reports mention the excellent results of the automobile shows, although general demand, judging from production, is not increasing rapidly.

"Although distributive records during February reveal some loss in the momentum that was registered for January, retail sales during the week were at a slightly higher level," says Dun's. "The weather was more favorable for shopping and the introduction of fresh merchandise in many of the offerings held a strong sales appeal. While there has been a fair turnover in mark down items the dollar total has been rather indifferent, as there apparently is a general apathy on the part of the buying public to low prices and the kind of merchandise featured in the majority of these special sales."

Auto Parts Firms Start Shipments to Ford Plant

New York, Feb. 26.—(AP)—Dow, Jones & Co., in a dispatch from Toledo, O., today said Toledo automotive plants, holding contracts from the Ford Motor company for parts and accessories, had started large shipments to the Ford assembly plant at Dearborn, apparently in preparation for active operations there.

Trucks loaded with the materials were making two hour trips between the Toledo factories and Dearborn, the dispatch asserted, and it was expected that assembly work would be started on a large scale early next week.

The largest accessory plants are said to have received orders for about 15,000 units each for a 20 day period and further orders are expected. Spicer Manufacturing company, Libbey-Owens-Ford Glass company and Electric Auto-Lite company have been adding men this week to handle the Ford business.

Britain Trying Many-Sided Farm Relief

BY SCRUTATOR.

The government of Great Britain is getting under way with its program of extending farm relief to British wheat raisers.

The plan in its present form calls for three distinct steps: A government subsidy for wheat farmers, a tax of 10 per cent on imported flour, and arrangement whereby the dominions are to be given preference in supplying Great Britain with the wheat that she still must import after the home farmers have sold their crops.

Great Britain consumes approximately from 265 million to 270 million bushels of wheat each year, but only about 50 million bushels of that total are produced in the nation. The rest is imported—85 per cent as wheat and 15 per cent in the form of flour.

Wheat Exempt from Duty.

The new 10 per cent duty on imports applies to flour, but wheat is exempted. The wheat quota bill seeks to do for the wheat farmer what the general 10 per cent tariff does for other British producers. Growers are to be guaranteed a price of 10 shilling per hundredweight. At yesterday's Liverpool quotations this would have meant a price of about 93 cents per bushel for the farmer. Importers and millers will be required to make quota payments on every hundredweight of flour they bring into Great Britain.

The government will attempt to fix the domestic output at 50,400,000 bushels—about one-fifth the nation's 1929 wheat consumption. Later the quota may be enlarged, possibly to 25 per cent.

The quota plan contains two variable factors. First, the guarantee to farmers diminishes as the domestic yield increases. Second, the payments made into the quota fund by millers and importers increase as the world price of wheat declines.

Follows Baldwin's Ideas.

To date, the British government's agricultural program has followed closely the outline contained in Stanley Baldwin's election campaign manifesto of Oct. 8, 1931.

"The best form of assistance," he said then, "is by means of the quota and a guaranteed price for wheat. The farmers must be secured against dumping, which has brought so many of their branches to ruin. The production of food at home should be increased and the drain of men from the land should be stopped.

"And to this end we should make imperial treaties which may be of enormous value to us as a nation. We shall require such a free hand as will enable us to impose prohibitions, quotas, or duties as may be most effective in the circumstances."

Just how severely the British wheat schemes will affect the wheat farmers in the United States cannot be ascertained until the imperial conference is held at Ottawa next summer. At that time the matter of preferential treatment for dominions shipping wheat to the mother country will be considered.

Although no decision has yet been made, proposals for allocating as much as 70 per cent of the wheat business to dominions have been discussed. This, with the 15 to 20 per cent domestic production, would leave only from 10 to 15 per cent of the total British consumption to be supplied by the rest of the world, including the United States, Argentina, Russia, and the Balkans. For years Great Britain has been by far our best wheat customer.

Preference Within Empire.

The empire preference movement is a more serious threat than the British farmer's subsidy to America's foreign wheat trade. Buffalo millers who yearly grind about 20 million bushels of Canadian wheat into flour are particularly concerned. Some of them are reported contemplating the purchase of mills in Canada.

Great Britain's "anti-dumping" campaign does not brighten the outlook for our federal farm board with its large holdings of stabilization wheat.

ENGLISH BANK LIKELY TO CUT DISCOUNT RATE

BY JOHN STEELE.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, Feb. 26.—Strong rumors of further reduction in the bank rate possibly next Thursday caused another ascent of the giltedged market today with substantial rises above the overnight levels and a general flood of buying both domestically and abroad.

A still further rate reduction after the one expected next week is foreseen in order to clear the way for a huge war conversion. Better than 2,000,000,000 sterling [about $6,960,000,000] of 5 per cent War Loan is outstanding. If this could be converted to 4 per cent stock the treasury would save 20,000,000 sterling [about $69,600,000] yearly.

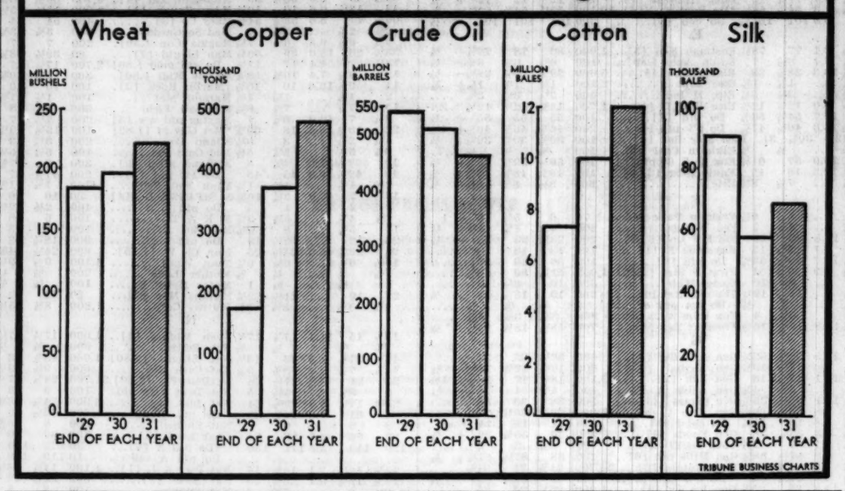

Value of Stock Shrinks $3,171,911 Since Purchase

The statement of the Burnham Trading corporation submitted to stockholders at the annual meeting yesterday revealed that the market value of the company's security holdings at the close of the year amounted to only $572,126, as compared with a cost price of $3,744,037.

SHORT SELLING INQUIRY ACTION EXPECTED TODAY

Plans Made to Call "Bear Raiders."

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Feb. 26.—[Special.]—The senate banking and currency committee will decide tomorrow morning whether or not it shall authorize a thorough investigation of short selling on the securities and commodities exchanges of the country.

The committee will call before it Senators Arthur Capper [Rep., Kas.], Daniel O. Hastings [Rep., Del.], and Elmer Thomas [Dem., Okla.], each of whom is author of a measure looking to federal action to curb short selling, to tell why they consider such an inquiry necessary.

Senator Frederic C. Walcott [Rep., Conn.] announced that the committee intends to "call in several New York bear raiders" to testify. Senator Walcott's statement was made following a conference with President Hoover, at which it is understood the names of the "bears" to be called were decided upon. Senator Walcott declined to make the names public tonight, stating that the entire program for the committee's hearings would be made known tomorrow.

Committee Hears Carey.

Meanwhile, the house agriculture committee was hearing Peter Carey, president of the Chicago board of trade, declare that the committee might "just as well close the country's grain market as give the secretary of agriculture discretionary power over sales in the commodities futures market."

The agriculture committee was conducting hearings on a bill amending the grain futures act, which would invest in the secretary of agriculture the power to determine the amount of wheat or cotton which could be traded in on any one day, and would bring all agricultural commodities within the control of the grain futures administration.

Mr. Carey was questioned about President Hoover's statement last June to the effect that a few traders were driving the wheat market down.

Tells of Seeing Hoover.

"I came to see the President and after talking to him he said nothing in his message to congress about short selling," Carey replied. "He said he had charts and graphs and we asked him for them but have never seen them yet."

"Personally," Carey told the committee, "I think giving the farm board 500 million dollars and its work in trying to regulate markets is a principal cause of the present depression. The farm board dammed up the supply of wheat and made other countries get up tariffs against us.

"If the price had not been held up our price would have reached the world's level and we would have exported more wheat. The world would have taken care of the surplus wheat. The action of foreign countries in placing tariffs was taken shortly after the farm board started holding up our price above the world level."

PARKE, DAVIS & CO. TO PAY AN EXTRA; OTHER DIVIDENDS

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, Feb. 26.—Parke, Davis & Co., declared an extra dividend of 10 cents a share and a regular quarterly dividend of 25 cents. In December the company paid an extra of 28 cents.

National Distillers Products corporation has declared an initial dividend on the new convertible preferred stock, which was authorized and issued early this month. The dividend was a regular quarterly declaration of 62½ cents a share.

Goodman Manufacturing company declared a quarterly dividend of 62½ cents on its $50 par common, reducing the annual rate from $3 to $2.50.

Kentucky Rock Asphalt company deferred action on the quarterly dividend due at this time on the 7 per cent preferred.

Second International Securities corporation declared a quarterly dividend of 10 cents a share, placing the stock on a 40 cent annual basis, compared with an 80 cent rate previously paid.

The National Gypsum company declared a dividend of $1.75 on the preferred stock on account of accumulations for the period of Jan. 1 to March 31.

The Denver Tramway company omitted the dividend on the preferred stock due at this time. In the two previous quarters 25 cents was paid.

HURLEY EXPECTS GENERAL WASHER PRICE INCREASE

Stiffening prices in the material supply fields are about to bring an upturn in the general average of household washer prices, according to a forecast made by E. N. Hurley Jr. of Chicago, following his electing for the third consecutive year to the presidency of the American Washing Machine Manufacturers' association.

"Members' stocks of materials and parts are low and improving conditions in the United States are bound to bring commitments at higher figures," he said at the annual banquet of the association at the Morrison hotel. "A generally better feeling throughout the country is reflected already in much healthier buying interest among the trade and washer users. As part of this our members, making more than 85 per cent of the washers and with trade connections in every part of the country, also report that interest of women is increasingly tending away from the lower price models."

In the annual election A. H. Peters, Fort Wayne, Ind.; I. N. Merritt, Grinnell, Ia., and M. R. Scott, Ripon, Wis., were made vice presidents and W. H. Voss, Davenport, Ia., treasurer. J. R. Bohnen, Chicago, was reappointed secretary.

Claim O. K. on Prairie Oil Sinclair Pact

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, Feb. 26.—Substantially more proxies than the necessary 80 per cent have been deposited by stockholders of the Prairie Pipe Line company in favor of the plan to merge that company with the Prairie Oil and Gas company and the Sinclair Consolidated Oil corporation. That was stated in this city today.

While it is admitted that some revocations of proxies by stockholders may be received before March 1, when the stockholders will vote on the plan at their annual meeting, it is doubted that such revocations will be sufficient to alter the result. The Prairie Pipe Line company has outstanding 4,050,000 shares of stock.

Court Action Still Pending.

As the stockholders of the Prairie Oil and Gas company and the Sinclair Consolidated Oil corporation already have sent in more than sufficient proxies to ratify the plan for their respective companies, the consummation of the merger appears likely. The principal remaining obstacle is the action brought in the United States District court in Topeka, Kas., to restrain the stockholders of the Prairie Pipe Line company from voting on the merger plan March 1.

Hearing on that motion was scheduled for today, but has been postponed until tomorrow because of the illness of Judge Richard J. Hopkins. The action was brought by Lionel F. Straus of this city, a stockholder.

Consummation of the Sinclair-Prairie consolidation will be the second major oil merger to be completed within a year. It will result in a new industrial giant. The Socony-Vacuum corporation merger was consummated last July to unite the Standard Oil Company of New York and the Vacuum Oil company into an integrated company with assets of about $720,000,000. The Socony-Vacuum corporation has an authorized capital of 40,000,000 shares of $25 par, of which 31,915,797 have been issued.

Named Consolidated Oil.

The Consolidated Oil corporation, as the new Sinclair-Prairie unit will be called, will be a fully integrated company combining production, refining, transportation, and marketing facilities, which in some respects will exceed those of any other oil unit. It will have an issued capital of 14,218,835 shares of common stock of no par value, in addition to $14,129,400 par value of preferred 8 per cent stock. It will have assets which a pro forma balance sheet as of May 31, 1931, carried at $532,516,622.

Current assets were $143,152,040 as of that date and current liabilities $23,099,677, a ratio of about 6 to 1.

Will Lead Pipe Lines.

The consolidated company will have a larger pipe line system than any other oil company. Its trunk lines alone will total about 7,000 miles while it will have thousands of additional miles of gathering lines connecting the trunk system with oil fields. The pipe lines have a daily capacity of 200,000 barrels of crude oil. The refining capacity of the company will be 130,000 barrels of crude daily. It will have a marketing capacity of a billion gallons of gasoline annually.

BANKS LENDING $18,000,000 FOR NEW YORK CITY

New York, Feb. 26.—The City of New York arranged today for a loan of $18,000,000 at 5¾ per cent. The loan was arranged on revenue bills due June 10. This borrowing was done under the agreement with a group of New York banks which last month assured the city its financial requirements in anticipation of tax collections would be met through a revolving fund credit of $151,000,000 at the constant rate of 5¾ per cent.

BY FRED HARVEY.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, Feb. 26.—Business slowed to a walk on the stock exchange today. The bears were too cut up by the news that they are to be called on the carpet before a congressional committee to start anything and the bulls found nothing in the news or the forecasts to induce them to part with any of their steadily dwindling simoleons on the buying side.

The cut in the federal reserve bank rate failed to raise an eyelish in other camps. Traders apparently are beginning to realize that if easy money could solve the present situation that business would have been humming months ago. Certainly, the administration has been trying every wringle that offered itself in that direction

Short Sales Quiz.

As for the impending congressional inquiry into short sales the street seemed to think that it might turn out to be something to worry about. Reports were current that the inquisitors have gathered in a great deal more data on the subject than is generally realized and that they have the operations of some of the "big bears" slated for a grilling catalogued in detail.

Although President Richard Whitney of the exchange declared when he was summoned to the capital the other day that congress might as well close down the exchange as to prohibit short selling, opinion now seems to be that legislative restrictions of some kind are inevitable. The question is just how far the solons who are so convinced that the stock market is the matter with the country go in applying their nostrum.

Take No Chances.

There is no doubt that concern over this situation is very largely responsi-

Roads Seek U. S. Loans.

Washington, D. C., Feb. 26.—(AP)—The St. Louis-Southwestern Railway company today applied to the interstate commerce commission for permission to issue $39,599,750 of general and refunding mortgage bonds to be pledged with the Reconstruction Finance corporation for loans needed to refund outstanding debts.

The principal item to be refunded is $20,727,750 of first consolidated mortgage 4 per cent gold bonds due on June 1, next. The issue also would secure $13,490,000 to refund first terminal and unifying mortgage bonds now pledged for short term notes. It is planned to borrow $3,252,000 to cover expenditures made during 1929 and 1930 for improvements on lines owned or leased and $511,000 to refund a 5 per cent bond issue of the Paragould Southeastern Railroad company due in 1944. The remainder would be used to refund bonds held in the railroad company's treasury for various purposes.

Although the application would authorize the company to pledge the entire amount sought to be issued for loans, the application said that on Jan. 25 the company applied to the Reconstruction Finance corporation for loans of $31,727,750.

Report Part of Loan Granted.

New York, Feb. 26.—(AP)—The St. Louis-San Francisco railroad has been granted $3,000,000 of the $13,700,000 in loans it is seeking from the Reconstruction Finance corporation, it was learned today.

This loan will permit the road to meet its financial requirements until June 1. Renewal of the application for additional funds of $10,700,000 to meet bond interest and maturities between June 1 and the end of the year is expected later.

Another Road Seeks Loan.

Denver, Colo., Feb. 26.—(AP)—The Denver and Rio Grande Western railroad today applied to the interstate commerce commission for permission to delay construction of the Dotsero cut-off for one year and at the same time asked the Reconstruction Finance corporation for a loan of $4,000,000 to meet current needs of the present year.

The commission was advised that the $18,000,000 Moffat tunnel, which was completed only a few years ago, needs to be relined at a cost of $1,600,000 before it can be used for transcontinental traffic.

Inability of the D. & R. G. W. to finance the cut-off construction and the recent purchase of outstanding Denver and Salt Lake (Moffat) road stock were given as the reasons for asking a year's extension.

ble for the present standstill state of the market. Operators on both sides are unwilling to take a chance until they can see further ahead—even with stocks at about the lowest level in history. Today's turnover amounted to only 900,000 shares, making it one of the two or three dullest full sessions of the year so far.

Price changes kept within a fractional arc for the most part. The drift was toward lower levels. Pivotal issues came in for scant attention and stocks ordinarily moving about rapidly were even less excitable. Auburn, for example, was very much on its good behavior, holding within a range of some 5 points and finishing only 2 points below its close of last night. J. I. Case, Coca Cola, and others accustomed to do things one way or the other were likewise content to loaf.

Mack Truck a Feature.

Mack Truck was again a feature in the motor division, distinguishing itself with a rise of a point or so on fairly brisk buying.

Copper stocks were offered rather freely in the earlier dealings on further weakness in metal prices both here and abroad. The talk is that the agreement reached by the producers some time ago to curtail the output has met with slight success. There is still a big surplus of stocks above the ground and brokers do not look for much improvement in the prices of the shares of producing companies until this situation is taken care of, although it is admitted that the losses suffered by leading issues in the last year or so would seem to have discounted almost anything that could happen to the industry.

A Weak Spot.

An outstanding weak spot of the list was Utilities Power and Light A, which was driven to new bear market low levels. Weakness here was attributed to nervousness over the impending dividend meeting of the corporation's board. There is a pretty well settled belief that a downward revision is in prospect. Estate selling was said to have figured prominently in today's activities in the stock.

U. S. BUDGET CUT MAY PUT AN END TO UTILITY PROBE

Washington, D. C., Feb. 26.—(AP)—The federal trade commission may have to drop its searching investigation of the electric power industry unless something is done about the economy ideas of the budget bureau. The budget cut $390,000 off the commission's request for $1,626,000 for the next fiscal year. Commissioner Humphrey said this would involve dismissal of about 180 employés and dropping a number of investigations now under way.

WHEAT'S EARLIER ADVANCE LOST AT THE CLOSE

Foreign Buying Disappoints the Traders.

BY CHARLES MICHAELS.

Wheat fluctuated in an erratic manner yesterday within a range of about 1c. While threatening at one time to hit a new high on the current movement, the upturn stopped ⅜c under the best figures made on Feb. 19. May sold at 62¾@62⅞c or ⅝c above the finish of the previous day. The failure of the Winnipeg market to show strength was a keen disappointment to the bulls.

There was persistent buying in small lots by commission houses and local professionals early, but outside buying failed to develop and later the market turned easy with Winnipeg and dropped to the low point of the day, closing at the bottom with net losses of ⅛@¼c. March finished at 57⅞c; May, 61⅞@62c; July, 63@63⅛c, and September, 64¾@64⅞c.

Export Demand Less Active.

There was not the activity in the foreign demand for North American wheat so much in evidence earlier in the week and only 500,000 bu Manitobas were said to have been sold in all positions. Reports from the southwest indicated exporters continued to bid for hard winter for shipment to the gulf, but no sales were reported. According to reports around 10,000,000 bu Manitobas will clear from Vancouver during the month of March. Charters for around 6,000,000 bu of the wheat have already been made, it is claimed.

Fears of large deliveries of wheat on March contracts in Liverpool led to scattered liquidation in futures in that market, and the close was ¼@⅜c per bu lower, with May at 61c, or 1⅛c under Chicago, compared with ½c over at the time Liverpool closed on Wednesday. There was also a less active milling demand. Little attention was paid to reports of unfavorable crop conditions in India. There was comment, however, on the rapid reduction in the Argentine and Australian exportable surplus.

Winnipeg, after being firm early, eased toward the last with hedging pressure and profit taking a factor, and the close there was ⅝@1c lower, with May at 68@⅛c in Canadian funds. The latter were around 12 per cent discount. Buenos Aires lost ⅛@¼c for the day.

Press reports that famine conditions prevailed in the lower and middle Volga districts in Russia led traders to feel that the soviet government would be unable to export wheat freely the balance of the season.

There was some buying at times on a Broomshall cable reporting continental cash wheat markets as sharply higher, Copenhagen, Denmark, being up 4⅝c and Hamburg, Germany 4⅛c, but the effect of this was offset to a large extent by a decline of 1⅞@2¼c in Berlin while the Rotterdam market was unchanged to ½c higher.

Aggregate exports from Argentine and Austr[illegible] week were 10,675,000 bu wheat compared with 8,764,000 bu the previous week and 8,022,000 bu last year.

Corn Dull and Easy.

Corn futures held within a range of around ½c and finished at the bottom with net losses of ⅛@¼c. March was 35⅞c; May, 39⅞c, and July, 42⅞ to 42½c at the last. Bulk of the trade was of a local character and the market in the main followed wheat.

Country offerings of cash corn to arrive were not as large as of late, with purchases of 48,000 bu. Shipping sales were decidedly limited, and the trade found it hard to become enthusiastic over the possibility of export business. No. 3 yellow corn in the sample market was reported to have sold at 7c under May, the widest discount of the season. Argentine exports increased sharply and aggregated 5,390,000 bu for the week, against 3,961,000 bu last year. Buenos Aires was off ⅛@½c for the day.

Oat futures were off ⅛@¼c at the close, with May 25⅛@25¼c and July 25⅝@25¾c. Trade was light, with local and cash interests fair sellers at times, while commission houses bought. A few more days of clear and warm weather in the southwest, it is expected, will result in oat seeding getting well under way.

Reports that both Germany and Holland had bought Canadian rye and relative strength in Winnipeg more than offset the effect of the decline in wheat and the close was ⅛@1c higher. May was 46⅞c and July 49⅜c at the last.

ARGENTINE EXPORTS

Argentine exports of wheat the last week exceeded expectations and increased nearly 1,000,000 bu, as compared with the previous week. Corn increased 1,926,000 bu for the week. Details follow:

WORLD'S GRAIN MARKET NEWS

A more mixed sentiment was apparent among wheat traders after the close yesterday. The failure of the market to hold bulges above 62c for May of late is causing comment, with some expressing the belief that the trade may be forced to absorb considerable selling before new high figures on the current movement can be established.

Close observers of pit conditions say the selling of wheat on the bulges of late appears to have been partly in the way of hedging against the heavier movement from the country as well as spreading between the local and southwestern markets.

Around 196,000,000 bu wheat remain for export in Argentina and Australia, according to a Broomhall estimate, compared with 277,000,000 bu a year ago. Argentine corn surplus is placed at 23,000,000 bu.

COTTON PRICES LOWER

Cotton markets were much less active. While there was a little strength early on buying by the trade to fix prices, the undertone was not as strong as of late and selling by the south and spot interests caused a downward trend toward the last. Final trades were 5@7 points lower at Chicago with New York off 6@9 points and New Orleans 4@6 points lower.

A private report indicated farmers intended to plant 36,221,000 acres of cotton this spring or 12.7 per cent less than in 1931. The season was regarded as 3 weeks later than normal due to heavy rains, especially in the central states. Exports for the week were 185,000 bales, against 209,900 bales the previous week and 90,000 bales last year.

For the season to date the total is 5,817,000 bales, or 857,000 bales in excess of the previous year. Spot cotton was 5@10 points lower with New York 7.05c, New Orleans 6.85c, and Galveston and Houston 6.90c. Prices follow:

BUTTER AND EGGS LOWER

Warm weather, prompting fears of increased production, brought active selling of both butter and eggs on the Chicago Mercantile exchange yesterday, butter closing unchanged to ⅝c lower, and eggs ½@⅝c lower. Selling started in the markets at the opening, prices dropping abruptly and liquidation which appeared later increased the pressure. Fairly active covering in March butter kept the price within a narrow range after the early decline. Storage news was bearish again and receipts on a par with last year. The egg receipts were heavier than last year for the first time in several weeks. There was little new support to be found in either market. Sales: Butter, 100 cars; eggs, 18 cars. Deliveries: Eggs, 14 cars. Prices follow:

SUGAR.

NEW YORK, Feb. 26.—(AP)—SUGAR—Raw was not very active today, but the undertone was steadier and while refiners showed no inclination to pay above last prices or 2.88c for spots, holders were asking from 2.90c to 2.92c. The only sales reported were 19,000 bags of Cuban for prompt shipment to an operator at 2.92c and 9,000 bags of Philippines for April-May shipment at 3.02c to an outport refiner.

There was not much change in futures, but the undertone was steady, reflecting the steadiness of the spot market, with final prices net unchanged to 1 point higher. Prices moved within a range of 1 point throughout the entire session and after opening unchanged to 1 point higher most positions gained another point and at one time were 1 to 2 points above the previous close.
